tory, he should cease to oppose it. [Applause.]

Mr. Mitchell rose to reply, and was greeted with a storm of cheers, howls, cat-calls, and cries of "Tweedie, Tweedie" The chairman and Mr. R. B. Adams asked that he be heard, and calm was restored after a few minutes of disorder.

Mr. Mitchell said he was sorry that Mr. Michael Adams could not have followed him, as then they would have heard a gentleman who knew something of what he was talking about. Richard Adams did not know the difference between commercial union and unrestricted reciprocity. Commercial union meant a common tariff for the two countries, the revenue to be pooled, while unrestricted reciprocitity meant free trade between the two countries, each having its own tariff. It was the duty of the Ministers to provide for the loss of revenue. If they could not do so let them give way to men who knew how to deal with it. He had opposed the grant for the Chatham post office because he wanted a new one. [A Voice—Why did you buy it?] Because the office was kept in a hovel, and that was the best unoccupied building to be had. Richard had said that the post office was a disgrace. So it is, especially the management. [Cheers and hisses.] The renovation wanted was renovation in the keeper of it. [Cheers, howls, yelps.]

Mr. J. P. Burchill said that something more could be said in behalf of Mr. Adams than had been said by his brother. He [Burchill] had said during the canvass that Mr. Mitchell was not the candidate of the Liberal party, and to-day they had heard him declare that he was his own leader. He would endeavor to explain his position as a free trader. Free trade was impracticable because we have no means of raising a revenue except by some system of taxation. He would give them the opinion of one whose views all true Liberals would accept, Mr. Blake, who had declared that there was no way of raising the requisite revenue without imposing high duties on imports. We all admitted that freer trade relations were desirable. Sir John Macdonald proposes reciprocity in natural products. It had been said that Sir John was not honest in making these proposals. But he had laid them before the American Government and the Home Government, and it must be admitted that he was honest in making them. Unrestricted reciprocity meant that the tariff of Canada would be made the same as that of the United States. While to-day we were paying but 22 per cent. we would have to pay 45 under unrestricted reciprocity. The people had jumped at Confederation without considering the effects of it. Don't jump at this without considering its effects. The loss of revenue would be between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000. How was the loss to be made up except by direct taxation? All parties in Opposition cry out for reform and retrenchment, but when they get into power they fail to carry out the reforms. The duty to be collected under unrestricted reciprocity would not pay the fixed charges on the treasury. Under unrestricted reciprocity the United States must manage our whole business. He read from speeches of the United States politicians to prove this. He could not believe that the people of Canada were ready to give the Congress of the United States the power to fix its tariff and raise it to 45 per cent. He as a Liberal [Robert Murray, jr.—A Liberal traitor.]—he as a Liberal had no desire to hand over the tariff of the country to the United States. It had been charged that the local members were supporting Adams because of his support of them last winter.

Mr. Tweedie—Mr. Crocker said at Black Brook that you had assented to that as a fact.

Mr. Burchill—Then he stated what he knew nothing about, and what was untrue.

[Cries of 'Crocker,' yells, great confusion in the house and on the platform, Mr. Burchill continuing to speak for some minutes without being heard.]

No such arrangement so far as he knew, was ever made. He supported Adams, because he was opposed to unrestricted reciprocity, which would entail direct taxation.

He would ask them to vote for a man who lives in the county, and go no longer to Montreal for a representative.

Mr. J. M. Troy arose at 5 o'clock and waited several minutes during a hades of yells, howls and calls of 'Tweedie.'

The Chairman announced that Mr. Troy would speak only ten minutes, when Mr. Tweedie would have the floor for ten minutes. Mr Troy proceeded for about seven minutes, when there were again loud cries for Mr Tweedie. These continuing, Mr Tweedie went to the front and said Mr Troy's time was not up; that he had a right to be heard and if he was not, then he (Tweedie) would not speak at all. He believed in every man having fair play and he didn't care how much time Mr Troy occupied.

Mr Troy proceeded attacking Mr Burchill's position as a Liberal and condemning the National Policy which involved heavy taxation. He said the want of reciprocity deprived the Chatham Pulp Factory of $72 a day and if we had it similar factories would be started in Newcastle. It would also be worth $34,000 a year to the Miller bark extract factory [Laughter] Free trade would help small wood factories which would be established on the Miramichi. Many who objected to McMitchell because he was non-resident supported him before and the speaker referred to other constituencies represented by non residents.

Mr. Troy continued for perhaps fifteen minutes, when it became evident that he did not intend to observe the ten minute rule announced by the Chairman. Even when the Chairman rose and quietly suggested that his time was up Mr. Troy said he was not to be put down and that he would speak on until he had said what he had to say. There was now great confusion in the body of the hall, as well as on the platform where a number of Mr. Mitchell's adherents, including Messrs. Robt. Murray, jr., T. Crocker, Geo. Watt and others urged Mr. Troy not to give way.

It being evident that there was a design to prevent Mr. Tweedie from speaking, that gentleman walked out through the audience saying he would speak outside. Of the 900 present, all save one hundred and ten, by actual count, followed Mr. Tweedie. There was, thus, a division of the respective parties and the result led Mr. Troy to close his address at once.

Hon. Mr Tweedie having mounted a chair, said if he were Mr Mitchell and had a hammer he might play auctioneer and sell the country to the yankees. This elicited great cheering from the crowd and put them in a good humor, while Mr Tweedie proceeded to deal briefly with the issues of the contest and impress upon the electors the importance of placing the County in line with the Dominion Government, so that the Dominion and local representatives might cooperate in securing necessary public works, etc. He closed by referring to Mr. Adams' experience and fitness for the position in which he was to be elected on the 5th, and there was great cheering for Messrs. Adams and Tweedie.

Young Men's Christian Association of Chatham.

Meetings held every week in their rooms up-stairs, Barry's Building, as follows:—

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, for Prayer and Praise.

Monday evening at 8 o'clock, for Bible Study.

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, for Training Class.

All young men are most cordially invited to any or all of these meetings.

ENTERTAINMENT:—St. Michael's C. T. A. Society intend holding a Dramatic and Musical Entertainment in Masonic Hall, on the 17th inst. A good programme is being prepared and a first class entertainment may be expected.

LITTLE BRANCH:—A large meeting of electors was held in the Little Branch, Black River School House, on Tuesday evening at the call of Mr. Adams' friends, Geo. W. Fowlie, Esq., presiding and Messrs. H. S. Miller and R. Flanagan representing the government candidate. It was somewhat one-sided as, although the meeting was advertised for several days, none of Mr. Mitchell's speakers put in an appearance. The feeling manifested in this district is in line with the rest of the county—strongly for Adams.

That Ejectment Case.

Mr. George Watt, who endeavored to seize the property of Mrs. Dickens under circumstances attended by such brutality that only the presence of policemen saved him from punishment by at least one neighbor of the woman, revenges himself upon the ADVANCE for its report of his doings by publishing a letter chiefly characterized by inuendoes of the kind that usually emanate from men of his class. Mrs. Dickens came to the ADVANCE office and made a statement of the outrage Mr. Watt had committed, which we afterwards verified by enquiry in other quarters. Our information is that Mr. Watt had no claim upon the property whatever, and his attempt to seize it was a high-handed proceeding for which both he and the policemen, who stood quietly by while it was being carried out, will be required to answer.

Black Brook.

A public meeting was held at Black Brook on Monday evening in Mr. Mitchell's interest. Mr. John Rice, of Ottawa, presided. Addresses were made by Mr. Mitchell, and Messrs W S Loggie, T Crocker, W C Winslow and G Watt on Mr Mitchell's side and J P Burchill and Hon L J Tweedie on the government side. The usual tactics of interruption when Messrs Burchill and Tweedie were speaking were resorted to by friends of Mr Mitchell, who had taken up positions near the door, and they were particularly rude to Mr Burchill, who seemed, also, to have been singled out for especial attack by certain of Mr. Mitchell's speakers. Mr Burchill, however, is not a man to be easily put down and, he fought his way to a respectful attention. The people of Black Brook were disgusted by the fact that certain camp followers of Mr. Mitchell went to the meeting taking bottles of gin and whiskey with them, which they uncorked and gave out even to boys near the door of the Temperance hall where the meeting was held, and it was principally from these, that the interruption came. Young men from Chatham, whose position ought to lead their friends to expect better things of them, were engaged in this whiskey-dealing work of interruption and it reflected but little credit on them or their cause.

From Black Brook Mr. Mitchell proceeded to Alnwick Parish, accompanied by W S Loggie, Esq, whose influence in that section of the County, Mr Mitchell is led to believe will materially assist him. Mr Loggie has, however, a large contract on his hands.

Obituary Notice.

Died at Chatham, N. B., on Monday morning, March 2nd, after a long illness which she bore with Christian submission to God's Will, surrounded by all the members of her numerous family and fortified by all the consolations of religion, Ann Collins, the beloved wife of James Knight and mother of the Rev. John S. Knight and eight younger surviving children, three girls and five boys, who all deeply deplore their irreparable loss!

[Mrs. Knight was born at Bathurst, County Gloucester, N. B., in the month of November, 1844, where she grew up under the care of her pious Irish parents, having received her First Communion during the Pastorate of the Rev. Joseph Pelletier, and confirmation under that of Father Meloy, on the occasion of the first Pastoral Visit to Bathurst of Bishop Rogers, in November 1860, and in August, 1863 she was married to the beloved husband who survives her. Their conjugal union was happy and fruitful, as the number of healthy, intelligent and affectionate children testify. Not over burdened by a superfluity of this world's wealth, they both—husband and wife—possessed what is much more important "the fear of the Lord," an intelligent knowledge of their Christian duties, which they faithfully practised, an assiduity and honorable industry to support themselves and their family, and to educate their children so as to prepare them to fulfil in an upright and Christian manner their duties in life. The bereaved husband and weeping children now realize "What is home without a mother?" But in humble submission, and confiding in the paternal care of Him who provides for the birds of the air, who taught us in His own agony to accept the chalice—to say "Not my will, O Father, but Thine be fulfilled!"—they will try to bear their cross, trusting that it will duly merit for them the promised crown!]

Those Smelt Delegates and Their False Stories.

The central committee of the Liberal-Conservative party issued the circular which we reproduce below, on Monday last. Some of the gentlemen who have spoken in Mr. Mitchell's interest in different parts of the county have endeavored to keep within bounds of real or alleged truth, while others have been entirely reckless, even misrepresenting established historical facts and manufacturing statements entirely at variance with truth for the purpose of prejudicing the electors. The palm for unreliability amongst the latter class is waved over the heads of Messrs. T. Crocker and G. Watt, who have taken advantage of the trip made by them to Ottawa, at the cost of the smelt fishermen, to manufacture certain statements prejudical to Mr. Adams and his friends, in the hope that they could not be contradicted. They, doubtless, knew that the Minister of Fisheries was not at Ottawa and took it for granted that before he could be heard from, the election would be over. They have, however, been "caught in the act" as the following circular shows:

"GEHAZI" WATT & "TOM PEPPER" CROCKER EXPOSED!

DECEPTIVE DELEGATES DUPE THOSE WHO TRUSTED THEM!

THEY PAY THEIR WAY TO OTTAWA WITH SMELT-FISHERMEN'S MONEY, FAIL IN THEIR MISSION AND TELL FALSEHOODS TO THOSE WHO SENT THEM!

"It being apparent that some of the fishermen of the Miramichi have been prejudiced by certain statements made in the pending election campaign by Messrs. Timothy Crocker and George Watt, who were sent to present the smelt-fishermen's claims to the Minister of Fisheries at Ottawa, Mr. Donald Morrison and the Liberal-Conservative Club have communicated with Hon. C H Tupper, Minister of Fisheries, and received replies which will convince any fair-minded person, that Messrs. Crocker and Watt, in their malicious eagerness to injure the Government Candidate, are lost to all sense of personal honor and truthfulness. Let the honest men of the County treat Messrs. Crocker and Watt as the following telegraphic correspondence shows they deserve:—

NEWCASTLE, 28th February, 1891.

Hon. C. H. Tupper, Pictou:—

Mr. Crocker stated at a public meeting at Redbank that on account of my letters to your Department, bass fishing on the North-West Miramichi River was prohibited and smelt nets were placed below Middle Island, and that you quoted from my letters in answer to Mr. Watt and himself when they waited upon you as delegates to get smelt fishing off Chatham, and that he saw the letters and knew my writing. Please authorise me to contradict statement.

D. MORRISON.

NEW GLASGOW, N. S, Feb. 28th, 1891.

D. Morrison, Newcastle:—

Mr. Crocker's statement is absolutely untrue. My action was based on official information and was, in my opinion, for ultimate benefit of the fishermen.

(Sig'd.) CHAS. H. TUPPER.

"A telegram was also sent to the Minister of Fisheries making enquiry as to letters of Mr. Adams which they alleged were shown to them by the Minister at Ottawa. The reply of the Minister shows, that the alleged letters were not shown to Messrs. Crocker and Watt for the reason that they were never received by that gentleman, simply because they were never written by Mr. Adams. It follows that those two men, whose expenses were paid by our fishermen and citizens when they made their trip to Ottawa, and who ought to, at least, have stated truthfully what took place, not only failed to accomplish anything whatever for the fishermen, but dishonored themselves by an attempt to cover their failure by grossly misrepresenting both the Minister of Fisheries and Mr. Adams. This is the Minister's telegram:—

NEW GLASGOW, 28TH FEBRUARY, 1891.

To the Secretary of the Liberal-Conservative Committee, Newcastle:—

The statements made by Messrs. Crocker and Watt at Black Brook and other meetings, as mentioned in your telegram—that I read to them letters of Mr. Adams, when they visited Ottawa as a Fishery delegation, and that Mr. Adams recommended smelt-fishing limits to be below Sheldrake Island are absolutely without any foundation. I had no letters of Mr. Adams to read, and the statements of Messrs. Crocker and Watt to that effect are malicious. Mr. Adams has always been a reasonable friend of the Miramichi fishermen.

C. H. TUPPER.

"The fact that men so lost to regard for truth, as the foregoing dispatches prove Messrs. Crocker and Watt to be, are found amongst the leading supporters of Mr. Mitchell, ought to be taken as evidence of the respect they and their candidate have for themselves and those whose votes they hope to secure by such unworthy tactics."

For suppressions, female weakness, nervousness, etc., Dr. Williams' Pink Pills never fail. They have no equal as a blood tonic and nerve builder. Equally good for men and women.

MINING HORROR.

One Hundred and Twenty-three Miners Killed by an Explosion at Springhill N. S.

A mining disaster attended with fatal results unparalleled in the history of Nova Scotia mines has fallen upon Springhill, Cumberland county.

It occurred about one o'clock on Saturday afternoon, 21st ult., in the east side of the eastern seam in No. 1 slope of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Mining Company's collieries.

One hundred and twenty-three men and boys lost their lives by the explosion. When it became known that there had been an explosion, the population rushed to the mine. The excitement of the crowd can hardly be described. Over eight hundred men and boys are employed under ground in the mine, and almost every one at the mouth of the pit had relatives or dear friends among that number. There were mothers only half clothed, clasping children to their bosoms and begging the men who stood close by to find out as quickly as possible if their husbands, the fathers of their babes, were among the missing. Fathers, mothers, sisters, wives and children ran about, wildly beseeching all whom they met to at once institute search for their relatives. For a time nothing could be done, but despite the cold rain-storm, the women and children remained at the scene of the disaster until they found out the fate of their friends. It was the saddest scene ever witnessed in Canada. The men who ascended from the pit could tell nothing as to what the loss of life was. They were the men who were working at the bottom of the pit, and the explosion occured some distance from them. They were able to get out before the after damp affected them to any degree.

As the eastern and western slopes are connected for purpose of ventilation, many hurried to the entrance of the latter, where they met many miners who succeeded in getting out before the after damp did its deadly work upon them. Meny of the men as they ran towards the mouth of the pit saw their comrades fall over from poisonous gases.

A large party of miners went down to look for the injured and the dead. They found balances numbers 6 and 7, in which the explosion occurred, a complete wreck. Large timbers had been wrenched from their positions and hurled a great distance; the roofs had caved in, and as a result there had been big falls of rock, etc. Here and there would be seen the body of a man.

There were fifteen bodies in number 6 balance and eleven in number 7. These bodies were brought to the surface as quickly as possible on the cages. The sight of them was enough to sicken one. The men were fearfully burned, in some cases clothes burned entirely off, and in others boots gone. The faces were blackened so that the features could hardly be recognized, and the flesh was ready to drop off when touched. The heads of some were cut off entirely, and in many instances head, arms and legs were almost severed from the body. Willing hands carried the bodies to the carpenter shop near the mouth of the pit, the dirt was washed from their faces and arms as quickly as possible, and their bodies when recognized were wrapped in blankets, placed on sleds and driven to their homes of relatives and friends. All the afternoon the miners worked getting the bodies out, and it was no easy task. By six o'clock at night all the bodies but about twenty had been brought up. A number of men who came up just after the explosion were very badly injured and some of them had to be carried home.

Men working in another pit over a thousand feet away succumbed to the deadly after damp that resulted from the explosion, which occurred fully 700 feet below the surface. The fire damp was what killed most of the men, in fact nearly all of them except the miners in the immediate vicinity of balances six and seven, but one would hardly believe that gases would be forced such great distances.

It is a singular fact that none of the men who could probably throw light on the cause of the explosion are left to tell the tale.

There are in all 54 widows, 161 children and four mothers to be cared for, but already the relief fund is assuming large proportions.

Aid for the Destitute of Springhill.

A meeting of the citizens of Chatham, was held on Wednesday evening of last week, at Masonic Hall, to devise means for aiding the sufferers by the late mining disaster at Springhill. The chair was occupied by Mr. F. E. Winslow and Mr. Wm. T. Connors was appointed Secretary. The Chairman having read a telegraphic appeal addressed to the town authorities by the Mayor of Springhill, urged the duty of a prompt and generous respond thereto. Dr. J. S. Benson, T. F. Gillespie, W. T. Connors, S. U. McCulley, R. Flanagan and others addressed the meeting and on motion of Mr. Gillespie, seconded by Dr. Benson, it was decided that collectors be appointed for each school district, and that these be assisted by the Town Councillors; that Mr. Winslow be Treasurer; and that School Trustees in outside districts be asked to serve as collectors.

The following were appointed as collectors:

Lower District—John McDonald, T. F. Gillespie, John Coleman.

Middle District—W. T. Connors, F. E. Winslow, Dr. J. S. Benson.

Upper District—D. MacLachlan, L. H. Abbott, S. Waddleton.

Couns. Flanagan and Kerr.

Resolved that a concert be given in aid of the fund, under direction of a committee of three as follows: Alex. Robinson, J. D. B. F. Mackenzie, G. E. Collinson.

Mr. Gillespie, on behalf of the Masonic Hall Co., tendered the use of the hall free.

On motion of Danl. Ferguson, Esq., a resolution of condolence was ordered to be forwarded to the Mayor of Springhill as follows:—

Resolved, That this meeting desires to unite in the general expression of sympathy coming from all parts of the Dominion for the sufferers from the fearful calamity that has visited the mining community of Springhill, N. S.

Resolved, That a subscription list be opened to afford our citizens an opportunity to manifest the depth of that sympathy by contributing to the necessities of the families so suddenly bereft of their breadwinners.

After passing a vote of thanks to the Chairman for the able manner in which he had presided, the meeting adjourned.

The collectors appointed find our citizens ready to respond liberally to their appeals and subscriptions already secured make quite a large sum. The lists will, probably, be completed next week, when they will be published in the ADVANCE.

The concert committee has arranged for a very attractive entertainment, to be given in Masonic Hall, Chatham, on Tuesday evening next. The programme will include orchestral music by ladies and gentlemen amateurs and chorus, under direction of Mr. Collinson; also music by St. Michael's Band, and exhibition drill by the Cavalier Guards who were so well received on a previous occasion, besides other features. Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at Mackenzie's drug store.

Mrs. Million's Ride.

When Mrs. Million goes to ride she travels forth in state, Her horses, full of fire and pride, go prancing from the gate; But all the beauties of the day she views with languid eye, Her flesh in weakness wastes away, her voice is but a sigh.

For Mrs. Million is in an advanced stage of catarrh, and all the luxuries that wealth can buy fail to give her comfort. She envies her rosy waiting-maid, and would give all her riches for that young woman's pure breath and blooming health. Now if some true and disinterested friend would advise Mrs. Million of the wonderful merits of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, she would learn that her case is not past help. $500 reward is offered by the manufacturers for a case of catarrh in the head which they cannot cure.
