LOCALS

LOST.—Between St. Louis and Richibucto, a Black Overcoat with velvet collar. The finder will be rewarded by leaving it at THE REVIEW office.

FANCY SALE AND ENTERTAINMENT.—There will be a Fancy Sale and Entertainment in the St. Louis Convent on THURSDAY EVENING, 23rd inst. A well filled refreshment table will be provided. All are cordially invited. A special train will leave Richibucto at six o'clock, local time.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN.—On the night of Thursday, 16th inst., 20 sheep. Anyone giving any information as to their whereabouts will be suitably rewarded by MALCOLM MCKINNON.

Richibucto, Dec. 32, 1897.

KENT NORTHERN RAILWAY.—At a meeting of The Northern Railway Company held at the Railway Office, Richibucto, on Wednesday forenoon, the folgentlemen were duly elected Directors of the Company: Wilmot Brown, J. D. Phinney, Robert Hutchinson, William F. Brown, Thomas Murray, William Gillespie and Geo. Lester Brown.

WEDDING AT COCAGNE.—At Cocagne, Dec. 15th, a quiet wedding took place at the residence of the bride's father, when Ephraim Tidd, of McDougall's Settlement, and Abigail J. Murray were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edwin Smith, of Shediac, in the presence of a select number of relations and friends. The happy couple will return to their new home in a few days when a hearty reception will be given them by their many friends.

BOSTON COMEDY COMPANY.—The Boston Comedy Company under the management of that vetern showman, H. Price Webber, have been delighting the people of Richibucto by their high class acting. They gave performances in the Temperance hall on the evenings of Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. The attendance on these occasions though fair, was hardly what such talented artists merited. Mr. Webber was perfectly satisfied, however, and in his closing address expressed his high estimate of the people of this town. This (Wednesday) evening they will give the people of Kingston a dramatic treat in the "White Slave." We venture to predict that the beautiful new hall, in Kingston, never echoed with such pathos and eloquence as it will this evening.

CORRESPONDENCE

Editor of The Review:

SIR.—Allow me through your widely circulated paper to correct an error which I see in last week's Presbyterian Witness. "Rev. D. Fraser, of St. Andrew's church, Kingston, was presented with a handsome fur coat and driving gloves by a committee on behalf of the congregation." The presentation of the said coat and gloves to the Rev. D. Fraser was made by a few friends of his in the congregation, not by the congregation as a whole.

Yours, etc.,

ONE OF THE CONGREGATION.

RAKINGS

—A MERRY CHRISTMAS!

—Read J. F. Black & Son's change of ad. in this issue.

—Ladies footwear of all kinds at J. & W. Brait's.

—The Dominion Parliament will meet on Thursday, Feb. 3.

—The young folk of town enjoyed the good skating of Monday and Tuesday of this week.

—Largest stock of Xmas goods at W. W. Short's this year.

—Auctioneer Jas. L. Hutchinson will conduct a sale of furniture, etc., belonging to the estate of the late Henry O'Leary, in the Masonic hall, on Wednesday, January 5.

—Mr. George Hudson, of Kingston, has a grade Jersey cow which made 10½ lbs. butter in one week recently. This is the cow that has taken several first prizes at the Agricultural shows in Kingston.

—Boneless fish in 5 and 10 pound boxes at J. & W. Brait's.

—The turkey supper and entertainment held in the Kingston hall last Wednesday evening was highly successful, notwithstanding the bad weather. About one hundred and thirty dollars were realized.

—Our stock of ladies' and children's underwear will be found complete. J. & W. Brait.

—The Sabbath School Committee having reconsidered the matter of a public Entertainment, have decided to confine it to the Sabbath School, desiring to give all the time to the young folk and their parents.

—For men's rubbers, rubber boots, overshoes, moccasins, lumbermen's rubbers and socks, call at J. & W. Brait's.

—Rev. Father Michaud has returned from a trip to the Upper Provinces and New England States. While absent Father Michaud visited his cousin Bishop Michaud in Burlington. Among other cities he spent some days in Fitchburg, Gardener and New Bedford and was surprised to meet so many of our Acadian population in the last named city, where he conduct services.

—We have a full stock of men's and boys hats, caps, gloves and sweaters. J. & W. Brait.

—Norman B. MacKenzie died at Newcastle last Wednesday. A few days ago, Mr. MacKenzie was thrown from a sleigh, and a bullet lodged near his spine was thereby disturbed, causing inflammation. The remains were taken to New Glasgow for interment.

—Go to W. W. Short's Richibucto, for Xmas presents.

—The mild weather which had prevailed here for ten days or so, was followed on Saturday night by a cold wave. Although there was a gale of wind blowing the river froze across. Sunday night was also cold and on Monday morning the fishermen began setting out their nets. Very few fish are being caught, however.

—J. & W. Brait carry a full assortment of white wool blankets.

—In our last week's issue the statement of a Harcourt correspondent in re transfer of Mr. Thos. Atkinson's property, was not quite correct. Mr. Cameron, of St. Louis, purchased only a part of the mill property, and the Leet and Dunn farms were not included in the sale. The figure mentioned was considerably below the actual price paid.

—Lowest prices ever offered for Xmas presents at W. W. Short's.

—Dr. Smith, of the Tracadie lazaretto, was in St. John a few days ago and saw the young man who is detained there with leprosy. Dr. Smith said there was no doubt the case was a genuine one, but agreed with the local physicians that it had not yet progressed to such a stage as to become dangerous. It is understood he will communicate with the Ottawa authorities, advising them that it is perfectly safe to allow the young man to return to his home in Barbadoes.

—Just received another lot of ladies' fur collars, men's and boys ulsters at J. & W. Brait's.

—There was a big fire in Moncton Monday morning, when about forty thousand dollars worth of property was destroyed. The insurance was in the vicinity of twenty-three thousand dollars. F. P. Reid & Co.'s store, the Central Book Store, and the Ruddick Block were totally destroyed, as was also Mrs. J. Dobson's store. G. A. Vye's building, Connor's restaurant and J. B. Moore's restaurant were gutted.

—Our motto for Xmas goods—quick sales and small profits. W. W. Short, Richibucto.

—The many friends of Miss May Flanagan who was so badly burned at her home here some months ago, will be pleased to learn that she has wonderfully improved since going to the hospital at Montreal She and her sister Miss Zeph. Flanagan, who accompanied her to Montreal, will, it is understood, return home for Christmas. Miss Flanagan's convalescence is so far advanced that it will not be necessary for her to return to Montreal.—Transcrspt.

—Miss McDonald, who has taught the Intermediate Dept., in the Kingston school for a number of years past, has resigned her position. Miss McLean who taught the Primary Dept., has exchanged schools with Miss Farrer who has been at Jardine's Yard school.

—The postmaster general has decided to adopt the system of issuing postal notes which has been in existence in Great Britain for some years. The system will go into effect on the first of July next These postal notes will replace the post office money orders for the transmission of all small sums through the post.

—Toys, fancy goods, picture frames, mirrors, cups and saucers, perfumes, etc., etc., in large variety at W. W. Short's, Richibucto.

—The Ontario government's bill laying down a new policy on the timber question was introduced in the Legislature Monday. The bill provides that after April 30th next all licenses shall contain a stipulation that all timber cut on lands leased by the government shall be sawn in the province. The measure is intended as a retaliation against the United States for the imposition of the two dollar rate on lumber.

—The Canadian Drug Co., whose "Klondyke Gold" advertisement appears in THE REVIEW, does a large business in drugs and medicines of all kinds. In addition to these they carry stocks of spices and similar goods, and country dealers will find it to their advantage to trade with then. Their establishment on Prince William street, St. John, is a busy place and well worth a visit from any of our readers who may go to the city.

—Apples, oranges, grapes, figs, nuts, candied citron and lemon, confectionery, etc., etc. Try some of our good, hard boiled mixed candy—3 pounds for 25 cents. W. W. Short, Richibucto.
