SPIRITUAL RAILROAD.

The road to heaven, by Christ was made,
In heavenly truth the rails were laid,
From earth to heaven the line extends,
To life eternal where it ends.

Repentence is the station then,
Where passengers are taken in,
And where there is no fee to pay,
For Jesus is himself the way.

The bible is the engineer,
It points the way to heaven so clear,
Through tunnels dark and dreary here,
It does the way to glory steer.

God's love the fire, his truth the steam,
Which drives the engine and the train,
All you who would to glory ride
Must come to Christ in him abide.

Come poor sinner now's the time,
At any station on the line,
If you repent and turn from sin,
The train will stop and take you in.

The car is ready now to go.
Say, will you go to heaven or no,
The engineer is very kind,
May none of us be left behind.

If you would like to take a ride.
The engineer will all provide,
You'll draw your rations on the way,
And at the end, the best of pay.

We have on board a holy band—
They are all bound for Canaan's land,
To see the saints who've gone before,
To shout and sing for ever more.

The car runs through with great delight,
While all the crew in her unite,
Till Canaan's land appears in view,
Where all the saints are dressed anew.

The first, the second, and third class,
Repentance, faith and holiness,
You must the way to glory gain,
If you with Christ can ever reign.

This Heaven bound car runs night and day.
Nor will she tarry on the way,
Until she lands in heaven above,
Where all the saints do feast on love.

DEDICATION HYMN.

The perfect world, by Adam trod,
Was the first Temple built by God;
His fiat laid the corner-stone,
And heaved its pillars, one by one.

He hung its starry roof on hight,
The broad, illimitable sky;
He spread its pavement, green and bright,
And curtained it with morning light,

The mountains in their places stood,
The sea, the sky—and all was good:
And when its first pure praises rang,
The "morning stars together sang."

Lord! 'tis not ours to make the sea,
And earth, and sky, a house for Thee;
But in Thy sight our offering stands.
An humbler temple made with hands."

We cannot bid the morning star
To sing how bright Thy glories are;
But if Thou deign'st to meet us here,
Thy praise shall be the Christian's tear.

When May Children Come to Jesus?

A Series of Authentic Sketches for Girls and Boys.

CHAPTER I.

ABOUT THE WIDOW AND HER SON.

When may children come to Jesus?—Perhaps, dear little reader, you have asked yourself this question many times, and answered it by looking away into the dim future, and, fixing upon a certain period, saying to yourself, 'then I will repent of my sins and become a Christian.' And the time has come round, but we are not quite ready, so you have put it off again and again, waiting for a more 'convenient season.' Now, dear child, this is all wrong; if you keep waiting, you will never come to Jesus at all. To-day is the time to repent of your sins, for the morrow's sun may rise upon your little corpse, and if you are not prepared to meet your Lord in peace, how fearful your condition will be.

Jesus says, 'Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God.' O what loving words! how sweet they sound! 'Little children,' such as the dear Savior took in his arms when on earth and blessed them. I sometimes wish that I were a little child again, for it seems to me now that I would give my whole heart to Jesus, and devote all my life unwearied to his service.

But I am going to tell you some stories, some very beautiful and some very sad ones, but all about little folks, and all strictly true. And I hope that you will learn from them how true it is that the way of the transgressor is hard, and the path of the Christian, the narrow path, is bright and beautiful, leading as it does from earth to glory.

John was the only son of a widow.—He was about twelve years old, intelligent and well educated, but though quite a serious thinker on other subjects, he had never thought much about his immortal soul. I did not wonder at this so much, for his mother, though a well-meaning and kind-hearted person, was not a Christian. She had instructed her boy carefully in the rules of morality—had told him it was wrong to lie, or swear, or steal—that it was a disgrace to desecrate the holy Sabbath—but she had never counselled him to give his heart to God. How could she, she who had never given Him her own?

As we have said, John was about twelve years, when one beautiful Sabbath day, he asked and obtained his mother's permission to attend a protracted meeting, which was being held in a neighbouring village. The sun shone brightly, the birds sang sweetly, and everything seemed to rejoice, as he rode slowly along, but he felt strangely sad, and thoughts which never before had entered his mind, were busy in his heart. Very quietly he entered the church and took a seat in a corner pew where an old gentleman kindly made room for him, and, with a feeling of reverential awe, he looked upon the face of the man of God, who was earnestly inviting sinners to come to Jesus. John had never heard such a sermon before, and long before the minister ceased speaking, his distress of mind was so great that he could not refrain from weeping. He saw himself a lost and ruined sinner, and the inquiry of his soul was, 'What must I do to be saved?'

After the meeting closed, the old gentleman, who had taken a deep interest in John, laid his hand upon his shoulder, and said,

'My son, judging from your appearance, I should think thou wert anxious about the welfare of thy immortal soul.'

'I am,' replied the boy frankly, 'Oh, tell me can little children be christians? Can little children like me receive pardon of their sins?'

'Surely, my son, for unto such the promises of the Lord are given. Thou art none too young to repent of thy many transgressions, and become a follower of Jesus Christ.'

'But how can I do this?' asked John, looking eagerly into the benign face of his friend.

'I will tell thee; thou must go home and read thy Bible, and pray to the Lord for a new heart.'

'But, sir,' said the boy, 'what if I should die before I get home, then it would be too late—what would become of me?'

'True, true,' said the old gentleman, 'delay is always dangerous. Thou art quite right. Now is the time to give thy heart to Jesus. Let us kneel where we are, and I will pray with thee.'

So the two, the white headed old man and the rosy cheeked child knelt and prayed together. An hour passed, and then another, and the golden rays of the setting sun came in at the wide windows and filled the holy temple with glory, as the 'Hallelujahs' of a redeemed soul were wafted like sweet incense to the throne of the Most High.

Long the mother had watched anxiously for her boy, and when he came she was greatly surprised at the story he told her, and when, in conclusion, he said, 'Oh, I am so happy, dear mother, won't you kneel with me and thank the Lord that I am saved,' she knew not how to answer him. But she knelt in the dim twilight, and though her lips were unused to such words she murmured, 'Oh, Father, I thank thee for what thou hast done for my child.'

That night, long after little John was sound asleep, one was kneeling in silent prayer by his beside. His mother was giving her heart to God and dedicating herself to his service.

O what joy there must have been among the holy angels, for it is written, 'There is joy over one sinner that repenteth,' and here are two who had entered into the narrow way. Henceforth, mother and son were to walk together in the blessed light of a Savior's love, to devote all their ransomed powers unwearedly to his service.

Immediately a family altar was erected in the widow's household, and morning and evening prayer and praise were offered to Him who had so richly fulfilled his gracious promise, 'I will be a father to the fatherless and the widow's God.'

I have but little more to add, John never became weary in well-doing, and the older he grew, the more he loved and honored his Divine Master. When only eighteen years old he began to preach Jesus Christ and Him crucified, and though years passed he still continues in the good work.

O you should hear him preach one of his beautiful sermons to little children inviting them to come now to the dear Savior, who is waiting to be gracious to them, telling them how Jesus loves the lambs of his fold, and carries them in his bosom, and warning them of the dangers of delay.

To-day is the acceptable time to-morrow is not yet yours, and never may be, but if your should be spared, will it not be well to remember,—

"Twill save you from a thousand snares,
To mind religion young;
Grace will pre-serve your following years,
And make your virtues strong."

Morning Star.

REMEDY FOR BURNS AND SCALDS.—In the American Medical Gazette, Dr. Reese thus earnestly reiterates his advice to apply flour to scalds and burns. "We still see reported almost daily, an appalling number of deaths by burns and scalds, not one of which, we take upon ourselves to say, need prove fatal, or would do so, if a few pounds of wheat could be promptly applied to the wounds made by fire, and repeated until the inflammatory stage had passed. We have not known a fatal case of scalding or burning in which this practice has been pursued, during more than thirty years experience, and have treated hundreds in both public and private practice. We have known the most extensive burns by falling into caldrons of boiling oil, and even molten copper, and yet the patient was rescued by this simple and cheap remedy, which, from its infallible success, should supplant all the fashionable nostrums, whether oil, cotton, lead-water, ice, turpentine, or pain extractors, every one of which has been tried a thousand times with fatal results, and the victims have died in excruciating agony, when a few handfuls of flour would have calmed them to sleep, and rescued them from pain and death. Humanity should prompt the profession to publish and republish the facts on this subject, which are established by the authority of standard medical works on both sides of the Atlantic."

CHARACTER.—There is nothing which adds so much to the beauty and power of man as a good moral character. It is his wealth—his life. Such a character is more to be desired than any thing else on earth. It makes a man free and independent. No servile tool, no crouching sycophant, no treacherous honor-seeker ever bore such a character. The pure joys of truth and righteousness never spring in such a person. If young men but knew how much a good character would dignify and exalt them—how glorious it would make their prospects, even in this life; never should we find them yielding to the groveling and base-born purposes of human nature.

EFFECT OF WEALTH.—He is a great simpleton who imagines that the chief power of wealth is to supply wants. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, it creates more wants than it supplies.

BEAUTIFUL REPLY.—A young girl about seven years of age, was asked by an atheist, how large she supposed her God to be; to which she, with amiable readiness, replied, "He is so great that the heavens can not contain him, and yet so kindly condescending as to dwell in my little heart."

☞ PROCLAMATION TO THE PEOPLE OF NORTH AMERICA.—HEALTH AND PEACE BE MULTIPLIED.—There is no doubt as to the certainty of the cures performed by Dr. LEARY'S ANGLO-SAXON MEDICINE and advice, in the following complaints:—Consumption cured if in any reasonable time, before the Lungs become disorganized; Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Bilious and Liver complaints; cure is warranted, provided the advice given is strictly complied with. The following testimonials ought to convince the most prejudiced of the value and efficacy of the ANGLO-SAXON MEDICINE. I shall here insert a few names of the many certificates in my posession: Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. John Crawford, Mr. George Dunham, residence Indian Town. These persons were afflicted with Dyspepsia—Mrs. Jones, for several years, her case being despaired of, the Anglo-Saxon Medicine and advice completed a cure in each case. Mrs. Jane Sime, and Mr. John Walsh, of Straight Shore, afflicted with Dyspepsia and Liver complaint, have been restored to good health by the use of a few bottles of the Anglo-Saxon Medicine and advice. The following persons from Carleton—Mr. James Dunham, consumption, Mrs. David Thomas, seven years with Dyspepsia, which terminated in consumption; Mrs. John Baker; dyspepsia and inflammation of the lungs; Mr. Edward Watters, confined to his bed for eight weeks with inward ulcers. These persons, by the use of the Anglo-Saxon Medicine, and advice, have been restored to good health. Mrs. Henry Evans, of this City, dyspepsia and inflammation of the lungs; Mr. William Sim, of Edinburgh, Scotland—complaint, dyspepsia—had the best medical aid in that city, but to no effect; emigrated to Canada, in hopes of being benefited from the climate; consulted with physicians in Montreal, but no lasting benefit from their skill; removed to this City; tried all the remedies recommended for that distressing complaint, but, alas, his case was desperate, until he happened to alight on my advertisement in the Morning Courier. He gave the Anglo-Saxon Medicine a trial, and it has restored him to good health. Now fellow-citizens, and subjects of North America, I am willing you should exercise your own judgment; try all the good medicines in the market; if they should fail, please give my medicine a trial as a last resource.

Hundreds in this City and its environs can testify with heartfelt thankfulness the benefits from the ANGLO-SAXON MEDICINE. This day, March 15th, a gentleman from Greenwich, King's County, Mr. William Lawson informed me of a wonderful cure performed on a young woman Miss Ann Elston, who had for a year a scrofula complaint in her ancle.—Astonishing to relate, half a vial of the Albion Liniment effected a cure. The Liniment and Anti-Cholera Medicine did not fail in one instance during the Cholera of 1854.

These Medicines I am prepared to warrant to cure the following complaints: Erysipelas, Canker Sores, Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Painful Nervous Headache, Bites of Animals, Frost Bites or Chilblains, Sprains and Strains, Chapped Hands, Scalds, Burns, Contraction of the Muscles, Flesh Wounds, no matter how severe, will heal in forty eight hours; Inflammations of all kinds, whether of the Bowels or from wounds; Sore Throat, Colds, Pains in all parts of the body, Worm Fits in Children, rubbed in on the chest and bowels; White Swelling, King's Evil, Scurvy, Itch, all kinds of Sores and Ulcers. The mystery that attends this Liniment is daily coming to light from all parts of the country where it has been introduced.

Office, removed to No. 77 Princess street.

UNION HOTEL, Union Street, between Charlotte and Sydney streets, (south side.)—The Proprietor of this Establishment, thankful for favors received during the period he occupied the New Brunswick Hotel, and convinced of the necessity of more and better accommodation for the public, has erected a large and substantial Building in Union Street, capable of accommodation from 70 to 80 Boarders. This House is well ventilated, the sleeping rooms are large, and every flat is well supplied with water, and also lighted with gas. The proprietor is determined to leave no means untried to merit the patronage of the community. Travellers arriving late at night will find the house always open, and ready to receive them: while the conveniences and moderate charges will render it emphatically the home of the stranger. The tables on the house will be supplied with the best the market affords, and the Proprietor is determined to adhere strictly to the Total Abstinence principle. ☞ Two large Stables have been erected on the premises, capable of accommodating 60 or 70 horses. Good hostlers always in attendance.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale that beautiful Property, owned and occupied by himself, in the Village of Quaco, Parish of St. Martins, containing about 30 acres of Land in a high state of cultivation, and including a considerable portion of very productive Intervale. The Dwelling House, from its peculiar structure and large dimensions, would afford a commodious residence for two genteel families, there being in the establishment two convenient Kitchens, Pantries, &c. &c. The site of the premises is remarkable for scenic grandeur and natural salubrity, commanding a fine view of the Bay of Fundy and its picturesque shore. There are on the place, two capacious Barns for hay and stock, besides a very convenient Coach-house, just new. A never failing supply of water, (pure and delightful) is had from a chain-pump furnished at the door; and also a lovely stream runs through the Lot, convenient to the house, all seasons of the year.

The eligibility of this residence for a respectable Hotel, needs no comment. Its central and healthy situation indicates its superior advantages for any public purpose, or private residence.

The Subscriber also offers for sale 100 acres of Land, one mile from the village of Quaco, situate on the Post road leading to Saint John, known as the Sharp Property, about 40 acres of which is cleared.

For further particulars, please apply to Mr. DAVID COLLINS, King Street, Saint John, or to the Subscriber on the premises.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.—MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, Mass., has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases and never failed except in two. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three or four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the very worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed, growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls should cure humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There are no ifs nor ands about it, suiting some cases, but not yours. He has peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and knows the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. He gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty; and has seen poor, puny looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound, it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can, and enough of it.
