LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

Friends of E. A. Hoyt will be pained to learn of his death which occurred at his home on Wednesday 21st, after an illness of a month. Deceased was born on August 9, 1850 and came as a young man to Centreville. He was married to Miss Alice Johnston who survives him. Shortly after marriage the young couple moved to the American west, where they spent a number of years in Kansas and Arizona. They returned to Centreville about twenty-five years ago and have lived here continuously since. Besides his wife he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. C. Stevens of Centreville, a brother, Wallace Hoyt, of Denver, Colo., and a sister, Mrs. Annie Sawyer of Fredericton. The funeral was held at his late home and conducted by Rev. Hugh Miller, assisted by Rev. C. R. Canham. The members of Carleton Lodge F. and A. M. attended in a body and took charge of the service after leaving the house. Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery.

The pictures are still improving each week and any one missing these programmes is missing a real treat. Don't forget "The Light in the Clearing." Irving Bachelier's very best story, on Wednesday night and "The Truant Husband" by Albert Payson Terhune on Saturday. Last Saturday the management got an extra good house.

A crew of men started work this week on the highway near the Boundary Line. Venlot didn't get at it any too soon as it is washed away now to the strata laid down about the stone age. A good many of the roads in the section should be sent over to Gloucester County for repairs.

Miss Dorothy Clark of Presque Isle, Me., is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Clark.

Dr. Murray and Miss Marguerite Campbell spent Sunday with Mrs. B. W. Campbell.

Mr. Bruce of Charlottetown, P. E. I. is visiting his son, W. M. Bruce.

Miss Esther Weade returned to Lawrence, Mass., on Friday.

The Centreville Dramatic Club played at Perth on Friday.

The United Baptist church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, the 21st, when Miss Rosie Jameson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jameson, was united in marriage to Carey Dickinson of Avondale. The church, which was packed to the doors with interested witnesses, had been prettily decorated with an arch of greens and cut flowers. Miss Glenna Weade was bridesmaid and Harold Jameson acted as best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. R. Bell. Following the functions at the church the invited guests adjourned to the bride's home on Mill street, where the happy throng did yeoman services at the tables laden with sumptuous eats. Many beautiful presents bespoke the esteem in which the bride was held. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful string of pearls, and to the bridesmaid a pearl and onyx ring. After a happy wedding tour the couple will return to their future home in Avondale.

On July 2, Rev. H. R. Bell will preach as follows: Centreville, 11 a. m.; Good Corner, 3 p.m.; Centreville, 7 p.m. The following subject will be considered at each of these services: "Has God a financial plan for His Church?" Come and bring a friend.

Mrs. F. M. Brown and daughter, Miss Vera, on Saturday. The latter young lady recently received her Ph. D. from Bryn Mawr University, Philadelphia, after a most brilliant scholastic career.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. DeLong and Miss Hildred DeLong attended the marriage of Miss Georgie DeLong at Brookville on Wednesday of last week.

The Kennedy House is beginning to smile over the new coat of paint it is receiving at the hands of Mr. Wilkinson of Bath.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stevens of Woodstock spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Stevens.

Dr. H. M. Bartell of Woodstock was at the Kennedy House on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. MacKenzie have moved into their home in town again.

UNITED GENIUS AND BEAUTY

Many of America's Great Men Have Proved That the Two Can Exist Together.

While Socrates had the mind of a god and the form of a satyr, and many from that day on have said that beauty and genius do not go together, such is not the case in American history, according to Charles E. Corwin, writing in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. With few striking exceptions good looking, well proportioned men have achieved fame. Washington was a handsome man, and Gen. Winfield Scott was considered fine looking. Gen. Lee, of Civil war fame, was attractive in form and feature. Daniel Webster, Edward Everett, Horace Greeley and Franklin were handsome types of their periods.

The writer declares there has been a distinct change in the type of the American countenance. In colonial days the typical face was full, rosy and reposeful. Today the average countenance is somewhat sharp, pallid and expressive of energy. Roosevelt had the sharpness of present-day features. President Wilson's chin radiates determination, and Bryan's smile is unique of its kind, but the features are like the present day type.

Among men of letters James Fenimore Cooper bore the palm for beauty. He was large and finely proportioned. His features were of leonine cast, and his clear, gray eyes were radiant with power. Washington Irving was a handsome man, as was also N. P. Willis.

NEW LINES SEEN ON MOON

British Astronomer Makes Public Recent Observations of Great Interest to Scientists.

A paper by T. L. MacDonald, read before the British Astronomical association, discusses the appearance of a bright border along the dark limb of the young moon. According to Mr. MacDonald this luminosity, which is also visible in all crescents, has a more or less flexible appearance, and is decidedly brighter than the ordinary earthshine, which always illuminates the darker part of the young moon. The bright border varies in length, but always extending as far as the horns of the lunar crescent, and certain very circular dwellings of beautiful brightness have been noted. In general the border is most sharply defined when the moon is 2½ days old, and it begins to become diffuse the third day of the lunation. By the seventh day it is barely distinguishable. Commenting on these observations Mr. Harold Thomson stated that he had observed the bright border with the naked eye, but it disappeared in the telescope.—Scientific American.

For Sale at Bargain

100 acre farm, about 40 acres cleared, balance in lumber land, situated in Greenfield, near the home of Mr. T. W. Caldwell, M. P. This farm has enough hardwood on it to pay full price asked for the farm. This is a real bargain. Also, choice of two nice residents on Maple Street in town here for sale at a low price. Reason for selling, personal. Also wish to sell my mill and lot at Stickney. This is a fine new mill, well located, including a large piece of ground for piling purposes. This mill contains Rotary, Edger, Lath Machine, Planer, Pulp Rasper and Shot Stream Feed. Can easily cut 20 to 25 M per day. This is offered at a great bargain. Part terms if necessary. My reason for selling is that I wish to devote my entire time and capital to my retail business.

THE REWARD OF CARELESSNESS

Many fine homes have been lost by lightning, merely because rodding was one of the things their owners were going to do "some day." Loss of your home may be the reward of similar carelessness.

The Dodd System of Lightning Protection makes loss by lightning IMPOSSIBLE and is GUARANTEEED in writing.

THE COST? Nothing compared with the possible saving.

Call, write or telephone me about it at once and I will arrange to fix you up with the old and reliable Dodd & Struthers System.

Terms to suit you.
