LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

S. T. Gallagher and S. W. Burtt were appointed delegates to attend the U. B. Convention at the Jacksontown church on Nov. 12 and 13.

A number of local Masons attended the funeral of their late brother, Andrew Stephenson at Florenceville on Sunday. The brother was buried with full Masonic honors.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Noble of Blaine, Me., were in town on Wednesday.

Irvine Jones of Knowlesville secured the pure bred Jersey recently advertised in the Observer by its owner, James Crone.

G. W. Bishop of Grand Falls spent the week-end here. While here he purchased the standard bred pacer, Chimes Tell, jr., from B. E. Cliff.

Everett Hoyt has recently purchased a black flyer, which one does well to keep up with in an attached sleigh.

The Ladies' Guild of St. James church were entertained last week by Mrs. H. W. Peppers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kidney of Lakeville spent a day last week with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kinney.

We are glad to be able to report that Louis Webb who has had such a trying illness is on the mend.

On December 11, Rev. H. R. Bell will preach as follows: Centreville, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.; Carvell, 3 p.m. Come and hear.

Mr. Potts of St. John has been added to the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia as junior clerk.

Freeland McKenzie and Chas. Wilkinson were appointed deputy returning officers for the poll here at the recent election.

Dempsey and Carpentier failed to materialize for the scheduled bout here last week. Guess the latter must have missed his boat. The large crowd of fight fans who gathered for the bout went home sorely disappointed.

The weather man sure does pull some funny stunts. In a letter a couple of days since from Eastern Oregon where even light snow falls are a novelty, they report a snow storm continuing from Saturday until Monday, during which time they received the liberal helping of three feet, completely tying up traffic and communication for a week. This in a land where they wouldn't know how to build a sleigh or sled.

G. S. Harmon of Robinson, Me., was in town on business Saturday.

On Sunday, Dec. 11 (3rd Sunday after Advent), Rev. C. R. Canham will preach at Greenfield, 11 a.m.; Florenceville, 3 p.m.; Centreville, 7.30 p.m. Subject, "Where is Christ Coming?" All are welcome

Mr. McCluskey of Bristol spent Sunday at F. J. Sloat's.

BRISTOL BREVITIES

Mrs. Vive Watson and daughter Evelyn of Woodstock were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Davis last week.

Mrs. J. S. Hodgdon and children of Fort Fairfield spent a few days in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Marich and Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Banks attended the dance at Bath on Wednesday night.

Mrs. R. R. Beatty of Boochwood is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Boyer.

Mrs. M. McIntosh and A. E. Speakman of Glassville were guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Banks last week.

Mrs. G. S. Larlee of Bath was the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Caldwell, on Friday.

R. S. Giberson returned home from Limestone on Saturday.

Mrs. Roy Hunter was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Davis on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rogers spent Friday in Hartland.

C. D. Libby of Houlton spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. George Fulton.

Miss Helen Elkins returned home this weeke from Mars Hill where she has spent the past months with her sister, Mrs. C. A. Broad.

FLORENCEVILLE FACTS

The many friends of Miss Helen Turner were very sorry to learn of her death on Nov. 30 at her home in Summerfield, after a short illness and operation for appendicitis. Before her illness she attended school here. On Thursday her teacher, Mr. Brown, and many of her school friends attended the funeral at her home.

Miss Mary Miller has recovered from a slight illness.

A very sad accident occurred recently, when Andrew Stephenson fell from the mow of the barn to the floor, sustaining injuries which caused his death a week later. The funeral of Mr. Stephenson under the order of the Masons was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gallagher of Centreville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Estey.

KNOXFORD REVIVAL

After eight and one-half years earnest labor on the Tracey Mills-Knoxford United Baptist circuit Rev. W. J. Hurlow accepted a call to New Glasgow, N. S. and since Dec. 1920 the churches have been without a settled pastor. For six months Rev. I. F. Kierstead of Royalton Reformed Baptist, did the pastorate work in the two Knoxford churches in addition to his own—preaching, attending prayer meetings, visiting the sick, burying the dead, etc. Then came a succession of U. B. "supply" men—Revs. Hogan Trites, Tedford, Gillan, Tingey and Burroughs, until a pastor could be securred. In the meantime, the Christian people prayed earnestly that the Lord would send by whomever He would, a reformation to the place teeming with young vigorous life and sturdy manhood. In October, Leigh C. Good, a young Baptist of Monticello, Me., who had been soundly converted and given a consuming desire to help his fellowmen get saved, was invited over a week-end. From the First the Divine blessing attended the passionate labor and undivided attention given, and, as a result, after five week's hard work large and glorious things are manifest. Nearly every home on the seven-mile road is a place of prayer. Besides the numerous reclinations 62 persons have been baptized, all but 8 persons who came from Summerfield, Centreville, Tracey Mills and Royalton were residents of Knoxford. The figures are remarkable for several things—Eleven married men, ranging in years from twenty-two to forty-five; nine married women from eighteen upward; eighteen young men; thirteen young women and eleven persons from ten to fifteen years of age. A pronounced feature of the services was the personal work done. As soon as souls were saved and began to realise the great need of others knowing the Way, most of them set out to persuade others and "Salvation" was the theme on all tongues, talked over more freely than any other subject ever was in this place. Mature men remarked that never in a residence of fifty years here had they seen such deep, thorough and widespread work done. The church often could not hold the crowds that desired to get in and the room was a perfect hive of soul-saving industry. There was no excitement, little adverse criticism, but an earnest desire to know God personally and to strive to live as he would have them.

The pastor Rev. Mr. Burroughs arrived on Dec. 4 and found a church ready to receive him. Much praying had been done for him, for his is a wonderful privilege of leading on the honest earnest souls who want to live right.

Mr. Good, after a week's rest continues the campaign in the Royalton church and all are invited to attend and help as they did here. Rev. Mr. Bell of Centreville and Mr. Kierstead of Royalton gave unqualified approval of the work and helped all possible.

A praying band has been organized as a help to the young converts in addition to the regular church services. We expect much good to result and we know we have the lively interest and prayers of all Christians everywhere that the truly marvellous work shall be continued and deepened and become a dependable power for God. There has been much serious illness here and much prayer has been answered for the recovery of loved ones. —Contributed.
