Poetry.

ON THE SEA.

The pathway of the sinking moon
Leads thee, the distant bay;
The mariner takes thine large and faint
Beside the twilight grey;
And the lights of home are setting stars
That soon will pass away.

Oh! boatmen, cease that mellow song!
Oh! minstrel, drop thy lyre:
Let us hear the voice of midnight sea,
Let us speak as the waves inspire,
While the dusky dip of the languid oar
Is a furrow of silver fire.

Day cannot make thee half so fair,
Nor the stars of eve so dear;
The arms that clasp, and the breast that keeps,
They tell me thou art near;
And the perfect beauty of thy face
In thy murmured words I hear.

The lights of land have dropped below
The vast and glimmering sea;
The world we leave is a tale that is told—
A fable that cannot be.
There is no life in the sphery dark
But the love in thee and me!

VARIETY.

A WESTERN WEDDING FEE.

A minister settled in one of our frontier Western villages, in which the primitive manners of a pioneer life had been smoothed and polished by refinement and cultivation, seated in his study one day, endeavoring to arrange the heads of his to-morrow's discourse, when his attention was called by a loud knock at the door.

The visitor proved to be a tall, gawky shambling countryman, evidently arrayed in his Sunday suit, and a stout girl, attired in a dress of red calico, which from the frequent and the complacent glances towards it by the fair owner was considered quite a magnificent affair.

"Won't you walk in?" asked the minister politely.

"Much obleeged, squire, I don't know but we will. I say, you're a minister ain't you?

"Yes.'

"I reckoned so. Betsy and me,—that's Betsy, a fast rate sort of a girl, anyhow——

"Oh, Jotham,' simpered the bashful Betsy.

"You are now, and you needn't go for to deny it. Well, Betsy and me have concluded to hitch teams and ye wan you to do it.'

"You wish to be married?'

"Yes, I believe that's what they call it. I say, though, before you begin, let's know what is going to be the damage. I reckon isn't best to go it blind.

"Oh, I never set any price! I take whatever they give me.

"Well, that is all right; go head, minister, if you please; we are in a hurry, as Joe's got to finish plantin' the potater patch, afore night, and Betsy she's got to churn the butter.

Thus injured, the minister commenced the ceremony, which occupied but a few moments.

"Kiss me, Betsy,' said the delighted bridegroom. You are my old woman, now.—Ain't it nice?'

"First rate,' was the satisfactory reply.

"Hold on a jiffy,' said Jotham, as she left his bride abruptly, and darted out to the gate where the waggon had been left.

"What's your husband gone out for?' asked the minister, somewhat surprised.

"I expect it's the sausages,' was the confused reply.

Just then Jotham made his appearance, dangling in his hand a pail full of the sausages, which he handed to the minister, with the grin of one conferring a favor.

"We hain't got much money,' said he, 'and so we thought we'd pay you in sausages.—Mother made 'em, and I reckon they are good. If they ain't, just you send them back, and we'll send you some more.'

"Do you believe in predestination?" said the captain of a Mississippi steamer to a clergyman who happened to be travelling with him.

"Of course I do."

"And you also believe that what is to be will be?"

"Certainly."

"Well I am glad to hear it."

"Why?"

"Because I intend to pass that boat ahead in fifteen consecutive minutes if there be any virtue in pine knots and loaded safety valves. So don't be alarmed, for if the boiler ain't to burst, then it won't."

Here the divine began putting on his hat, and looked very much like backing out which the captain observing, he said,

"I thought you said you believed in predestination, that what is to be will be."

"So I do, but I prefer being a little nearer the stern when it takes place;"

A Sweet Retort.—The Sporting Magazine relates how a certain bishop, distinguished for his love of fashionable company, received more than a Rowland for his Oliver from one of his clergy, whom he rebuked for occasional hunting.

"I really don't see," suggested the culprit, "that it is worse than going to a ball.'

"I suppose,' replied his lordship, 'you allude to having seen my name among the list at the duchess of ——'s ball; but I assure you I was not in the same room with dancers during any part of the evening.'

'That, my lord, is exactly my case," was the ruthless rejoinder; 'I'm never in the same field with the hounds.'

The Emperor of Japan's bedstead is superbly carved and gilded. By a singularly ingenious contrivance, a current of water may be conducted off around the tester, and at pleasure made to fall in transparent curtains of rain, completely encircling the royal couch, for the double purpose of keeping off the mosquitoes, and, tempering the warm air to the delicious coolness, which, in that sultry climate, is the consummation of bliss to reposing listlessness.

A Bachelor friend of ours passing up the street the other day, picked up a thimble. He stood for a moment meditating on the probable owner, when pressing it to his lips, he said;

"Oh, that this were the fair lips of the wearer.'

Just as he had finished, a big, ugly, black wench, looked out of an upper window, and said:

'Boss, jis please frow dat thimble in de entry. jis drap it!'

A Bull.—A Scotchman, upon one night, chanced to return home in the late state of intoxication. The wife waited a while and then, in a fit of impatience, gave a poker that stood near a heavy blow at the animal. "Give it to him Nancy!" cried the valiant husband.

After broil was dead, he came down from the loft and exclaimed, "Nancy my dear, ain't we brave!"

The far-famed Medicine, HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

SURPRISING CURE OF A CONFIRMED ASTHMA, AFTER FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

The following Testimonial has been sent to Professor Holloway, by a Gentleman named Middleton of Scotland Road, Liverpool.

Sir,—Your Pills have been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to sound health after five years of severe affliction. During the whole of that period, I suffered the most dreadful attacks of Asthma, frequently of several weeks' duration, attended with a violent cough, and continual spitting of phlegm intermixed with blood. This so shook my constitution that I was unfitted for any of the active duties of life. I was attended by some of the most eminent medical men of this town, but they failed to give me the slightest relief. As a last remedy I tried your Pills, and in about three months they effected a perfect cure of the disease, totally eradicated the cough, and restored tone and vigour to the chest and digestive organs.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

Jan'y. 1st, 1853. (Signed) H. MIDDLETON.

PERMANENT CURE OF A DISEASED LIVER OF MANY YEARS' DURATION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Gamis, Chemist, Yeovil, to Professor Holloway.

Dear Sir,—In this district your Pills command a more extensive sale than any other proprietary medicine before the public. As a proof of their efficacy in Liver and Bilious complaints, I may mention the following case. A lady of this town with whom I am personally acquainted, for years was a severe sufferer from disease of the Liver and digestive organs, her medical attendant assures her that he could do nothing to relieve her sufferings, and it was not likely she could survive many months. This announcement naturally caused great alarm among her friends and relations, and they induced her to make a trial of your Pills, which so improved her general health that she was induced to continue them until she received a perfect cure. This is twelve months ago, and she has not experienced any symptoms of relapse, and often declares that your Pills have been the means of saving her life. I remain, Dear Sir, yours truly,

Nov. 23, 1852. (Signed.) J. GAMIS.

AN ASTONISHING CURE OF CHRONIC RHEUMATISM AFTER BEING DISCHARGED FROM THE HOSPITAL INCURABLE.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. W. Moon, of the Square Winchester.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I beg to inform you that for years I was a sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism, and was often laid up for weeks together by its severe and painful attacks. I tried everything that was recommended, and was attended by one of the most eminent Surgeons in this town, but obtained no relief whatever, and fearing that my health would be entirely broken up, I was induced to go into our County Hospital, where I had the best medical treatment the Institution afforded, all of which proved of no avail, and I came out no better than I went in. I was then advised to try your Pills, and by persevering with them was perfectly cured, and enabled to resume my occupation, and although a considerable period has elapsed since, I have felt no return whatever of the complaint.

I am, Sir, your obliged servant,

Oct. 8th, 1852. (Signed) W. MOON.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF DROPSY AFTER BEING TAPPED FOR EIGHTEEN MONTHS.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. G. Briggs, Chemist, Goole, dated February 12th, 1853.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I have much pleasure in informing you of a most surprising cure of Dropsy, recently effected by your valuable medicines. Captain Jackson, of this place was afflicted with Dropsy to such an extent for eighteen months, to such an extent that he caused his body and limbs to be much swollen and water coozed as it were from his skin, so that a daily change of apparel became necessary, notwithstanding the various remedies tried, and the different medical men consulted, all was of no avail, until he commenced using your Pills, by which, and a strict attention to the printed directions he was effectually cured, and his health perfectly re-established. If you deem this worthy of publicity, you are at liberty to use it.

I am, Sir, yours respectfully,

(Signed) G. BRIGGS.
