ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 9, 1905.

LIBERALS AND LIBERALISM.

In connection with the commission which is to investigate Canadian trade conditions this summer with a view to revising the tariff, a leading Liberal journal prints without comment the tariff plank from the memorable 1893 platform which declares emphatically for a lower schedule of duties based on the requirements of the public service.

If the idea is to remind the Liberal government of Liberal principles why is this one plank only put forward? There were several other things in that famous document which have apparently slipped the minds of those who won to power by it.

For instance there was plank No. 3, deploring Conservative corruption and pledging purity of administration. Considering the G. T. P. deal, the Blair episode, the Yukon scandals, the Ontario bogus ballot boxes, the distortion of the Manitoba voters lists, the half-breed scrip scandals and the various grafts which have been unearthed in every department, the time seems opportune for a revival of this declaration.

Then the printed record tells of another plank (No. 4) which demanded economy and decreased expenditure. The taxpayers whose burden has increased from forty to eighty millions since 1896 would have no objection if the attention of the powers that be and spend were again called to this.

In view of recent appointments of members of parliament to high official positions and of the new schedule of prices for senatorial seats, the time seems also ripe for a gentle reminder as to pledges with reference to the independence of parliament and the reform of the senate.

There is also a high-sounding paragraph on "Promises and Performance" on page 13 of the official copy which should be edifying at this time.

By all means, if Liberals are again going to read that 1893 declaration of principles and policy, attention should not be confined to the tariff clause.

NO DISSENSION.

A recent speech by W. F. Maclean, M. P. for North York, assailing the Conservative party as at present constituted and managed and particularly criticising Mr. Borden in connection with the increase of the sessional indemnity and his acceptance of a salary, is being joyfully quoted by the Liberal press as evidence of wild dissension in the opposition ranks presaging total disintegration or worse in the near future.

Maclean's antics are as much an evidence of dissension in the Conservative party as a flea in a home would be of a family quarrel.

Of course he is an annoyance, more so than if he were openly allied with the government; but he is nothing more. Nobody who knows him takes him seriously and that is chiefly what is the matter with him. He made a frantically absurd bid for the leadership of the party last winter and since his candidacy received the treatment it deserved has sneaked around like an Ishmaelite with a knife for everybody. Possessed of a vivid imagination and conveniently unhampered by scruples he has through his newspaper, the Toronto World, and on the platform black-guarded his associates on the opposition side of the house with great force and fluency though totally without effect upon all who are in any way acquainted with him and his record.

Characteristic of the man is his attitude on this indemnity business. He was present in the house when the bill was passed, made no whisper of objection, even endorsed the increases with his vote, took the extra thousand and spent it advertising himself and then began to scream about the brazen iniquity of all others who had done exactly as he did, except in their method of spending the money.

The world will join today in President Roosevelt's toast that a just and lasting peace may be speedily concluded between the two great nations whose representatives met at Portsmouth this morning.

Two of the five former governors-general of the dominion are active supporters of Mr. Chamberlain's preference programme. These are the Duke of Argyle and Lord Minto. Lord Aberdeen may be counted as strongly on the other side, though most of the speaking on that theme by his family has been done by Lady Aberdeen. Lord Lansdowne is a member of the Balfour administration, and has so far taken no part in the controversy, but he is a retaliationist in the sense that Mr. Balfour is one, and it is probable that he will be found on the same side as Lord Minto on the general issue. The Earl of Derby has shown his sympathy with Mr. Chamberlain's imperialism, and is not likely to be found on the side of the free fooders when the time comes to be counted.—Sun.

I don't want to possess a faith; I want a faith that will possess me.—Kingsley.

THE BRIGHT, SWEET WAY.

For all the storm and the trouble—
For all the hope and fear—
To a rosy land
Still hand in hand,
Let us walk the bright way, dear!

Over the hills the sunshine
And the sky is bending clear;
Out of the strife
To a glad, sweet life
Let us walk the bright way, dear!

What is a little sorrow,
And what is a falling tear?
The storms will cease;
There'll be joy and peace
Going the bright way, dear!
—Frank L. Stanton.

MISSING MIDDY FOUND.

Robt. Jackson, of U. S. Warship Missouri, Who Disappeared Two Weeks Ago Turns Up in Quebec.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Herald says: Midshipman Robert Jackson, who has been missing since a week ago last Friday, when he left his ship, the Missouri, then lying in the North River, has been found by his father in Quebec. He was working to make enough money to return to his ship. He has gone to the Missouri at Bar Harbor, Me., with his father.

Jackson says his actions are unaccountable to him. As if he were in a trance, he says, he wandered away from New York. When he recovered his senses and realized the seriousness of his situation, his first thought was to secrete himself until he made enough money to return to his ship and prove his honor.

"In tracing him from Boston, through Montreal to Quebec," said his father, "I found unmistakable evidence that from the time he left the Missouri he was not himself, and that by some strange means his judgment had been rendered inactive. I am pretty well convinced of the cause, and shall leave nothing undone to get at the bottom of the strange affair."

When young Jackson left his ship on shore leave with friends he met Miss Olga Maxwell, a young woman living in this city. He did not return when his leave expired. On the Monday following his disappearance a general alarm was sent through the police. The next day Miss Maxwell appeared and said she had left him in Boston.

MILK IS BEING WATERED.

A great deal of complaint is made by householders regarding the quality of milk being peddled throughout the city by certain dealers. Of late the supply of water in the fluid has been out of all proportion, and one citizen complains that after setting over night a pint pitcher of milk produced but a fraction over a half pint, the other part being clear water. This state of affairs seems to be prevalent in a certain number of sections served by certain milk dealers, and they are not small dealers in the sense of business importance, though quite "small" in the sense of fair play. The Board of Health, or milk inspector will be approached in the matter if the quality of the necessary commodity does not soon improve.

RECALLED THE POSTMAN.

Miss Carey Thomas, the president of Bryn Mawr College, talked at luncheon about the ingeniousness of children.

"A friend of mine," she said, "once showed me a letter that her little son had written her from Andover. The letter ran like this:

"'Dear Mother: I am well and I hope you are well. Will you please send me $2? I know the last did not last long, but it is all spent now, and I need $2 badly. I hope you are well. I am well. Please do not forget $2.'

"Then there was this postscript.

"'I was ashamed to ask for money so soon after the last you sent that I sent after the postman to get this letter back, but it was too late, he had gone.'"—San Antonio Express.

Some excitement was caused at Westfield on Sunday afternoon by a ferocious dog owned by Mr. Patchell, which attacked another dog owned by Mr. Gilliland. In trying to separate the dogs two ladies were badly bitten. Their hands were dressed by Mrs. Fred Miles and afterwards by Dr. Warwick. The residents of this part of Westfield think that this dog should be "osterized."

The charge against John Connell of Spruce Lake for keeping liquor for sale came up before Justice Masson in Fairville yesterday. B. L. Gerow for S. E. Morrill, representing the defendant, asked for further postponement on account of the illness of Mrs. Connell. After a sharp discussion between Mr. Gerow and Mr. Vincent the hearing was adjourned till Friday.

A POINTER WORTH HAVING.

The merits of Ozono are well known, but in buying it one must be sure to get the purest form. Also Ozone should always be taken along with "Celery King," the famous tonic laxative. The purest form in which Ozone is put up is "Solution of Ozone, (the coupon kind)" and each bottle of this brand contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free.

No other firm in the world can give "Celery King" with Ozone. We give it because our Ozone thus gives the highest results. In addition, you get just about twice as much "Solution of Ozone" for your money as of other kinds, and you get it in the purest and most concentrated form. You also get "Celery King" free, instead of having to buy it, which you would need to do in order to have full benefit from the use of Ozone.

Your druggist should have "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind.)" If not, write to the Public Drug Co., Bridgeburg, Ont.

It is probable that in a day or two the street railway company will go back to their old three car service. It has been found inconvenient to run more than three cars on the branch line, but the company have now applied for permission to put in a crossing near Victoria rink, on City road, and with four cars they will be able to give a five-minute service, instead of a ten-minute service which is given by the three cars.

STILL PROTECTED.

The shade of Capt. Kidd loomed up from the sands where his undiscovered gold was still buried.
"Talk about chest protectors," he remarker facetiously. "I think I should be awarded the prize. My chest has been protected for centuries and no one has been able to claim it yet."
And drawing out several gold pieces he replaced the cover and went up to one of the beach hotels for a good time.
