Poetry.

The Old Bachelor's New Year.

Oh, the Spring hath less of brightness
Every year,
And the snow a ghastlier whiteness
Every year;
Nor does the summer blossoms quicker,
Nor does autumn's fruitage thicken,
As it did—the seasons sicken
Every year.

It is growing colder, colder,
Every year,
And I feel that I am older,
Every year;
And my limbs are less elastic,
And my fancy not so plastic,
Yes, my habits grow monastic
Every year.

'Tis becoming bleak and bleaker,
Every year,
And my hopes are waxing weaker
Every year;
Care I know for merry dancing,
Or for eyes with passion glancing?
Love is less and less entrancing
Every year.

Oh, the days that I have squandered
Every year,
And the friendships rudely sundered
Every year;
Of the ties that might have twined me,
Until Time to Death resigned me,
My infirmities remind me,
Every year.

Sad and sad to look before us
Every year,
With a heavy shadow o'er us
Every year;
To behold each blossom faded,
And to know we might have made it
An immortal garland braided
Round the year.

Many a spectral beckoning finger,
Year by year,
Chides me that so long I linger,
Year by year;
Every early comrade sleeping
In the churchyard, whither, weeping,
I, alone unwept, am creeping,
Year by year.

Yes, I Love thee for thy Beauty.

Yes, I love thee for thy beauty,
And the magic of those eyes,
Where the light of love is twinkling,
And the blue of Heaven lies;
Where the bliss of hope is beaming,
Early glow of splendor dawning;
While I feel as though enchanted,
With a thousand thrilling spells!

As I wander in the moonlight,
I am filled with thoughts of thee;
Like the stars in beauty sparkling,
On the blue and dreaming sea,
While thy glory seems to quiver
On my glance with richest hues;
Like the sunset on a river,
Or the morning graced with dews!

And a heaven glitters round me.—
Fairy forms with gleaming wings;
While a song of love made golden,
Gushes from all earthly things;
And my heart leaps up with rapture,
With a draught of love's rich wine;
And I dream in worlds of radiance,
And each world like thee, divine!

Like a rose that dreams and blushes,
While a summer shower leaves;
Breaking into mellowed jewels,
On its breast of crimson waves!
So thy beauty breaks upon me,
With its bright bewitching powers;
While we envy not the wealthy,
For the world of love is ours!

VARIETY.

California Style.—Not long since, a German was riding along Sansome street near Sacramento, when he heard a pistol shot behind him, heard the whizzing of a ball near him, and felt his hat shaken. He turned and saw a man with a revolver in his hand, and took off his hat and found a fresh bullet hole in it.

"Did you shoot at me?" asked the German.

"Yes," replied the other party; "that is my horse; it was stolen from me recently."

"You must be mistaken," said the German, "I have owned the horse for three years."

"Well,' says the other, "when I come to look at him, I believe I am mistaken. Excuse me, sir; wont you take a drink?"

The rider dismounted, tied his horse; the two found a drinking saloon near by, they hob nobbed and drank together, and parted friends. That is the California fashion of making acquaintances.—California Pioneer.

Mr. Wakley has held an inquest at the Windsor Castle, Albany-street, Regent's Park, on the body of William Hone, aged 24. The deceased proceeded in company with a female, with whom he kept company, to spend the evening at the dancing saloon in Newman-street. He was in the highest spirits and the best apparent health. He had gone through four dances, when just at the conclusion of the last he complained of having a headache, and immediately fell down senseless on the floor.

Beautiful Sayings of a Dying Man.—The late Professor Caldwell, of Dickinson College, a short time before his death, addressed his wife as follows: —You will not, I am sure, lie down upon your bed and weep when I am gone. You will not mourn for me, when God has been so good to me. And when you visit the spot where I lie, do not choose a sad and mournful time; do not go in the shades of the evening, or in the dark night. These are no times to visit the grave of a Christian; but go in the morning, in the bright sunshine, when the birds are singing.

Good and Bad Signs.—It's a good sign to see a man doing an act of charity, to his fellows. It's a bad sign to hear him boasting of it—It's a good sign to see the colour of health in a man's face. It's a bad sign to see it at all concentrated in his nose—It's a good sign to see an honest man wearing old clothes. It's a bad sign to see them filling holes in his windows.—It's a good sign to see a woman dressed with taste and neatness.—It's a bad sign to see her husband sued for her feathers and foolery gems and jewellery.

INVALUABLE REMEDIES.

For sea sickness—stay at home.
For drunkenness—drink cold water.
For accidents—keep out of danger.
For Coughs and Colds—take Cherry's Pictorial Tablets.
To be happy—subscribe for a newspaper.
To have a good conscience—pay the printer.

There is a story told of Madame Catalin (says the Press), that when a lady by the banks of the lake Como was drawing an invidious contrast between the English and Italian climates, the pride of the opera put her hand in her pocket, drew forth an English sovereign, and said, "Ah! my dear, behold the true golden sun of England: it will shine under any sky."

"Why don't your father take a newspaper himself?" said a man to a little boy whom he caught pulling the paper from his door-step. "Cos he sends me to take it," answered the youth.

"Women are sharpsighted," said an old lady, "I always know what I want, and if they have it, I feel inclined to buy it, and I'm sure I can't tell what I want at any place for them. I must think, take it, without chaffing about it all day, as those people do."

The Subscriber having been appointed Agent to the above Company for New-Brunswick, begs to announce that he is prepared to receive Proposals for FIRE AND LIFE ASSURANCE. The large Capital of the Company, and the number and influence of its Proprietors, enable it to rank with the most eligible Offices, either in America or Europe, with respect to the advantages offered to the Public.

FIRE BRANCH.

Persons Assured by this Company are not subject to any covenants or calls to make good losses which may happen to themselves or other, nor do they depend on any uncertain fund or contribution, the Capital Stock of this Company being an unquestionable security to the Assured in case of Loss or Damage by Fire.

LIFE BRANCH.

In addition to the more customary methods of Insurance, the Company likewise Assures Lives on any of the following contingencies:—

For the terms of One Year, Seven Years, or any other definite period.

For the whole continuance of Life—The Premiums to cease, after a limited number of Annual Payments.

For Two Joint Lives—The sum assured to be paid on the death of either.

On the Longest of Two or Three Lives—The sum assured to be payable at the death of the last survivor; or.

The survivorships—To secure the payment of the sum assured, if a life A die before another life B.

For a sum to be payable at age 60, or at death.

Premiums on Credit.—A portion of the Premiums on Credit. Assurances may be effected in various ways, not enumerated, to meet the convenience of parties.

The important advantages afforded by the Company in the Life Branch will include the following, viz:—

The Guarantee of an ample Capital, and Exemption of the Assured from liability of Partnership.

Moderate Premiums.

Large Participation of Profits by the Assured annually to Two-thirds of its net amount, which may be applied at the option of the party effecting the Assurance:—1st. By the immediate payment of the sum so apportioned.—2nd. By an equivalent increase of the sum assured.

Small Charge for Management.—The expenses of the Office being borne in due proportion by the two Branches.

Prompt Settlement of Claims.

Policies lapsed by non-payment of the Premium may be renewed within three months, by paying the premium, with a fine of 10s per cent., on the production of evidence to the satisfaction of the Directors of the good health of the life insured.
