ST. JOHN, N. B.—Some weeks ago we learned that the Rev. W. P. Everett had tendered his resignation of the pastorate of the Brussels Street Baptist Church, to whom he had ministered for several years, and further that a large number of the members were unwilling to accept his resignation. We now learn that about seventy of the members have obtained Letters of Dismission to form a new body to be styled the Temple Church. They at present occupy the Hall of the Y. M. C. Association, having Mr. Everett as their pastor. This has been done, as we believe, peaceably and harmoniously. Brussels Street Church having so large a number, 568 members, will not, we presume, be seriously weakened. We can heartily wish for both the new interest and the parent church, a career of new success in bringing their fellow citizens into the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour.

EDUCATIONAL RECORD.

The Detroit Methodist Episcopal Conference, at its late session, adopted a report and resolutions declaring that there are influences at work tending to drive Christianity from the Michigan State University, and calling attention to the fact that the University Hall is used for dancing. A religious paper of the State remarks on the case thus: "The christian sentiment of the State is overwhelmingly opposed to dancing, and especially to dancing in such conditions as must prevail at the University. We have not only sons, but daughters, there. They are away from their homes. Whether people may laugh at what they may call bigotry or not, we object to measures being employed by the authorities of the institution to lead into practices which we condemn."

Dartmouth College, in New Hampshire, has received the following donations within the last thirteen years:—The Arts Department $529,815, Scientific $25,000, Engineering $70,000, Agricultural $205,000, Medical $17,000, Law $120,000, amounting in all nearly to one million of dollars. This is the manifestation of a spirit which ought to be cultivated and exhibited more generally by our people, which would prompt men who are making money to use a large part of their acquisitions in strengthening the institutions which improve and elevate the community.

At a Social Science Conference, which met recently, some surprising facts respecting the social condition of some of the older States of the Union were presented. It was reported, on good authority, that crime has more than doubled in Massachusetts in the past ten years. The proportion of crime to population in that State is said to be 38 per cent. higher than it is in Ireland, and life and property are more insecure there than in Italy, where nearly twenty millions of the people can neither read nor write. A paper, read at this Conference, on the Social Task of the second century of the United States, in speaking of the disturbances which agitate American society, says, that it is vain to hope than an increase of wages, or a shortening of the hours of labor, would restore peace and harmony. There are other causes of the dissatisfaction. It is the conflict between belief and unbelief, between idealism and materialism, between independence and dependence, individualism and communism, which is revolutionizing the time. In this connection, we may call attention to an extract from the N. E. Journal of Education, referring to the same general subject. "Our best teachers and superintendents are everywhere asking, Is it our fault that every great city of the Union is filling up with a mob of reckless and wicked boys? The "Hoodlums" of San Francisco; the "Modocs" of Springfield; the young fellows who were the rank and file in the draft riots in New York; the youngsters down South who are now learning the fine art of shooting little negroes; the crowds of wild, "loud," unmanageable girls, that scare old-fashioned mammas out of their propriety;—these are phenomena which send the thoughtful schoolmasters and mistresses back on their own reflections. It is a matter worth thinking of, that the city in Massachusetts which boasts the highest per cent. of attendance on public schools in the country, last summer, armed its police to protect the people from the depredations of a swarm of young ruffians, who made night hideous in its streets."

Dr. A. B. Peabody, of Havard University, is reported as saying that the school system of Masschusetts of a hundred years ago, had great faults, and even great monstrosities, and yet it did more towards the proper education of citizens than do the schools of the present day.

This, then, I apprehend is the proper work of the College: To appreciate, and measure, and undistrustfully accept and commend, the gigantic strides which Physcial Science is making in our day, yet be not swept away by them; to lend an attentive unprejudiced ear to the bold speculations of our Darwins and Huxleys, wherein they seem almost to lay a confident finger on the very heart of the great mysteries of life without fear that they will ever evict God from His universe, or restrict Him to some obscure corner thereof; to welcome all that is true and beneficent in the impetuous currents of modern thought, but not exaggerate their breadth and depth, nor accept their direction as authoritative and final; to proffer a genial and gracious hospitality to whatever is nobly new, yet hold fast and from time to time assert the grand old truths which are grounded in the nature of Man and his relations to the universe, in the firm assurance that no discoveries in science, no advanees in human knowledge, can ever invalidate or ever belittle the Golden Rule, and no conclusion of philsophy ever equal in importance that simple affirmation of the untaught Judean peasant who long ago perceived and proclaimed that GOD IS LOVE.—Horace Greeley.

We counsel educators to do most in the first years of life, because they can effect more, then, with half the means than with double afterwards, when circumstances will be multiplied and spontaneity fettered. As the husbandman thinks those seeds most fruitful that are sown in the morning mist, so let the first seed-corns of moral and religious education fall midst the early, radiant mists of childhood. Let morality be the first consideration.—Jean Paul Richter.

DISSENTING PROFESSORS AND EXAMINERS AT OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE.—As a mark of increasing liberality, and of the appreciation in which successful Dissenting graduates are held, it may be named that Dr. Begge, of the London Missionary Society, has recently been elected professor of Chinese at Oxford, whilst Mr. A. S. West, Head Master of Amersham Hall School, has for the second time been appointed Examiner of the forthcoming Moral, Sciences Tripos at Cambridge. Mr. Lord, the Senior Wrangler of 1875 was last week elected Fellow of Trinity.

CAVENDISH COLLEGE, Cambridge, England.—The Cavendish College, a building in course of erection on the Hills-road, just beyond the boundary of the Parliamentary borough, will be opened on Thursday next by the Chancellor of the Uhiversity, the Duke of Devonshire. The building, when complete, will be capable of accommodating 300 students. The teaching staff consists of a warden and two tutors. The objects of the College are:—1. To enable students somewhat younger than the usual age to go through the University course. 2. To give a special training in the art of teaching to those students who desire to become schoolmasters. 3. To at tract poor students by reason of economy in the cost of living. The College charges will be £84 per annum, which will include tuition, University dues, board and lodging—in fact, everything but books and clothes. The residence will be nearly 40 weeks during the year. The religious aspect of the scheme will best be understood from the following quotation taken from the abridged prospectus of the Association:—"The expectation of the promoters is that the College will be able to comprehend students of different denominations without lowering the importance of religious influence and teaching, or interfering with the convictions of individuals; and, therefore, no prescribed preference or exclusion will be allowed to apply either to tutors or students." The physical side of education will not be forgotten. The students will be encouraged to engage in those games and manly exercises which are such a distinguishing feature of English public school and University life. About ten acres of ground are attached to the College, and it will therefore be easy to make proper provision for out-door sports of all kinds. —London Times, Oct. 23.

HOME MISSIONS.

Dear Editor,—

At the regular monthly meeting of our H. M. Board, on the 6th inst., it was decided that Bro. Normonday be requested to spend a month in presenting the claims of the French Mission before our people and in soliciting contributions for the support of that mission.

It was further decided to request all our missionaries to give detailed statements in their future reports of all contributions received by them in behalf of their missions, and also the names of the contributors. Justice to missionaries, to donors, and to our Board, demands attention to this matter.

Our Treasurer will be glad to acknowledge liberal contributions to our Home Mission funds from the friends of Home Missions.

GATES'
ACADIAN LINIMENT,

Is the best known remedy for pains internal or external, Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Toothache, Chilblains, Cuts or Bruises of every kind in man or beast. Read the following certificate:

TO CALEB GATES & CO.,
MIDDLETON, N. S.

DEAR SIRS, For the benefit of all concerned I make the following statement:

About 3 years ago I was seized with a severe pain in my arm which lasted several days, and then settled in my wrist leaving my arm entirely useless for at least six months, during this time I was under the doctor's treatment, but all to no purpose. And strange as it may appear I dreamed that your agent in Wallace had medicine in his store, that would cure my arm, I asked my husband to go and see, he went, and brought home one bottle of "Gates' Life of Man Bitters No. 2," and one of Gates' Acadian Liniment with immediate results two bottles of each made a perfect cure. During my trouble with my arm my general health was much impaired, appetite gone, and notwithstanding all the prejudice against patent medicines I must not only praise it, but also recommend it to an afflicted public for I consider it providential that I found such medicine.

MRS. STEPHEN CANFIELD.

The above statement sworn to before me at Wallace this 13th day of October, 1876.
