Publisher's Notice.

The publisher desires to urge upon the notice of all who wish to contribute matter of any kind to the ADVANCE'S columns—whether it be advertising, news or notices of meetings, etc.—that the paper goes to press on Wednesday afternoons and, to ensure publication, their favors should be in the office not later than Wednesday morning.

The printing of the paper is frequently delayed by persons who hold back accounts of meetings, announcements of entertainments, etc., which they might easily send in days before that on which we go to press, but they seem to consult only their own convenience and often place them in our hands on Wednesday after the paper is made ready for press, and seem to think it a hardship because they do not appear; and, in most cases of this kind, the contributions are really free list advertisements. We want to help every deserving organization in the community, freely, in every legitimate way, but must expect them not to delay the publication of the paper when they wish to make use of our columns. Send your matter for the ADVANCE along on Monday or Tuesday, but don't hold it back until Wednesday if you can possibly avoid doing so.

Dinner to Chief Justice Tuck.

The barristers of New Brunswick celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the entrance of Chief Justice Tuck into the profession by giving a banquet in his honor at the Barker House, Fredericton on Tuesday evening. The function was presided over by J. D. Hazen, Esq., K.C., president of the Barrister's Society, and was a great demonstration of the high esteem in which the Chief is held not only by the legal profession, but also by all others who enjoy his acquaintance.

Personal.

Mrs. Tweedie, Mrs. Hutchison, Miss Belle Hutchison and her visitor, Miss Lowden of Toronto, have returned from a tour through a number of places of interest in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, including Bridgetown, Annapolis County, N. S., where they spent a few days with Mrs. Tweedie's eldest daughter, Mrs. J. Stuart Benson, whose husband is manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at that place.

Premier Tweedie and R. A. Lawlor, Esq., K. C, went to Fredericton on Tuesday.

Hymeneal.

The many old friends of the family on the Miramichi and elsewhere in Canada, will be pleased to hear of the marriage of Miss Marguerite (Reta) Kelly, youngest daughter of the late Hon. Wm. M. Kelly, formerly Chief Commissioner of Public Works and later a member of the Legislative Council of New Brunswick. The event took place on the 10th October, and the fortunate bridegroom was Bernarr Macfadden, the well known journalist and physical culture advocate, of New York city. The newly wedded pair, on their return from Europe, take up their residence in a cosy home on 111th St., New York, where their many friends—especially in this, the bride's native town—will wish them both life long happiness.

A Beautiful Gift.

Mr. W. B. Howard, chief clerk of the C. P. R. passenger staff in this district, will on Wednesday next be married to Miss Fowler, daughter of Mr. W. H. Fowler. Mr. Howard is an efficient clerk, popular alike with the public and with his associates in the C. P. R. employ. Evidence of this was given today, when his co-workers on the passenger staff presented him with a beautiful case of silverware. The case contains 99 pieces of silver, including knives, forks, spoons and carvers. The goods are of solid silver of beautiful design, and each article has an old English "H" on it. All are in a dark oak case, lined with Royal purple. On the cover is a silver plate with the initials of Mr. Howard and his fiancee, also the date November 4, 1903, and the words, "With best wishes from the boys." No more beautiful or appropriate gift could have been given, and it goes without saying that Mr. Howard was deeply touched by this evidence of good will on the part of the passenger staff.—Globe.

An Elephant at Large.

People who were within sight of the Haymarket Square fountain on Water Street before "church time" on Sunday morning saw a very novel rig there. It consisted of an elephant harnessed to a sulky and very quietly quenching its thirst, while the driver sat patiently waiting for the animal to finish. It was the same elephant that Mr. Andrew Brown had caused to be fastened to the fence just above Mr. Wm. MacLachlan's store opposite the Bowser House, where it had stood very patiently for three weeks, having naught to protect it from the cold save a Union Blend Tea rug, while it shivered over the news that the fog had given place to a snowstorm in St. John. It seems that some members of the S. P. C. A., or other persons of humane inclinations, arrived at the conclusion on Hallowe'en that the elephant must be both cold and dry, so they borrowed a sulky from Mr. Geo. Russell's emporium for invalid vehicles on Duke Street, and a scarecrow from Mr. Lawlor's turnip garden, and harnessing the elephant, they, after a circuitous drive in the nature of a warming-up heat, halted at the fountain. Leaving the driver in his seat and the elephant to quench its thirst, and having satisfied themselves that no regular policeman, or any of the myriad specials which the World announced as being engaged for the night were about, they proceeded to quench theirs. The driver, meantime, remained in a somnolent condition, with his hat over his eyes, while the elephant was as quiet and immovable as a wooden elephant could be.

The humanitarians who had brought these highly satisfactory, picturesque and comfortable conditions about had it borne in upon them about this time, or later—that is, early—that the public proclamation of a good deed done robs it of the greater half of its merit and, remembering that the police had been seen about the town one night this season and might again venture out of doors; remembering also that it was Sunday morning and some of them, at least, must be in church, they left the rig at the fountain for the night. Thus it was that it was found there on Sunday morning, the hugh mammal standing contentedly by the water trough, the driver still unawakened and the sulky as unblushingly in evidence as if it had been honestly obtained.

No policeman had seen the circus come to town. When the force was questioned on the subject, the suggestion was advanced that they would have seen the elephant travelling along two blocks in the part of the town most needful to be watched, if he had not been taken by way of the wharves. The admission was made, however, that the sulkey couldn't have gone from Mr. Russell's premises by that route, nor could its driver, with that unusually fine hat, have crawled through a sewer pipe to conceal his movements from the town's more or less faithful sentinels. Ere the church bells had ceased ringing on Sunday forenoon the sulky, driver and hat had been borne away, but the elephant remained, leaning against the fountain as if meditating on the want of thoughtfulness on the part of his friends of the night before in not having broken into some nearby warehouse and brought out some fur coats or robes to keep him warm.

Presentation to Mr. F. M. Tweedie

Mr. F. M. Tweedie, C. E, left Chatham by yesterday morning's Canada Eastern express for Fredericton, and after visiting St. John to-day, is to leave that city by the C. P. R. to-morrow for Vancouver, whence he will go by steamer to Princess Royal Island, where he is to assume the management of a gold mine largely owned by a number of prominent New Brunswickers.

Mr. Tweedie was invited to be present at the Canada House parlor on Tuesday evening where he found a number of his friends – representative men of the business community—who had decided to present him with a parting gift, express their regret over his going away and wish him God-speed and a safe return at the termination of his engagement. Robert Murray, Esq., K. C., was called to the chair and after stating the purpose of the gathering, called on Mr. D. G. Smith to make the presentation, which that gentleman did, speaking of the high esteem in which Mr. Tweedie was deservedly held by all classes in the community, his excellent social qualities, business integrity, the interest he had taken in the promotion of sports of the better class on the Miramichi, and the distinct loss to Chatham that was involved in his going away. He was confident that the qualities of integrity, manliness, industry and self-respect which had won for Mr. Tweedie the high place he held in this community would command for him success in the responsible position to which he had been called on the Pacific coast. They would all follow him with the wish that he would have the fullest prosperity, and anticipate with pleasure his return in health and wealth to the friends who now regretfully parted with him.

The parting gift to Mr. Tweedie was one of the best army revolvers, with all the necessary furnishings, ammunition, etc.

In acknowledging the gift, Mr. Tweedie said the kind things said of him by the chairman and Mr. Smith and the thoughtfulness of those who had thus emphasised their regard for him, found him without words to adequately express his appreciation of their kindness. For many reasons he regretted that he was leaving the Miramichi and its pleasant associations, but it was, perhaps, for only a short time, and he could assure them that he would look forward with pleasure to the time when he could return, which might be in one year, or perhaps two. When he did return he hoped to find the same regard and friendship which had always been extended to him in Chatham as well as elsewhere on the river. While he regretted leaving his home and its associations he felt he would not be just to himself if he had rejected the position that had been offered to him. It had always been his aim to deal fairly and honorably towards all with whom he had to deal, to stand by what was right and never let any differences of opinion on any matter interfere with the personal good will he entertained towards everybody. He found that course now stood by him and its appreciation was manifested on this gratifying occasion. He was going to a far off locality to take charge of a large interest and carry on some important work. He was going to it with the determination to use every effort to achieve success and promote the interests of those who were sending him, and it would, no doubt take him all his time to do it rightly. He did not fear the results. He would look forward to the renewal of old friendships on the Miramichi when the time came for his return, and would often think, when away, of this and other happy occasions of intercourse with friends at home. [Applause.]

A number of those present expressed their sentiments towards Mr. Tweedie, all eulogising his high character and sterling qualities, and regretting the loss to Chatham involved in his going away. Amongst the speakers were Mr. Jas. McIntosh of the Grammar school, J. Ken. Breau; Dominion Engineer Day, Alex. Burr, A. S Ullock, Manager Tapper of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Hubert Sinclair, Chas. Ruddock, Jas. Johnston and Chairman Murray. Amongst others who joined in the testimonial were Messrs. W. B. Snowball, R. B. Crombie, F. E. Neale, John Connell, R. A. Lawlor, John McDonald, B. Flood, A. H. Cameron, W. M. Salter, Murdoch Sutherland, Geo. E. Fisher, G. F. Burnett, F. H. Gibson, A. G. McCosh, E. W. Jarvis, Pelham Winslow, W. R. Gould, Edwd. Johnston, R. A. Snowball, Howard McKendy and J. P. King.

Another Astonishing Case of Female Troubles Cured by

FERROZONE.

"Before taking the first box of Ferrozone, writes Mrs. Annie Jeffry of Sandy Cove, N. S., my condition was deplorable. Though I employed the most skilful medical aid, I grew steadily weaker. In fact, I was in such a condition that it was impossible for me to walk across the room. My heart was very weak, and I suffered from terrible palpitations, which the doctors said were from troubles peculiar to women. Friends urged me to try Ferrozone, and I bought six boxes. When I had used the third box my old-time vigor and strength returned. The palpitation ceased, my appetite increased, and I got a good rosy color in my cheeks. It would be impossible to speak too highly of Ferrozone. All weak women should use it. I hope many suffering sisters will use Ferrozone, for it will surely cure them.

Rev. J. C. Morse, D. D., pastor of the Baptist church, Sandy Cove, bears witness to the recovery of Mrs. Jeffry, and writes: "This is to certify that Mrs. Annie Jeffry is a lady upon whose word you can depend. I have known her since childhood, and believe her to be a truthful honest woman." This adds additional force to the testimonial of Mrs. Jeffry, and gives assurance to other sufferers that Ferrozone does what is claimed for it.

Three weeks' treatment costs 50c., or six boxes for $2 50. At all druggists, or by mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont. Order Ferrozone to-day. It assures health.

Obituary.

The many friends here of Mr. George Cassady and his daughter, Mae (Mrs. Burns) will regret to hear of the death of the latter's husband, of which the following account is given in "The Vancouver Province" of 20th October:

Mr. Frederick F. Burns, a prominent business man of Vancouver, member of the wholesale hardware firm of Boyd, Burns & Co., and son of Mr. John Burns of this city, died at 3.30 o'clock this morning at a hospital in Pocatello, Idaho.

The announcement of Mr. Burns' demise reached the city this morning in a telegram from Mr. George Cassady, jr., to Mr. James Sclater, C. P. R. ticket agent. Mr. Cassady, who is a brother of Mrs. Burns, was with the deceased for some time prior to his death.

Hurrying to Salt Lake City in the expectation of meeting the deceased, were Mrs. Burns and Mr. John Boyd, the former the widow and the latter the partner of the late Mr. Burns. The deceased expected to be in Salt Lake City to-morrow, and upon advices from him to that effect, Mr. Boyd left for the Southeast on Saturday night last. A telegram announcing a change for the worse in the late Mr. Burns' condition having arrived here after Mr. Boyd's departure, Mrs Burns decided to lose no time in starting for Salt Lake City. She left here on Sunday morning, and meeting Mr. Boyd in Portland, continued eastward toward Salt Lake City.

It is believed that notification of the demise of Mr. Burns would reach them on the train. Such being the case, Mrs. Burns and Mr. Boyd stop at Pocatello, reaching there at 11 30 o'clock this morning.

For some years past the late Mr. Burns was afflicted with debility of the lungs, and his death is presumed to have been caused by a hemorrhage induced by tuberculosis. It was in search of a climate of softer tone than that afforded in this province that Mr. Burns went, when he left the city some little time ago.

Leaving here, the deceased proposed to go south into California, after having taken a run through the valley of the Salt Lake. While in Utah he was advised by a physician to remain in the north. He took that advice, it is believed, because he wished to visit Yellowstone Park. He did visit the Park, and it was while on his way back to Salt Lake City from the Yellowstone that he was seized with an aggravation of his illness at Pocatella, Idaho.

For five days the late Mr. Burns lay in the hospital at Pocatello. As his condition was not known here to be very serious, it is thought that Mr. Burns refused to allow a knowledge of the true state of affairs to be sent his relatives. To-day, October 20, was the anniversary of his birthday. He was thirty-five years of age.

Mr. James Sclater this morning communicated to the father of deceased, Mr. John Burns, the sad intelligence of the death. The body will be brought to Vancouver for interment. It is now only some two years since Mr. Arthur Burns, brother of the late Mr. Fred. Burns, died from tuberculosis in California.

The late Mr. Burns some years ago married Miss Mae Cassady, daughter of Mr. George Cassady, of this city. From this union there is one child, a daughter fourteen months old.

The deceased was one of the most widely known and respected business men in Vancouver. He had been in commercial life here for many years. He was a past president of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society, past president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, chairman of the board of managers of St. Andrew's Church, and honorary member of the General Hospital Board. Born in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1868, the late Mr. Burns came to Vancouver eleven years ago. From the time of his arrival in this city he had been prominent in public affairs.

A Bathurst despatch of last Friday says: The remains of the late Mrs. Hastings, formerly Miss Avis Louise Ferguson, arrived here from Barton, Vt., by this morning's express, accompanied by her bereaved husband and Mrs. R. H. Lee Young. The funeral took place at 4 p.m. today from the residence of Dr. G. M. Duncan to the Presbyterian cemetery. Rev. H. R. Reid conducted the services at the house and grave. The floral offerings were numerous and very handsome. Mr. Mark Ferguson, brother of deceased, arrived from Sydney, C. B., to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Hastings died after a short illness, leaving a babe a year old. She was a daughter of the late Alexander Ferguson, Esq., of Bathurst, and sister of Mrs. R. H. Lee Young, of Caraquet, and Mr. Mark Ferguson, of Sydney, C. B. She leaves to mourn an affectionate husband and a large circle of sorrowing friends by whom she was much beloved.

Mrs. Hastings had spent the summer with friends in Bathurst, and her sudden death comes as a great shock to the community.

The Cry of Macedonia to the Christian Nations.

A man of Macedonia, in vision of the night,
The sacred record tells, appeared to th' Apostles' sight
And, with beseeching look, the words were uttered fervently
"O! come to Macedonia, for aid we need from thee."
Acts XV: 9.

And many a century has passed, since th' Apostle's days
When converts of the church he formed, received his grateful praise
For fruits of heavenly virtues, and for deeds of charity,
For grace in Jesus to believe, and suffer patiently.
Phils. I: 29.

And now from Macedonia, the same sad piteous cry
Of those to whom, than live their lives, it better were to die
Is made to Christian nations, in the all powerful Name
Of Christ the Prince and Saviour who from Heaven's glories came

And lived on earth a life of toil, love and humility,
And died a spotless victim, on the cross of Calvary,
To rescue from their sins and woes those purchased with His blood
Who children are, by faith in Him, of the same Father God.

O! Christian nations not, in vain, hear the heart-rending cry
Of Macedonian brethren, sisters, feeble infancy,
"O! come and help us, as you love the Lord of grace and might
In freedom's cause, from Moslem hordes, to rescue us unite.

There needs, but faithful homage to the Lord, that ye do yield,
And firm resolve: there needs no blood be shed on battlefield
Yours is the power to repress their deeds of cruelty
O! lack not will, peace to secure and Christian liberty."
