AN ELEGIAC THOUGHT

on the sudden death of Mrs. Mary M. Leggett, who died May 9, 1854.

"Joyful she laid this body down,
And left the house of clay—
Without a murmur, sigh or groan,
She stretch'd—and soar'd away!"
She's gone to blest abodes above
To meet her kindred lov'd-ones where—
All join and sing "Redeeming Love!"
And praise their loving Saviour there!
When sin (the sting of Death) was gone,
The blessed spirits, wing'd away—
Meek, holy, triumph, still sat on
Her peaceful, lifeless, form of clay!
Still, her first love, from early youth,
She'd kept, through all her conflicts here—
A Heav'n born knowledge of the Truth
Sustain'd her soul, from slavish fear.
Tired nature wish'd for no delay—
Calm, meek, serene—without a sigh,
Her happy spirit soar'd away
And taught us how to live—to die!
By grace we're saved thro' faith indeed,
And that is, too, the gift of Heav'n!
And when for special grace we plead—
Calm, dying faith thro' Jesus giv'n,
Long fifty years, she taught, with care,
Many a fair and youthful train!
A Tutress, truly, for the Fair—
That wisely taught—nor taught in vain.
The lectures—Moral and Divine,
Were all through pious duty giv'n—
In many, now, they all combine,
Mementoes of the One in Heav'n.
Yes, every step, in passing on—
Thro' garden, green, or, fav'rite grove,
Reminds us of the worthy, gone!—
Left all in haste—for joys above!

THE QUEEN AND SIR CHARLES NAPIER.

A Cork Poet has recently been celebrating the Queen's commission to Sir Charles Napier, and the familiar circumstances under which Her Majesty sent the Admiral to the Baltic. We copy a few of the verses:—

'Twas in the spring time early,
Young lambs were dropping fast;
That Vic sent for old Charley,
To Windsor to breakfast.
Old Bluff was among his turnips,
A looking at his ewes;
Ciphering up the clip of hur ships,
When the post brough him the news.

Hauling in the slack of his trews,
He sang out an oath profane,
Jump'd into a clean pair of shoes,
And bolted off by the train
Says Vic, "Sir Charles, give us your fist,
Your vecome as flowers in May;
But before we talk, I shall insist,
You moisten first yer clay."

Vile they vos pitching into ham,
And hegs red erings and tay,
Says she, "I fairly bothered am,
How this Rooshian I shall stay."
Says he, "Don't fear, I'll heat my ead,
And that's tall talk, by goles!
But I'll tow his fleet up to Spithead,
If you'll stand the tin for coals."

"Vill I? in course I will," says she,
"And vot's more, if you keeps your word,
And gives that cove, vot he vonts," says she,
"I'm blest but I'll make yer a Lord."
"Never say die!" says he, "here goes—"
"You may as soon as yer likes,
And I'll see you off, tho' it blows."
Says she, "Great Guns and marling spikes

Then off he set for Portsmouth,
And straight vay vent on board
The 'Vellington,' the vind was South
Sou' Vest, the logs record,
His blood-red flag so flauntingly
He hoisted at the fore;
Then tipped his boom and stood to sea,
'Mid thundering cannons roar.

Vell he gets into the Baltic,
He up this signal runs,
"Theese Roosians I vill all lick,
If you stand to yer guns.
And as I mean to lie at 'em,
You'd best obsarve my word,
He'll be no good, 'od rot 'im,
Who does not grind his sword.
After that he makes the signal
For "captains cum aboard,
The flag-ship of the Hadmiral,
Has he vonts to say a vord."
Says he, "All you soft tommy chaps,
As on flapdoodle fed,
Ad better, to perwent mishaps,
Go toddle home to bed.

"Ve're got sum dirty work to do,
Afore these lubbers ve tan;
But, as I nose yer eyes's true blue,
Vy, I mean to lead the wan.
So now my Bols, this eres my plan,
Vithout any further yarn,
I gose in his hawse holes, if I can,
And comes out at his starn."

Winter Management of Fowls.—The great art in the management of hens, in order to render them profitable, is to cause them to lay in winter, as it is this season in which eggs are scarce and high. If a person keeps a flock of hens in order to supply his family with eggs, or for the purpose of selling the eggs in market, he must manage so that they will lay in water else they will not generally pay their expences. For in the first place, he will be under the necessity of buying eggs when they are very dear; and if he produces eggs for the market, he has them only when everybody's hens lay, and he must sell them at a low rate.

To cause hens to lay in winter, furnish them with a warm, dry shelter, in a warm location, where they can be free from cold winds, and enjoy a good share of sunshine. The henhouse should be kept clean, and all filth from the remains of food should be carefully removed. There should be a good supply of gravel, which ought to be removed occasionally, or dug over so as to furnish a fresh lot often.

Hens should have a constant supply of fresh water, and pure, wholesome food.—They are fond of corn, wheat, barley, oats, buckwheat, rye, rice, millet, boiled potatoes, and various other kinds of food.—Generally, the cheapest grains may be used as their food; but it is better to supply them with various kinds. They are very fond of corn, and they flourish well with this as their main food. Boiled potatoes mashed up, while hot, with meal or most any kind of grain, or with wheat bran or shorts, and given warm, are an excellent food in cold weather, and greatly promotes laying. Changes in food are advantageous. Hens prefer variety, as well as non-feathered bipeds.

In winter and in summer, when confined to small yards, hens should have a supply of animal food. Refuse meat or fish may be given, cooked or raw. Scraps are often obtained for this purpose, from the tallow dealers—but this is not so acceptable to hens as fresh meat or fish, which may be obtained at a cheap rate or gratis, from the fish market or butcher. Fresh, unburned bones, pounded or chopped fine, are excellent as they supply both animal and lime.—New England Farmer.

Growing Cucumbers.—Take a large barrel, or hogshead, saw it in two in the middle, and bury each half in the ground even with the tod. Then take a small keg and bore a small hole in the bottom; place the keg in the centre of the barrel, the top even with the ground, and fill in the barrel around the keg with rich earth, suitable for the growth of cucumbers. Plant your seed midway between the edges of the barrel and the keg, and make a kind of arbor a foot or two high for the vines to run on. When the ground becomes dry pour water in the keg in the evening—it will pass out at the bottom of the keg into the barrel and rise up to the roots of the vines, and keep them moist and green. Cucumbers cultivated in this way will grow to a great size, as they are made independent both of drought and wet weather.—In hot weather the barrel can be covered, and in dry, the ground can be kept moist by pouring water in the keg.

The Renowned Remedy!
HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST ASTONISHING CURE OF SCROFULOUS ULCERS.—A CASE CERTIFIED BY THE MAYOR OF BOSTON.

Copy of a Letter from J. Noble, Esq., Mayor of Boston, Lincolnshire.

To Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—Mrs. Sarah Dixon, of Liquorpond-st., Boston, has this day deposed before me that for a considerable period she was severely afflicted with Scrofulous Sores and Ulcers in her arms, feet, legs, and other parts of her body; and although the first of medical advice was obtained, at the cost of a large sum of money, she obtained no abatement of suffering, but gradually grew worse.

Being recommended by a friend to try your Ointment, she procured a small pot, and a box of the Pills, and before that was all used, symptoms of amendment appeared. By persevering with the medicines for a short time longer, according to the directions, and strictly adhering to your rules as to diet, &c., she was perfectly cured, and now enjoys the beast of health.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly,
August 12th, 1852. (Signed) J. NOBLE.

AN EXTRAORDINARY AND RAPID CURE OF VARICOSE VEINS IN THE LEG, AFTER MEDICAL AID HAD FAILED.

Copy of a Letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Yeates, of the Post Office, Aldwick Road, near Bognor, Sussex, dated Jan. 12th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I suffered for a considerable period from a severe attack of Erysipelas, which at length settled in my leg, and resisted all medical treatment. My sufferings were very great, and I quite despaired of any permanent amendment, when I was advised to have recourse to your Ointment and Pills. I did so without delay, and am happy to say, the result was eminently successful, for they effected a radical cure of my leg, and restored me to the enjoyment of health. I shall ever speak with the utmost confidence of your medicines, and have recommended them to others in this neighbourhood, similarly afflicted, who derived equal benefit.

I am, Sir, your obliged and faithful servant,
(Signed) ELIZABETH YEATES.

A WHEAPFULLY DISEASED ANCLE CURED AFTER BEING GIVEN UP BY THE FACULTY AT MALTA AND PORTSMOUTH HOSPITALS.

The following important communication has been forwarded to Professor Holloway for publication, by Mr. B. Dixon, Chemist, King-st., Norwich.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Smith of Great Yarmouth, dated January 19th, 1853.

To Mr. Dixon.

Dear Sir,—I send you the particulars of a cure effected by Professor Holloway's invaluable medicines: Mr. John Walton, late in Her Majesty's Service, in the British Fleet at Malta, had a very bad ulcerated ancle, and after having been in the Malta Hospital for six months, was sent to England as an invalid to Portsmouth Hospital, where he remained an inmate four months, there, as at Malta, refusing to have the limb amputated, he was turned out incurable. He then came to Yarmouth, and was under a medical gentleman for about three months, but his ancle became so much worse, that all Hope was lost. At this period, by my advice, he tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which by unremitted application, healed all the ulcers, and restored him to perfect health and strength.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours very truly,
(Signed) JOHN SMITH.

Albert Hotel, Great Yarmouth.

SURPRISING CURE OF A BAD BREAST, NERVOUS DEBILITY, AND GENERAL ILL-HEALTH.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. T. F. Ker, Chemist, &c. Lower Moss-Lane, Manchester, dated February 12th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in forwarding to you the particulars of a very extraordinary cure of a bad breast, effected solely by the use of your celebrated Ointment and Pills. Mrs. Martha Bell, of Pitt-street, in this town, had been for a considerable time labouring under nervous debility, loss of appetite, and general ill health, occasioned by ulcerated wounds in the breast. She had had much experience in the use of all the known remedies for the cure of ulcers, but without any beneficial result, in fact she had nearly lost all faith and hope of a cure being effected. In this distressing and painful condition of body and mind, she was persuaded to have recourse to your inestimable Ointment and Pills, which she immediately did, and in the course of a very short time the effect produced was most astonishing; her appetite was speedily improved, the sores and ulcers in the breast gradually healed, and the nervous excitement of her system was wholly removed.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours faithfully,
T. FORSTER KER.
