Halifax papers mention the marriage in that city last Wednesday, of Miss Annie C. Fletcher and Mr. Loran C. Macnutt of Fredericton, the ceremony being performed at the bride's home by Rev. Robert Laing. The bride, who wore ivory satin with lace, was attended by Miss Ada Halls, and Mr. H. V. B. Bridges of this city, rendered the necessary support to the bridegroom. The newly wedded couple reached Fredericton, Friday evening.

The Boston Stars who appeared in the City Hall last night, under Mr. W. T. H. Fenety's management, were greeted by a fine audience. No better musical and literary company was ever heard in Fredericton, and the programe from [illegible] to last, held the close attention of the audience, and won the admiration of everybody. Mr. King's pianoforte performances were simply grand, Miss Emerson is a singer of great power and fertility, Miss Brown's recitations were delivered with splendid dramatic effect, and Mr. Emmerson's cornet playing was faultless. They ought to come again.

The Methodist church was re-opened Sunday, and at both services the edifice was packed with people. In the morning Rev. Dr. Carman preached from the Epistle to the Romans, i, 28th verse. In the evening the preacher, Rev. Dr. Lathern, took his text from 1st Corinthians ii., 2nd verse. Both were very able sermons. The singing by the choir was very fine. Mrs. Gilchrist sang One Sweetly Solemn Thought, and But the Lord is Mindful of His people. Those who heard her frequently say that she never sang more sweetly. Mrs. William Lemont sang Awake, Put on Thy Strength, with cornet accompaniment by Mr. Will amson, the effect being very fine. Among those present in the evening, were Sir Leonard and Lady Tilley. The church looked very handsome, many elegant floral decorations adding much to its beauty.

HONORING JUDGE WETMORE.

A Magnificent Banquet spread at the Barker House

To Farewell a Distinguished Citizen.

The complimentary banquet given to Judge E. L. Wetmore, on the eve of his departure for the Northwest Monday evening by his friends and admirers of this city, was one of the most successful and representative gatherings of the kind ever held in Fredericton. It took place at the Barker House, and all of Mr. Coleman's arrangements were of the best. The tables were beautifully spread, and the dinner was first-class in every respect. Chief Justice Allen presided, and on his right was the guest of the evening, Judge E. L. Wetmore, Postmaster McPeake, Collector Street and Police Magistrate Marsh; on his left, His Worship Mayor Fenety, J. L. Inches and Hon. James Mitchell. The vice chair was filled by Judge Fraser, supported on the right by Mr. Temple, M. P., G. R. Parkin, Geo. C. Hunt, T. C. Allen and Ald. Smith; on his left, Rev. G. G. Roberts, John Black, Stephen Rand of St. John, Elias Yerxa of Boston, and A. G. Beckwith. Among the other gentlemen present were:—

Dr. Brown,	T. B. Winslow,
H. A. Cropley,	G. E. Stopford,
R. Inglis,	F. S. Hilyard,
J. Delancy Robinson,	W. W. Street.
E. Byron Winslow,	F. B. Edgecombe,
Ald. Macnutt,	Benjamin Close,
Geo. H. Simmons,	James Farrell,
Wilmot Guiou,	J. A. Morrison, Jr.,
D. Jordan,	J. A. Freeze.
F. C. D. Bristowe,	W. Forester,
J. M. Wiley,	R. A. Estey,
D. R. Forgan,	A. S. Murray,
T. G. Loggie,	J. F McMurray,
John Richards,	H. V. B. Bridges,
F. W. Brown, Grand Falls,	John Hudson, New York,
Wesley Vanwart,	J. S. Neill,
Ald. Hazan,	Gilmor Brown,
J. W. McCready,	E. H. Allen,
Dr. McLearn,	Isaac Peabody,
John B. Gunter,	John B. Grieves,
Peter McFarlane.

Letters of regret from Sir Leonard Tilley, the Metropolitan, Bishop Kingdon, Judge A. R. Wetmore, Judge Steadman and Warden Howe, were read by Mr. John Black, the secretary of the committee.

After justice had been done the eatables, the Chief Justice proposed the first toast of Her Majesty the Queen, the company rising and rendering the national anthem, accompanied by the Fredericton Brass Band stationed in the corridor.

The Governor General followed from the chair. Mr. Temple, M. P., responded; the company sang "For he's a jolly good fellow," and Gilmor Brown rendered in dashing style "The Englishman."

Judge Fraser, from the vice chair, offered the Lieutenant Governor, paying a high tribute to Sir Leonard Tilley's great ability and popularity. Hon. James Mitchell responded to the toast in eloquent terms and was followed by H. V. B. Bridges, who rendered in excellent voice "The Miller of the Dee."

The Chief Justice next proposed the toast of the evening, Our Guest, the Hon. Mr. Justice E. L. Wetmore. He had known Mr. Wetmore as a boy, as a law student, as an attorney, Queen's counsel and as a judge, and he desired to pay his tribute to that gentleman's ability. All would admit that the Dominion Government had made a wise and judicious selection in the appointment of Mr. Wetmore to the bench. He had watched Mr. Wetmore rise from a young attorney to the highest position at the bar, and now to the bench, and only expressed the universal opinion that Mr. Wetmore possessed all the qualifications necessary to his present high and dignified position. The toast was received with intense enthusiasm, the entire company rising and cheering for several moments.

Judge Wetmore, in rising to reply, was most enthusiastically received. He thanked the company very cordially for their kind reception of him and for the magnificent banquet tendered him. He saw around him friends of a life time, friends who had stood at his back in many a hard fought political battle, and friends, who, although they differed from him politically were his friends at heart. He would remember this banquet as one of the proudest moments of his life. He recalled the large number of judges who have been selected from York county, every one of whom had done credit to his county, and he hoped that he might be able to uphold the dignity of the bench in the Northwest to to the same degree that these gentlemen did in New Brunswick. Dr. McLearn sang "The Three Jolly Sailor Boys" in capital voice.

The Chief Justice next proposed the Clergy, to which Rev. G. G. Roberts responded in a neat speech. He was very glad to be present to show his appreciation of Judge Wetmore and to express his regret at his departure.

An impromptu toast "the baldheaded men" was reospnded to by J. A. Freeze and Fred. W. Brown of Grand Falls. Prof. Bristowe sang a selection.

Judge Fraser proposed the Mayor and Corporation of Fredericton. His Worship Mayor Fenety and Ald. Hazen responded.

The Bench and Bar, proposed by G. R. Parkin, was responded to by the Chief Justice, Judge Fraser, Police Magistrate Marsh, Stephen Rand, St. John, John P. Hudson, New York. W. W. Street and Wesley Van Wart. Gilmor Brown, by request, gave Mr. Blanchard's speech on the "husking," to the great amusement of the company, and then followed "the press," proposed in eloquent terms by Ald. Hazen and fitly responded to by Capt. Cropley of the Capital. A number of impromptu toasts followed, the gathering breaking up at a late, or rather an early hour.

During the evening the Fredericton Brass Band, who had kindly volunteered their services for the occasion, rendered a fine programme of music in the corridor, and Judge Wetmore in his very clever address warmly thanked the members of the Band for their practical appreciation of him. He was glad to count them among his personal friends, and wished them future success.

A CRICKET MATCH

In which the Students were Downed.

The return cricket match between the students and the city team, was played Saturday on Wilmot's field, and resulted in the defeat of the former by a score of 105 to 76. A special feature of the match was the excellent batting of Messrs. Inglis and Forester. Following was the score:—

Torpedo Boats.

The British sailor has long since ceased to feel, if ever he felt, any great awe of torpedo boats. Without the enterprise and pluck that will take them into action, running the risk of being blown out of the water, these torpedo boats are as harmless as common flies. English officers know how to handle them for offence, and how to meet their attacks under all conditions; and familiarity never bred more contempt than it has in the case of these overrated craft. Torpedo men believe in them, and think that they could make splinters of a fleet if they ever had the opportunity of attack, but they forget that boldness not foolhardiness is requisite to ensure success. Gunnery men, on the other hand, deride this view, and are quite prepared to take their chance on board an ironclad when attacked by a swarm of torpedo mosquitoes, provided only that the ship has her netting down, her electric light at work and is properly armed with quick firing guns and mitrailleuses.—Pall Mall Gazette.

NORMAL SCHOOL REOPENED.

Addresses by Sir Leonard Tilley, Chief Superintendent Crocket, President Harrison and Principal Mullin.

Some Statistics of the Institution.

The public opening exercises of the present term of the Normal School were held Friday afternoon in the public hall of the institution. Sir Leonard Tilley, Chief Superintendent Crocket, Dr. Harrison, President of the University, Principal Mullin, and staff of instructors of the Normal School, and the principal and teachers of the Model School, occupied seats on the platform. At the hour for opening, when His Honor the Lieut.-Governor arrived, the students rose to their feet and sang the National Anthem, Prof. Cadwallader at the organ.

Principal Mullin, after extending a hearty welcome to the students, presented the statistics of the attendance at the present term as follows:—

Total number of students	145
English department	134
French department	11
Males	20
Females	125

In continuing his remarks Principal Mullin referred to the change of the term. During the last three years, with two terms of five months each in the year, the school turned out 1150 teachers. The supply had been fully equal to the demand. In view of the fact that the province was well supplied with teachers, it was thought desirable to extend the term to nine months, in order to afford better opportunities for the students training for the profession. It was felt that if a small number came forward, the change would have resulted unsatisfactorily, but these fears are dismissed with the large number as students in attendance. He himself had placed the number at one hundred and fifty and it had only fallen five short. It would be noted that every county was represented. Beside the number who had been admitted on examination, several were admitted on eighth grade certificates, two on certificates of having passed the matriculation at the University and one as a graduate in arts. In conclusion he read the bye-laws of the school for the benefit of the students and briefly outlined the work of the institution in its several departments.

CHIEF SUPERINTENDENT CROCKET

then addressed the assembly. He expressed himself very much gratified with the large number of students that had come forward to take the long term course, and extended to them a hearty welcome. The term was nearly double the length of formerly, and considering this, the number of students in attendance was large. He said they entered the Normal School under new and improved conditions. They would have an excellent opportunity of obtaining a thorough training in their work such as did not fall to the lot of everyone seeking to enter the profession. He remarked that the supply of teachers during the last year or two had been equal to the demand. They could say to-day as never could be said before in this province, that every school in session over the Province was in charge of trained teachers. Four years ago 400 local licensed teachers were employed by the Board of Education to meet the demand; to-day there were none. Better and larger opportunities were now offered to fit the students for their work. They had come, he knew, with an earnest purpose to enter the work of the profession. He dwelt upon the importance of the work, and trusted that all in attendance would improve the golden opportunities afforded them to equip themselves for the great work. He proceeded to lay down some of the principles and the character of the work which they were about to undertake, accompanied with a number of useful and practical hints in the study of the science. In conclusion, he said he would leave them in good hands, with teachers that would manifest a deep interest in their welfare and work, and by making the most of the improved opportunities thus offered, the country would rejoice in the efficiency of this institution.

SIR LEONARD TILLEY

was then called upon to address the students. The Chief Superintendent in inviting him to make a few remarks, referred to the great interest he (Sir Leonard) manifested in the educational work of the Province, and not withstanding his feeble health, had made the sacrifice to be present at the opening exercises of the institution to-day. Sir Leonard said by virtue of his position he was Chairman of the Board of Education, and as such he tendered the students a cordial welcome. He had had the privilege of going in and out of the schools of the Province for the last 30 years. There had been great changes in our educational system in that time. It was a great pleasure for them to look back upon the success and great improvements that have been made in the school system. They had a system now in New Brunswick of which there was none better or none more thoroughly administered in any part of America. Probably one of the most marked of all the recent great changes, was that to which the Chief Superintendent had just referred, and that was the fact that all the schools throughout the whole Province was in charge of regularly trained teachers. He considered it an important era in the history of the Province. He referred to the teachers work, and told them his experience, accompanied by several interesting incidents which he related, how best to succeed with children. Out of the home circle there was no class of people who had more to do with forming the characters of the young men than the teachers. He hoped their stay in the city would be pleasant and profitable, and if he could contribute anything to their pleasure while here he would gladly do so. He extended a cordial invitation to all the students to visit Government House grounds and gardens, which would be open to them at all times during the remainder of the season, and during the winter they could have the opportunity of visiting the conservatory, where proper attention would be shown to them. His honor resumed his seat amid the hearty applause of the students.

DR. HARRISON

was next called upon to address the assemblage, and responded in a few brief and pointed remarks. He was pleased to hear from the Principal that the matriculants of the University were admitted to the school without having to undergo further examination. The University on the other hand recognized the Normal School. It was a fact not generally known that first class teachers entering the University were now allowed to pass into the second year with simply an examination in classics, He would follow the example of courtesy set by the Lieut. Governor, and invite the students to visit the college grounds and museum at any time during their stay in the city. He would also make arrangements to allow them if they desired to visit the observatory.

A city doctor, yesterday, called upon the secretary of the Board of Health and made a report to the effect that an up-town boarding house was a diphtheria breeding institution. Several bad cases of diphtheria throughout the county had been traced to have their origin in the boarding house reported. A meeting of the Fredericton Board of Health takes place to-night, when the matter will be dealt with, and in the meantime Health Officer Farrell is making an investigation.

Sceptics Silenced.

We say to those who are sceptical as to the hair-producing qualities of MINARD'S LINIMENT that in every case where the hair has fallen by disease, and by using 6 bottles of MINARD'S LINIMENT on the head will not produce a good growth of hair, or where one bottle will not remove dandruff and stop the hair from falling out, we will furnish the Liniment free.

THE GILCHRIST SCHOLARSHIP

Won by Mr. Walter C. Murray

A University Graduate.

The gratifying intelligence was received here Monday that Mr. Walter C. Murray, a graduate of the University of New Brunswick, had won the Gilchrist scholarship.

In this city, in 1885, at a dinner given in his honor for having won the Gilchrist scholarship, Mr. A. W. Duff said that "three years later, when the competition would again be open to New Brunswickere, he hoped to have the pleasure of welcoming to Edinburgh, another graduate of the Uuiversity of New Brunswick," and now comes the word that Mr. Murray, a first cousin of Mr. Duff, has this year won the prize. Mr. Murray is son of Dr. Murray of Studholm, Kings County, and is now 21 years of age. He was prepared for college at the Fredericton Collegiate School, from which he graduated four years ago at the head of the class, winning first place in the English, classical and mathematical examinations. In his Freshman year at college he won the Marquis of Lorne's medal for classics, and graduated in 1886 at the haad of the class, with honors in mathematics and winning the mathematical Scholarship, the Alumni gold medal for Latin essay, and the Governor General's gold medal given that year for Classics. Since leaving the University he has spent a year at Fredericton preparing himself for the Gilchrist examination and during that time he tried for and was successful in obtaining a Grammar School license. In the competition for the scholarship Mr. Murray stood third on the list and led the contingent of five from Canada who tried the contest, but four of whom succeeded in getting on the honors list. Mr. Murray's victory reflects great credit on his own ability and application as a student and also on the New Brunswick University.

A VERY SAD AFFAIR.

Dr. Archer a former Frederictonian found Starving in an English Forest.

The following from the Scottish American Journal, with reference to Dr. Andrew Archer, formerly editor of the FARMER, and well known in New Brunswick as the author of our school history of Canada, will be read with melancholy interest. "In an interview on Aug. 23rd, a man named Archer, who was found in a semi-conscious state in a wood at Sandgate, England, after passing thirty days without food, stated that he is a Scotchman by birth, and was educated at a high-class school in Edinburgh. He spent the greater part of his life in Canada, and returned to England from that country in 1885, when he visited London and Edinburgh. He was principally engaged in literary work, and before he left Canada wrote a history of the the country. He was also, he states, at one time editor of a Canadian newspaper. When he returned to England he was possessed of a very comfortable income, but circumstances had caused it to dwindle away. In the early part of July he travelled to Sandgate, his means being then almost exhausted. On the 18th of July he

SPENT THE LAST MONEY HE HAD

on a breakfast. Feeling that he could not beg, he wandered about all that night and the following night, sleeping on the beach. On the second night he seems to have attempted to drown himself, and it was on this occasion that he called up the Sandgate superintendent of police and complained that some men had stolen his coat and hat. Having by the assistance of a constable recovered these, he wandered towards the hills in the neighborhood of Hythe, where he entered a secluded patch of woodland with the intention of ending his days there. During the time he was there he was frequently drenched through by the rain, particularly in the recent heavy thunder storms, during which he was lying under a tree, too weak to search for better shelter. When the soldiers and Superintendent Maxted found him in the wood on Friday, he says he was too weak to move, and his clothing was still saturated from the heavy rain a few days previous. At times he became unconscious. They took him to the Sandgate police station, where they gave him some restoratives, and afterwards he found himself in the infirmary. When asked, Archer declared that, with the exception of a few berries and leaves from the trees in the wood, he had eaten no food since he breakfasted at Sandgate on the 18th of July. The master of the workhouse, Mr. Young, states that Archer is at times delirious from the effects of the extreme exhaustion.

☞ The ladies will be pleased to know that Mr. F. B. Edgecombe has received another lot of those Yatisi Corsets, which have been so popular lately. They are pronounced the correct thing.

WONDERFUL!
BETWEEN eight and ten years ago, a medicine was introduced to the public, and suffering humanity was invited to try the same.
The proprietor knew from experience, that success was certain, but the human breast so imbued with prejudice that it forms one of the strongest barriers to break down and the
