signed by each party at Loo, on the 31st inst. and a messenger arrived with it on Thursday last, at the Marquis of Carmarthen's office.

Yesterday morning goods to the amount of upwards of 140,000l. were entered at the Custom House for Virginia and Maryland.

June 30. On Friday last an express arrived from Paris, with advice of a total change of measures having taken place in the French Cabinet, that the Ministers of France were entirely changed, that the Parliament were called, and that the Duke de Chatelet, formerly Ambassador to our Court, is appointed Minister; all which regulations are so well relished by the people, as to have already given every appearance of returning tranquility and peace.

July 3. By a gentleman just returned from France, we give the following authentic intelligence: He was at Reins the 1st of june, the day on which the Parliaments was exiled, and finding that matters were coming to an extremity by the military being called to the assistance of the Kings orders, he left the town by the advice of his friends; the forces at Reins were not sufficient to perform the task; expressed were sent for more troops, and a body of between ten and eleven thousand men marched for Reins, and encamped before the town, the gates being shut against them; they gut all the corn down which was grown near the city where they encamped. At eleven o'clock at night on the 2d of june, an attack was made on the city, and after throwing in a few bombs they forced the south gate, and the people defended themselves till upwards of eleven hundred were killed. He says throughout Britany, and the provinces through where he passed, the freedom of conversation for their liberties was such, that he began to think himself in England. In Reins and many other towns the following were posted up in different parts of the provinces: Louis le severe Roi de France, qui a donnez la libertie aux Americaines-et soit esclaves de son peuple.——"Louis the severe, the present King of France who has given liberty to America and made his own subjects slaves," In other places through which he passed was wrote in French, "No parliament! No King!"

A certain merchant well remembered at the Royal Exchange, who lately died suddenly, left in his bureau an epistle written to one of his correspondents, which he had not sealed. His sagacious clerk, seeing it necessary to send the letter, wrote at the bottom by way of postscript, "since writing the above I have died."

A warrant passed the royal signature last week for granting sir Frederick Haldiman, late Governor of Quebec, the sum of 3504l. 16s. 10d. for law expences during the time he filled that post.

At the same time a wararnt also passed royal signature, for granting to Evan Nepean, Esq. one of the Under secretaries of state, the sum of 15,007l. 1s. 8d. expended in presents to the Indian Chiefs in Canada.

July 1. No change has yet taken place in the French Ministry, nor are any of them exiled. The dismissal of the Prime Minister is not looked for until about the 10th of this month. It was not expected till toward the latter end; but circumstances have arisen which will accelerate the measure. The other two principal Members who go out with him, are---the Compte Brienne, Minister of the War department; and M. la Moignon, keeper of the seals. The latter is the person through whom all the obnoxious Letters de Cacher were sent. The Duke de Chatelet still holds the best chance of being promoted to the head of affairs. If it is so, M Neckar remains out. There is little probability in his favor. The Baron de Breteuil keeps his place. No further mention is made of any disturbances in the provinces.---An order was sent last week from the King to the several commandants throughout the kingdom, to suspend their former orders till his further pleasure was made known.

According to letters from Paris of Thursday evening last, the exiled members of Parliament are recalled. The new Prime Minister of France was expected to be declared the next day (Friday) by the King; but such was the temper and spirit of the people all over the kingdom, that it was generally believed the Crown will be obliged to make some other sacrinces; and that nothing but an assurance that the attempt against the constitution shall never hereafter be revived, will satisfy the nation, or put a stop to the troubles, which in some places were arrived at an alarming height.

That a general war is now about to desolate the northern parts of Europe, is no longer a secret. From dispatches received on Monday by the Swedish Consul, it appears, that general orders have been issued for the return of all subjects of whatever description, and a free pardon to those whose misdemeanors had banished them; in addition to this, a hot press, a measure heretofore unknown in that country, had taken place in every sea-port and principal town. This intelligence, in corroboration of that already received of the general motion of the Swedish troops, and the advanced state of the fleet, to all which preparations the Prince Royal is indefatigable in his attention, leaves not a shadow of doubt concerning the intention of the Swedes to take this opportunity to attempt the recovery of Finland, wrested from them by Peter the Great. How the Empress will be able to quench this fire, thus unexpectedly lighted up, time only can tell.

ST. JOHN, (New-Brunswick) Sept. 12.

Yesterday arrived the brigantine True Briton, Capt. Collins, after a passage of 9 weeks from London.——In her came passengers Col. Kemble, of the 60th regt. Lieut. H. Gott, Ensign R. Gott, of the 54th Regt. Mr. R. L. Fowles, Printer.

In the True Briton also arrived, sundry articles of cloathing, with some implements of husbandry, cash, &c. amounting in the whole, in value to £500 sterl. consigned to Messrs. Zephaniah Kingsley, Christopher Sower, Thomas Whitlock, William Whitlock and John Calef, being a Donation from that truly christian society of people in England commonly called Quakers, to their brethren in this province, to be distributed among them at the discretion of those gentlemen to whom they are consigned. It is said Donations to the same amount have also been sent by the meeting for sufferings of those people in England to their friends in Nova-Scotia.

By a gentleman just arrived from England, in the True Briton, we learn, that there had been an engagement between the fleets of Russia and Sweden, the event of which was not known when the brig sailed, but may be hourly expected, as another vessel was to sail for this port three days after the departure of the True Briton.

The late Arret published by the FRENCH KING is very strong and decisive; it says, "That if any subject, or body of subjects, shall presume to present a remonstrance relative to the Parliament, he or they shall forfeit all their real and personal estate, and be deprived of all rank and honor."

 It is hoped the PUBLIC will excuse the publication of the paper being so long delayed, which is owing to the length of the Act of Parliament, which came to hand only on Thursday evening.

BLANKS of various kinds may be had at the Printing-Office, No. 58, Prince William-Street.

TO THE LOYALISTS.

THE SUBSCRIBER for the satisfaction and information of the LOYALISTS in this Province, takes the liberty of publishing an extract of a letter from Messrs. LEWIS WOLF of his Majesty's Treasury, London, and CHARLES STEDMAN, Esqrs. (gentlemen who stand candidates for Agency) dated June 7th, 1788.

"It is uncertain as yet whether the "Act will be extended or not, for admitting new claimants; but you may "depend upon having the first information.—We feel a very peculiar satisfaction in informing you that Parliament have voted a Sum of Money for "paying off the LOYALISTS; and which "is to be paid by debentures at the Exchequer, bearing an interest of 3 1-2 "per cent.

"All Powers of Attorney heretofore "granted are rendered useless, as the Exchequer requires a particular form "which we have obtained and now send "you.

"Any of the LOYALISTS who wish "to sell or transfer their debentures, can "do it by appointing an Agent for that "purpose."

THE SUBSCRIBER begs leave to return his thanks to the LOYALISTS for their former confidence and favours, and to offer them his further service in transacting their business for obtaining the remainder of their compensation money from government, which he will do on moderate and easy terms.

ROSS CURRIE.
