The FARMER congratulates Ald. Moore on his matrimonial venture. Some of the boys had a bonfire Thursday night in his honor, and a fire alarm was the result.

Babbitt's Mill, at Gibson, was destroyed by fire Friday night, loss $2,500—insured in the Citizens for $1500. Incendiarism is said to have been the origin of the fire.

INCREASED POPULARITY.—When a medicine increases in popularity it is a sign that it is a good medicine, this is the case with McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup.

Rev. Mr. Deinstadt, of Moncton, has been invited to the pastorate of the Methodist church in Woodstock to succeed Rev. G. M. Campbell, who goes to St. Stephen, next year.

At the Holiness Convention, St. John, Evangelist Hartt declared that Christians who allowed dancing in their houses were paving the way for men and women to go down to hell.

D. Banks McKenzie, well known in Fredericton, as leading the Temperance movement during the winter of 1878, died at Salt Lake, Utah, one day last week. He was forty-seven years old.

Rev. A. J. Mowatt, of St. Paul's Church, is not enjoying good health, and he has decided to take a holiday among his friends at Harvey. We hope he may soon be restored to his usual strength, and to his congregation.

Mr. N. D. Hooper, and Miss Alice Smith, youngest daughter of Mr. Adam W. Smith, both formerly of this city, were married today at Boston. Mr. Hooper, it is understood has secured a situation at Montreal, where he and Mrs. H. will take up their residence immediately.

John Harvey, the photographer, has added a new room to his already extensive and commodious premises, and has employed Miss Mary Lugrin, who has had experience in the States, in the finishing department. Harvey is turning out fine work in his line. His coloring on photos is much admired.

The Toronto Globe has repeated and improved on the falsehoods set afloat by the Subsidized Organ, regarding the recent Liberal Conservative banquet in this city. The individual who originated the lying reports, evidently courts the treatment which is said to have been accorded, in another sphere, to a man bearing the historical name of Peppers.

Hon. John J. Adams, a brother of Mr. M. Adams, M. P. P., for Northumberland, was re-elected to the United States Congress in the recent elections, from the seventh New York district, by a majority of 7,604. Mr. Adams is a Democrat. The Newcastle Advocate republishes from the Court Journal of New York, a very flattering sketch of Mr. Adams, who has made his mark not only as a politician by as a lawyer.

Mr. Frank B. Gregory, Attorney at law and Notary Public, has opened an office in Chestnut's Building, Queen Street. Mr. Gregory, although extremely youthful, has qualified himself most successfully for the practice of his profession. He took a full course in law at Harvard, graduated LL B., finished his studies in Messrs. Gregory & Blair's office, and with this training, combined with natural ability of a high order, he ought to succeed.

A gentleman who knows, remarked the other day, that there is more liquor being sold now in Fredericton than before the adoption of the Scott Act. "I can count thirty places," said he, "that are doing a rushing trade, and I have no doubt there are others of which I do not know." The authorities, apparently, have given up trying to enforce the law,—which, disguise the fact as we may, is almost entirely inoperative in Fredericton at the present time.

Hon. Mr. Bowell, one of the Ministers who was banquetted, when his attention was called to the Globe's article, pronounced it a libel on the well-known hospitality of Fredericton. He said; "it was a fine banquet, the room was crowded, and the affair went off first rate, in accordance with the usual style of doing things well, for which Fredericton has so wide a reputation. Some enemy of Fredericton," added Mr. Bowell, "has started the fabrications which appeared in the Globe."

"Three years ago," says a correspondent of the Sun, "a farmer at Waterville, Carleton County, pastured a mare and colt during the summer for the Baptist minister. This was understood by the latter to be a gratuitous transaction. Not so. About three weeks ago, the farmer called on the reverend gentleman for the purpose of being married. When the ceremony was concluded, the newly made husband wished to know what the minister's charge would be, and on being told, he replied; 'Well, we'll let it go for the mare and colt I pastured for you.'"

Rev. J. E. Read of Keswick, tells a good story of a clergyman in Queen's County, who was given a young pig for performing a marriage ceremony.

As the freight train from Moncton, was approaching Sussex on Monday afternoon, David Deacon, one of the brakesmen, fell between the cars and was dragged about twenty yards before the train could be stopped. His cries attracted several parties, who found that his left leg was broken close up to the body and the remainder of the limb shockingly mangled and torn. Pieces of bone were picked up where the unfortunate man had been caught in a frog while nearing the station. Death put an end to the suffering of the unfortunate man the same evening. A short time before dying, when the poor fellow knew there was no chance for him, he sent his love to his mother who lived at Parrsboro, Nova Scotia.

To-morrow, Mr. G. Fred, Fisher, editor of the Reporter, is to lead to the altar Miss Addison, who is a niece of Mrs. M. S. Hall. The ceremony is to be performed at Mr. Hall's residence, George Street, by Rev. Wm Tippett, at 8 o'clock, A. M., and Mr. Fisher and his bride will leave by the Western train for their bridal tour in the Southern States, where the latter's relatives reside. The FARMER could give more minute particulars of the wedding, if it chose, but our inquisitive readers will have to wait till it is over. We may add, however, that Mr. Arthur Glasier, M. P. P., for Sunbury, will support Mr. Fisher, and that the bride will [illegible] be attended by Miss Katie Hall of St. John. The FARMER presents its congratulations in advance.

Special inducements to insure detached residences and contents, in City and County on three year plan. All losses are promptly adjusted, and prompt payment made. A Woman with two Husbands.

DIDN'T KNOW WHICH SHE LIKED BEST.

Rather an interesting bigamy case has developed in Sackville. The woman was a native of Prince Edward Island, and when in Boston a number of years ago formed the acquaintance of, and married, a young man named Sharpe, belonging to Sussex, N. B. Her health failing her, her husband sent her home to his relatives in Sussex. She remained there two years without hearing anything from her husband. She then returned to P. E. Island, and after the lapse of six years, became the wife of a man named Johnson. She bore him three children. Husband No. 1 now turned up and induced her to return to him. She left her children in Prince Edwards Island and came to Sussex with her first husband. While he was looking for work, she conceived a longing to see her children, and, without telling any one of her intention, set out on a winter trip across the Straits. Husband No 2 persuaded her to remain with him. They afterwards removed to Pictou and from thence they drifted to Sackville, where they are now in indigent circumstances.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by his motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block Rochester, N. Y.

Wedding Eccentricities.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO LADY READERS.

I have known brides, when the grooms have failed to make the proper responses, prompt them immediately, and with the greatest facility. As for the men, they commit all kinds of blunders and bunglings, I have known a man, at that very nervous and trying moment, follow the clergyman within the communion rails, and prepare to take a place opposite to him. I have known a man, when a minister staetched out his hand to unite those of the couple, take it vigorously in his own and give it a hearty shake. Sometimes more serious difficulties occur. Some ladies have almost an unconquerable reluctance to use the word "obey;" one or two, if their own statements are to be accepted, have ingeniously constructed the word "nobey." The word, however, has still to be formally admitted into the language. There was one girl, who was being married bp a very kindly old clergyman, who absolutely refused to utter the word "obey." The minister suggested that, if she was unwilling to utter the word aloud, she should whisper it to him; but the young lady refused even this kind of compromise, Further, however, than this the clergyman refused to accommodate her; but when he was forced to dismiss them all without proceeding any further the recalcitrant young person consented to obey.

The difficulty, however, is not always made on the side of the lady. On one occasion the bridegroom wished to deliver a little oration qualifying his vow, and describing in what sense and to what extent he was using the words of the formula. He was, of course, given to understand that nothing of this kind could be permitted. There was one man who accompanied the formula with sotto voce remarks, which must have been exceedingly disagreeable to the officiating minister. He interpolated after the fashion of Burchell's Fudge! With this ring I thee wed; that's superstition. With my body I thee worship; that's idolatry. With all my wordly goods I thee endow; that's a lie. It is a wonder that such a being was not conducted out of church by the beadle.

This puts one in mind of an anecdote that is told of a man who in his time was a Cabinet Minister. There was a great discussion on the question whether a man can marry on £300 a year. All I can say, said the great man, is that when I said, with all my worldly goods I thee endow, so far from having £300, I question whether, when all my debts were paid, I had 300 pence. Yes, my love, said his wife, but then you had your splendid intellect. I didn't endow you with that, ma'am, sharply retorted the right honorable husband.

A Princely Fortune.

A man may possess the fortune of a prince but can never possess happiness without good health, to secure which the blood must be kept pure and every organ in proper action. Burdock Blood Bitters purify the blood and regulate all the organs.

He Forgot Something.

Among the humorous things which occurred in connection with the late election, one that happened to a gentleman living on Beacon Hill, not far from the State House, is told. He is an ardent Republican, and did not retire on election night until quite late. It is not insinuated that he had been "painting the town red," or anything of that kind; but certain it is that he had had an exciting time down on Washington street on Tuesday night, which seemed to communicate to his dreams a distinctively lively character, for he awoke in the morning about 7 o'clock with shouts of "Hurrah for Blaine," "Blaine is our President," ringing in his ears. He rubbed his eyes and looked around, and then he listened for a repetition of the shouts which woke him up. He did hear shouting of some kind, and being very earnest in his interest in the result of the election, thought he would go down town, or at least to Republican headquarters, and learn the result of the election. Slipping out of bed without awakening his wife, he proceeded to dress, but as he opened the door to go out, she awoke and asked:

"What are you going out so early for?"

"Election news, my dear. I want to ascertain beyond a doubt who is elected. Will be right back."

He was closing the door when she said, "You've forgot something, my dear."

"Never mind, I'll be back instantly," and he rushed down stairs and down the street. As he sped along he thought he heard a voice behind him, and, looking toward his house, saw his wife leaning out of the front window, and gesticulating as if to call him back. But he was in to great a hurry to go back then, and went on to get the news.

A boy passing along the street looked at him—we will call him Brown—and called out: "Say, mister, you've forgot something, haven't you?"

Brown did not deign to notice the boy, and made the mental comment that boys were more "sassy" nowadays than when he was one himself. Then it struck him that the boy had said just what his wife had as he rushed out of his bedroom; but he dismissed it as being a mere coincidence, and coincidences he knew proved nothing. Then, as he neared Republican headquarters (he was on the Common), he noticed that two young ladies looked curiously at him and then burst into a laugh. As they passed him, he heard one of them say: "He has forgotten his"—the other part of the sentence he did not hear.

This peculiar experience diverted his mind from Republican headquarters, and he had reached the corner of the Common, opposite Park Street Church, when he was hailed by an acquaintance, who was laughing immoderately.

"Hello, Brown, What—ha! ha! ha!—have you been doing? Forgot something, ha! ha! ha!"

"Why, what the devil," said Brown, taking off his hat and examining the inside of it—"What have I forgotten? Everybody tells me—and now you must come—why, what is it?"

"It's worse than Gen. Scott—ha! ha!"

Brown remembered the Scott story, and looking down at his legs discovered to his horror and confusion that he had forgotten to put on his pants, and was in his drawers only.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed. "What a show! But—who's elected?" And then he made as near a bee line as he could for home.—Boston Herald.

Regulars.

One of the strongest proofs of the value of Kidney-Wort as a remedy for all diseases of the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, is the fact that it is used and prescribed by "regular" physicians. Phillip C. Ballou, M. D., of Monkton, Vt., says: "Take it all in all, it is the most successful remedy I have ever used."

Cleveland's Election.

Bystander's Opinion of the Result.

[Toronto Week.]

The election of Cleveland is the triumph of administrative integrity and sterling worth over the arts of a brilliant but unscrupulous and untrustworthy schemer. The best friends of the United States as well as the best men in the United States, rejoiced when the congratulatory telegram from Jay Gould to Cleveland showed, as it seemed decisively, that fortune has passed to the camp of Cleveland. To complete the grounds for satisfaction, it appears that Tammany after all was faithless to Cleveland, many Tammany votes having been bartered for Republican support in the municipal elections: and as the Irish Nationalists everywhere supported Blaine, and are proclaiming their readiness to go to the length of "blood" for him, he will after all be free from obligations to the great power of corruption and at liberty to tread the path of reform pointed out to him by the better section of his supporters and by the nation. He owes his success mainly to the Independent Republicans, and notably to Harper's Weekly, which by its intrepid adherence to the cause of reform has well deserved the gratitude of the country. Something is also due, accidentally, to the Prohibition candidate, who carried off a considerable number of votes which would otherwise have been chiefly Republican. Mr. Cleveland's personal bearing throughout the struggle, and especially with reference to the charge of youthful incontinence brought against him, made the most favourable impression and strengthened the hands of his friends. To place a libertine at the head of society would be very wrong; but Mr. Cleveland is not a libertine: he has once fallen; his tone in speaking of his fall, shows that he feels rightly on the subject; and his fault is not one which directly affects his public character.

A Step in the Right Direction.

We are much gratified to learn, from an authentic source, that the Board of Cavalry Equipment of the United States Army, comprising experienced and able Cavalry officers, has concluded to recommend for exclusive use in the Service, the Specific Veterinary Medicines made by the Humphreys' Medicine Company. This determination has been arrived at only after a most thorough and exhaustive examination of the subject. The above Board of officers, in the line of duty, applied to this Company for information upon the subject more especially referring to two points—the relative loss of stock and the cost of treatment. The Humphreys' Company simply referred the Board to various horse horse railroad, express and other large stock owners for information, and the result of the inquiry was such that the Board has recommended these specifics and the recommendation has been approved by the Quarter-Master General and the General of the Army, and the Specifics are being duly issued to the various Cavalry Regiments, Posts and Light Batteries. Now, we have every reason to believe, from the known character of the house supplying the Veterinary Specifics, and the reputation of the medicines themselves, that the experiment, in such it may be termed, will prove entirely successful.—Davenport Democrat.

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in the Dominion. Its progress has been unexampled in the history of Insurance in Canada. Its Policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years. The Cash Profit results paid to policy-holders have not been equalled by any Company in Canada. John Willis, Halifax, insured for $1,000 in 1871, premium 31.77; in 1882, $14.20.
