THE LEGISLATURE.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE CHRONICLE.

Fredericton, October 26, 1854.

MR. EDITOR—Probably never since New Brunswick was erected into a Province was there such an organized and ably-conducted attack made upon the Government of the day as there has been this week. Mr. Fisher commenced on Monday, as the acknowledged head and leader of the Opposition, and spoke for four hours. He was followed by Mr. Brown on the same side, in a speech of forty minutes, which brought the day's debate to a close. Yesterday morning the Attorney General entered on the defence; the attack was then renewed by Mr. Ritchie, who was ably replied to by the Hon. Mr. Gray. These three speeches occupied six hours in the delivery, when the House again adjourned. Up to this time (Wednesday morning) it has been the ablest conducted debate ever heard, perhaps, within the walls of the Legislature.—There is certainly a vast amount of talent in the New House.

There is no doubt but Mr. Fisher's amendment to the fifth paragraph of the Address (which amounts to a vote of want of confidence in the Government) will be carried. It is even said that 24 members have pledged themselves to vote against the Government, and if that be true the division will be 24 to 16. What the result will be is at present a mystery. Mr. Gray yesterday said the only charges substantiated against the Government were concerning matters antecedent to his (and three other members) taking office, and if 24 members pledged themselves to turn out the Government in this manner—pledged themselves before they were put upon their trial—the people should know it, and decide between the two—the Government would appeal from Philip to Philip's Master. This was a pretty plain intimation that if the amendment is carried the House will be dissolved. Now it is just possible that Mr. Gray, and some other Hon. members of the Government, may intend this, and yet, when the hour arrives, find themselves unable to carry their intentions into effect. What if Messrs. Wilmot, Gray, and one or two others, advise His Excellency to dissolve the House, and other members of the Executive tender him the contrary advice? It is quite possible that the game played in England in 1831 by Lords Brougham and Althorp, by which they ousted Earl Grey from the Premiership, may be played by certain Blue nose politicians in 1854.

To be plain, it is the prevailing opinion here that Mr. Partelow is playing a treacherous game, and that he is at the bottom of the present movement. It is believed that were he to enter a new Government with Messrs. Fisher, Ritchie, Johnson, and Brown, he would consider it tantamount to a new lease of the Secretaryship. Mr. Chandler (who never had any politics any more than Mr. Partelow) if it is supposed will also go over, and perhaps the twain will lead the easy Mr. Hazen with them. At all events Mr. Partelow sits in his place as the debate proceeds, and seems rather to enjoy it than otherwise. He seems like a man who would say, "blow winds and crack your cheeks," knowing that amid the wreck he is sure to light on his feet.

The dissolution of the House is the Queen's prerogative, and the Governor, in the exercise thereof, will undoubtedly have an eye to the comparative strength of the different combinations, and call upon the leader of the most powerful party to sustain or form an administration. Now, if there is treachery in the case, and the betrayed members of the Government advise His Excellency to dissolve the House, and the betrayers advised him not to do so, and gave him to understand that they were prepared to coalesce with the Opposition, His Excellency would, perhaps, take the advice of the latter, and call upon the leader of the Opposition to form a Government.

It is well known in St. John that at the last election the Orange party in that County almost unanimously voted for Partelow—although he is their enemy—because he was a member of the same Government with Messrs. Wilmot and Gray, and thus placed him at the head of the poll.—What a double-dyed traitor, then, must he not be, if he betrays and sells the men for whose sakes he received such a generous support! I forbear further remarks on this subject at present, as a few days will prove whether he is guilty or innocent.

With regard to Mr. Fisher's conduct, he cannot be blamed. It is pretty well understood here that Mr. Street could have gone on the Bench, and declined. Mr. Fisher, then, (who has as good a right to look for political preferment as any person) found Mr. Street standing in his way, and knowing that if he could not obtain the wished-for situation one way he could another, he has taken his present course. Should it be asked how he could join either party, I answer that there are no politics in New Brunswick—we only know men. Every thing will work well in the end. When it is seen that we have a Government entirely at the back of a Romish Hierarchy, a "Know-Nothing" organization must necessarily follow, when traitors will receive their reward.

Yours, &c. Q.

P.S.—To-day Tilley led off in opposition. He spoke in a loud, authoritative tone, with many flourishes, but committed some egregious blunders. Gilmor followed on same side, with a weak speech; Smith next on same side, and spoke well; then M'Adam in opposition—a speech of no pretensions, but more sensible than Gilmor's. Boyd then defended the Government. Mr. Crean followed in opposition—a brief, modest speech, worded in appropriate language; Steadman followed on the same side, and is evidently the most talented of the new members; Mr. Naughton next, in a speech brief, but rather witty; M'Phelim, Macpherson, and Hatheway followed, all against the Government; then Wilmot, in defence, and then Johnson, in opposition. The latter did not get through, and has the floor in the morning. The division will probably be taken to-morrow evening.

CHRONICLE OFFICE, THREE o'CLOCK.

Up to our going to Press no account of the Division has reached us. Much anxiety evinced by the Citizens as to the result.

Intending to discontinue the Boot and Shoe business, and in order to do so with all possible speed, would be disposed to sell the whole of his well assorted Stock considerably below cost. The purchaser can have his lease of the Store, which extends to the 1st of May 1855, and as there is no better situation in the City for a respectable Retail Boot and Shoe trade, and as he will make a great sacrifice for the purpose of having his affairs wound up immediately, this is a most desirable chance for any one who can give his attention to the business.

Until such time as an offer is made for the whole Stock he will continue to sell by Wholesale and Retail, at greatly reduced prices, and as an opportunity so favourable to buyers seldom occurs, Country dealers and retail purchasers will do well to avail themselves of it.

To Land at the Bay Cottage!

We have made up during the last month the balance of our German Beavers and Pilot Cloths, purchased some time since from Messrs. William Parks & Son.

To say any thing respecting the quality of those Goods would be altogether superfluous. Suffice it to say, that many gentlemen in this city having been fortunate enough to procure good Low Coats made from those fabrics, will use no other during the approaching season, as walking advertisements; or, in other words, a good reference.

N.B.—Only ask the gentleman what coat you may see with the handsomest and best Coat where he procured it. "Nuff said.

STEAMBOAT & RAILROAD,

Permanent Arrangement

St. John, Eastport, Portland, Boston and Montreal!

TWO TRIPS A WEEK!

THE fast and spacious Steamer "GOVERNOR," Alexr. Wood, Master, will leave SAINT JOHN on MONDAY Morning, 2d, and on THURSDAY Morning 5th October, at 5 o'clock, for EASTPORT and PORTLAND. Passengers forwarded thence by Railroad to Boston, Lowell and all intermediate places—also by Grand Trunk Railroad to Montreal. Passengers are ticketed through between St. John and Montreal for Ten Dollars, with the right to stop a few days at Portland, the White Mountains, or any of the intermediate places.

Steamers leave Montreal every day for all parts of Upper Canada.

Also; the Passengers for Boston, Lowell, &c. are allowed to remain a few days in Portland.

Cabin Passage to Portland $5, Boston $6;
Deck do do $4, do $5;

By the above arrangement through Tickets to Boston or Montreal cost $1½ less than by any other line—also, the tedious outside voyage from Portland to Boston is avoided—and presents the most expeditious and comfortable conveyance to the travelling public.

State Rooms can be secured at the Agent's Office.

Return Tickets from Boston can be had at the Boston and Maine Railroad Depot, Haymarket Square and Eastern Railroad Depot, Causeway Street, foot of Grand and Canal Streets; and at the Office of C. H. WHITE, 36 Court street, (Scollay's Buildings,) Boston.
