INKERMANN.

Night waned space, the air grew chill,
The stars they glimmered pale and wan;
The watch-fires sank, and all was still
Along the Heights of Inkermann:

Save that at times from out the gloom
Below, where dark Tchernaya ran,
A murmur hoarse to those would come
Who kept the Heights of Inkermann.

Or from the leaguer'd town afar
The chime of bell (to bless or banish)
Would faintly sound—no breath of war
Yet reach'd the Heights of Inkermann.

Thick hung the mist o'er vale and hill—
The dreary void no eye could scan;
While two embattled hosts lay still,
Fast by the Heights of Inkermann.

When lo! from out the murky cloud
A sudden flash—and then began
The roar of battle—fierce and loud
On the dark Heights of Inkermann.

Then rush'd in many a serried row,
The Scythian hordes on England's van;
And onwards press'd in ceaseless flow
To win the Heights of Inkermann

But press'd in vain! With Russian blood
Deep dyed, their own Tchernaya ran:
While Britain's ranks though shattered stood.
Firm as the rocks of Inkermann.

But slaughter fell—and murd'rous rage
To paint, I leave to those who can:
Fain would I blot from memory's page
The bloody fight of Inkermann.

The widow's tear the orphan's wail.
For husband's—father's shorten'd span,
May well outweigh the opposing scale
Of glory won at Inkermann.

Ah! when will Kings and Rulers cease
The slaughter of their kind to plan?
And give once more the nations peace—
To save another Inkermann!

"War is a game that were their subjects wise,
kings would not play."—Cowper.

AN IRISH ORIGINAL.

Bow-street, London.—Among the odd fish who were caught by the watchmen in casting their nets lately in London, was a Hibernian wag, rather advanced in years, of very seedy exterior, but possessing all the dry good humour, and joke cracking disposition of his whiskey-loving countrymen.

On being put to the bar, the watchman was called on to state his charge, and this was done in very few words. In fact, Mr. Butler, the defendant, was found dead drunk, under the piazzas of Covent-garden, at two o'clock in the morning.

Well, said Sir Richard, how do you account for your disorderly conduct?

Mr. B.—(with a grin) O! Faith, Sir Richard, I never was much of an accountant, and if I was myself, when I was dead drunk, as the watchman says, what I'd be saving would do me much good, for "dead men tell no tales."

Sir R.—What brought you in such a state?

Mr. B.—I suppose I brought myself that way by drinking Liquor.

Sir R.—It would have been well if you had taken yourself home to bed.

Mr. B.—Fore God you're right, it would have been well, but there was too rasons against that—first I was blind drunk as well as dead drunk, and so I could not see my way; and next, if my eyes were as good as your Worship's, I could not have seen what I hav'nt got, which is a bed.

Sir R.—Have you no lodgings?

Mr. B.—Divil a lodgings, except in the words of the owld song, "On the cowld ground."

Sir R.—What are you?

Mr. B.—Faith I'm a prisoner, I believe.

Sir R.—I mean how do you get your living?

Mr. B.—Through the blessings of Providence.

Sir R.—Have you no trade.

Mr. B.—Is it me?—the devil a trade.

Sir R.—Were you brought up to no business?

Mr. B.—No by my soul, I was tenderly rared, and my education was my only patrimony.

Sir R.—That sort of money does'nt go far with a man of you inclinations.

Mr. B.—(with a laugh) Fore God, you're right again; all the larning in the world is no use at the bar. I mane at the bar of a public house, unless you back it with the circulating medium.

Sir R.—I'm afraid you have been circulating your earnings through a very improper medium.

Mr. B.—Divil a truer word you ever spoke in your life.

Sir R.—If I let you go now, you'l set off, and get drunk again?

Mr. B.—I'll go bail I won't, for I hav'nt a rap in the world; and as for my credit its like my coat—worn out.

Sir R.—I am half disposed to try you.

Mr. B.—Not for thieving, I hope, your Worship; for it you do I'm sure to be found guilty.

Sir R.—You seem to be a good humoured fellow.

Mr. B.—There's a pair of us, Your Worship.

Sir Richard laughed, and told Mr. B. to go about his business, and mend his ways.

Mr. B.—Before I go, I'll ask you one favour.

Sir R.—Well what is it?

Mr. B.—Just to give me a bit of a note to your countryman, Mr. M'Adam, and as I despair of mending my own ways, perhaps he'll give me a job in mending the ways of others.

Sir Richard again laughed, and bid him go out and wait and he'd endeavour to put him in the highway to industry.

Mr. B shrugged up his shoulders with good humour and pulling up his breeches, trotted out of the office. The worthy magistrate subsequently gave him a letter, which would probably procure him present occupation.

Fanny knows it all.—"Baby carts on narrow side-walks are awful bores, especially to a married business man" Are they? Suppose you and a certain pair of blue eyes, that you would give half your patrimony to win were joint proprietors of the baby, I would not dare to stand very near you, and call it a nuisance! It is all very well for a bachelors to turn up their single-blessed noses at these little dimpled cupids; but just wait till their times. See'em the minute their name is written "papa," pull up their dickies, and strut off down the street, as if the common-wealth owed them a pension. When they enter the office, see their old married partner (to whom babies have long since ceased to be a novelty) laugh in his sleeve at the new fledged dignity with which that baby's advent is announced! How perfectly astonished they feel that they could have been so infatuated as not to perceive that a man is a perfect cipher till he is at the head of a family! How frequently one may see them now, looking in at the shop window with intense interest at little hats, coral beads and bells, and baby jumpers. How they love to come home to dinner, and press that little velvet cheek to their business faces! Was there ever any music half so sweet to their ear as its first-lisped "Papa?" Oh, how closely and paperopplily, one by one, that little plant winds its tendrils round the parent stem! How anxiously they hang over one its cradle when the cheek flushes and the lip is fever-parched; and how wide, and deep, and long a shadow in their happy homes, its little grave would cast! My dear sir, depend upon it, one's own babe is never a "nuisance!"—[Fanny Fern.

A clergyman, on a hot, drowsy, summer day, found, in concluding a long discourse, that half his congregation were just waking up from sleep. quoth he, said I, "My friends, this sermon cost me a great deal of labor, you don't seem to have paid much attention to it; I think I will go over it again." And go over it he did, from text to exhortation.

An old lady was telling her grand children about some trouble in Scotland in the course of which the chief of her clan was beheaded. "It was no great thing of a head," to be sure, said the good lady, "but it was a sad loss to him."

The far-famed Medicine.
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

SURPRISING CURE OF A CONFIRMED ASTHMA, AFTER FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

The following Testimonial has been sent to Professor Holloway, by a Gentleman named Middleton of Scotland Road, Liverpool.

Sir,—Your Pills have been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to sound health after five years of severe affliction. During the whole of that period, I suffered the most dreadful attacks of Asthma, frequently of several weeks' duration, attended with a violent cough, and continual spitting of phlegm intermixed with Blood. This so shook my constitution that I was unfitted for any of the active duties of life. I was attended by some of the most eminent medical men of this town, but they failed to give me the slightest relief. As a last remedy I tried your Pills, and in about three months they effected a perfect cure of the disease totally eradicated the cough, and restored to me a vigour to the chest and digestive organs.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

Jan'y. 1st, 1853. (Signed) H. MIDDLETON.

PERMANENT CURE OF A DISEASED LIVER OF MANY YEARS' DURATION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Gamis, Chemist, Yeovil, to Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—In this district your Pills command a more extensive sale than any other proprietary medicine before the public. As a proof of their efficacy in Liver and Bilious complaints, I may mention the following case. A lady of this town with whom I am personally acquainted, for years was a severe sufferer from disease of the Liver and digestive organs, her medical attendant assures her that he could do nothing to relieve her sufferings, and it was not likely she could survive many months. This announcement naturally caused great alarm among her friends and relations, and they induced her to make a trial of your Pills, which so improved her general health that she was induced to continue them until she received a perfect cure. This is twelve months ago, and she has not experienced any symptoms of relapse, and often declares that your Pills have been the means of saving her life. I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly,

Nov. 23, 1852. (Signed,) J. GAMIS.

AN ASTONISHING CURE OF CHRONIC RHEUMATISM AFTER BEING DISCHARGED FROM THE HOSPITAL INCURABLE.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. W. Moon, of the Square Winchester.

To Professor Holloway,

Sir,—I beg to inform you that for years I was a sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism, and was often laid up for weeks together by its severe and painful attacks. I tried everything that was recommended, and was attended by one of the most eminent Surgeons in this town, but obtained no relief whatever, and fearing that my health would be entirely broken up, I was induced to go into our County Hospital, where I had the best medical treatment the Institution afforded, all of which proved of no avail, and I came out no better than I went in. I was then advised to try your Pills, and by persevering with them was perfectly cured, and enabled to resume my occupation, and although a considerable period has elapsed since, I have felt no return whatever of the complaint.

I am, Sir, your obliged servant,

Oct. 8th, 1852. (Signed) W. MOON.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF DROPSY, AFTER SUFFERING FOR EIGHTEEN MONTHS.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. G. Briggs, Chemist, Goole, dated February 15th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I have much pleasure in informing you of a most surprising cure of Dropsy, recently effected by your valuable medicines. Captain Jackson, of this place was afflicted with Dropsy for upwards of eighteen months, to such an extent that it caused his body and limbs to be much swollen, and water oozed as it were from his skin, so that a daily change of apparel became necessary, notwithstanding the various remedies tried, and the different medical men consulted, all was of no avail, until he commenced using your Pills, by which, and a strict attention to the printed directions he was effectually cured, and his health perfectly re-established. If you deem this worthy of publicity, you are at liberty to use it.

I am, Sir, yours respectfully,
(Signed) G. BRIGGS.

CURE BY THE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA.

Russian Consulate General,
London, Dec. 2, 1847.

The Consul General has been ordered to inform Messrs. Barry Du Barry & Co., that the Revalenta Arabica they had sent to His Majesty the Emperor, has, by imperial permission, been to warded to the Minister of the Imperial Palace.

Cure No. 71, of dyspepsia from the Right Hon. the Lord Stuart de Decies:—"I have derived considerable benefit from Du Barry's Revalenta Arabica Food, and consider it due to yourselves and the public to authorise the publication of these lines.—

Stuart de Decies."

Cure No. 49,832.—"Fifty years indescribable agony from dyspepsia, nervousness, asthma, cough, constipation, flatulency, spasms, sickness at the stomach and vomiting have been removed by Du Barry's excellent food—

Maria Jolly,
Madeburg, 16th Sept. 1853.

My wife, having suffered for years from a pulmonary complaint, became so ill at the beginning of this year, that I looked daily for her dissolution—The remedies which hitherto had relieved her refused now with our effect, and the ulcerations of the lungs and night sweats debilitated her fearfully It was in this, evidently the last and hopeless stage of pulmonary consumption, when every medicine emanied powerless in even affording temporary relief—that I was induced by a medical brother from Hanover, who makes pulmonary consumption his special study, and treats it with Du Barry's Revalenta Arabica, to try this strengthening and restorative food, and I am happy to be able to express my astonishment at its effects. My poor wife is now in as perfect a state of health as ever she was attending to her household affairs and quite happy. It is with pleasure and the most sincere gratitude to God for the restoration of my wife, that I fulfil my duty of making the extraordinary efficacy of Du Barry's Revalenta, in so fearful a complaint, known; and to recommend it to all other sufferers.

Gutts, M.D.

CERTIFICATE FROM DR. GATTIKER.

Zurich, 3d September, 1853.

I have tried Du Barry's Revalenta Arabica for a complaint which had hitherto resisted all other remedies—viz.: Cancer of the Stomach; and I am happy to say, with the most successful result. This soothing remedy has the effect, not only of arresting the vomiting, which is so fearfully distressing in cancer of the stomach, but also of restoring perfect digestion and assimilation. The same satisfactory influence of this excellent remedy I have found in all complaints of the digestive organs; it has also proved effectual in a most obstinate case of habitual flatulence and colic of many years standing. I look upon this delicious Food as the most excellent restorative gift of nature.

Dr. Gattiker.

Plymouth, May 9th, 1851

For the last few years I have been suffering from dyspepsia, hemorrhoids, nervousness, low spirits, sleeplessness, and delusions, and swallowed an incredible amount of medicine without relief. I am happy to say that your Food has cured me, and I am now enjoying better health than I have for many years past.

J. S. Newton.

Devon Cottage, Bromley, Middlesex, March 31 1849.

Gentlemen,—The lady for whom I ordered our food is six months advanced in pregnancy, and was suffering severely from indigestion, constipation, throwing up her meals shortly after eating them having a great deal of heartburn, and being constantly obliged to have recourse to physic or the enema, and sometimes to both. I am happy to inform you that your food produced immediate relief. She has never been sick since, had but little heartburn, and the functions are more regular, &c.

You at liberty to publish this letter, if you think it will tend to the benefit of other sufferers.
