From private letters from Quebec, of the 2d instant, we learn that the last division of the 43d Regiment arrived there the previous day, and that the 1st division of the 85th Regiment were then crossing the river opposite the City, all in good health and spirits.

The Quebec Gazette of the 29th ultimo says:

We are glad to hear that throughout the whole of the French Canadian settlements on the south shore, they were received with that good feeling and hospitality which distinguished the inhabitants in the winter of 1812-13, when Canada was reinforced by the 104th Regt. from the same quarter. The march from Fredericton, 350 miles, has been performed in about 20 days, but great part of the way in winter carriages.

The ice-bridge, on the St. Lawrence, at Carouge, gave way last night, having held since the 23d instant.

Upper Canada papers inform us, that the Honourable Judge M'Lean has been despatched by His Excellency Sir F. B. HEAD, to Washington, to remonstrate against the hostile occupation of Navy Island by a party of citizens of the United States, and generally on the armaments fitting out in the American frontier towns to disturb the peace of Upper Canada.

SAINT JOHN, JAN. 6.—The whole of the Military being under orders for Canada, the duty of this garrison will be performed by the City Militia. The necessary guards were accordingly furnished this morning from the left Flank Company of the First Battalion, under Capt. John Robertson, Lieutenant Alexander Robertson being Officer of the day. They will be relieved by the First Company of the Rifle Battalion, under Capt. Van-Horne, to-morrow; and so long as necessary, the duties will be performed by alternate Companies of the two Battalions.—Courier.

DEBATES OF THE House of Assembly.

INDUCED by the pledge of the late House of Assembly, (as contained in their Resolution of last Session, to provide for the Reporting of their debates, and to furnish them gratuitously to any Printer who would undertake to print them daily in Fredericton,) we had made all the necessary preparations for issuing a daily publication of the debates of the present Session; and Mr. Blatch, who originally established and has for seven years executed the Reporting, was prepared to furnish us with the Debates, as reported by himself, agreeably to the intentions of the same Resolution. Our first Number would have appeared about ten days ago; but owing to the House of Assembly having shewn, by their discussions on the subject, a reluctance to follow up the intentions of the late House, by patronizing our attempt, our project was delayed. We have however, again determined to prosecute the work, as far as lies in our power; convinced that a daily publication of the Debates of the Assembly will be interesting and useful to the public generally, and confident that we need fear no competition with regard to the style in which we are enabled to execute it. Mr. Blatch, the Reporter, who is at present attending on the House, (waiting a final decision as to whether his services are to be employed this Session, according to the implied intentions of the late House,) has constantly furnish us with his manuscript reports, and we have therefore commenced the publication according to our original intentions. The work will be printed in large quarto, four pages, which, containing twelve closely printed columns, will be issued daily; printed with new type, imported expressly for the purpose, and on fine paper, with a full and copious index to the work. The subscription price will be Twelve Shillings and Sixpence for the entire Session, exclusive of Postage. Persons wishing to subscribe to the work will please transmit their names to the Agents; and upon the first being received at this Office, the Reporting will be commenced from the commencement, and regularly continued thereafterward. If, however, the House of Assembly should finally refuse to engage Mr. Blatch's services for the Session, (in the same manner as they have provided for last year,) the publication will cease; and in such case Subscribers will not be called upon for payment.

We shall occasionally introduce into the Columns of the Gazette, such of the Debates as may be interesting and important to the constituency of the Province generally; and more particularly such as bear upon the Commercial and Agricultural interests of the community.
