UNITED STATES.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO UPSET A TRAIN ON THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.—At half past eight o'clock on the evening of the 26 instant, as the train was running between Newcastle and Port Granby, a platform car was thrown off the track, and a man seriously injured, by some eighteen or nineteen pieces of wood and iron being placed across the track, which were undistinguishable, owing to the darkness, untill the train ran into them. Happily it was at the time proceeding at a slower rate about ten miles an hour, or the result might have been much more serious, as there were upwards of sixty men in the cars. The things across the track were logs of hard wood, planks, coupling chairs, stems, a gate and lifting lever.

PRAYING AND VOTING.—At Penn Yan N. Y. Nov. 4, the Presbyterian Church, the Baptist Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, were to hold a prayer-meeting at 8½ o,clock, A. M., to pray for the success of the Republican case, followed by a procession of the male members to the polls, to vote for Freemont and Dayton.

HIGH-HANDED AFFAIR IN RICHMOND.—Our city readers are doubtless aware of the fact that protracted meetings have been in progress at two of the Baptist Churches in Richmond, for several weeks, and that a large number of persons, of both sexes, have been induced to become "professors of religion." Among the converts, are three young ladies, who have been reared in the Roman Catholic faith. Two of them were immersed some days ago, and the third, who is an orphan, was immersed on Sunday night, The Irish friends of the latter, on learning of her intention to become a protestant, resorted to the most scandalous measures to prevent the consumption of her resolve. They first sent for her to attend a meeting of her Catholic friends, and in their presence make a recentation of her profession of Protestanism; but being fully determined upon the course she had marked out for herself the summons was of course disregarded. On Sunday night, she proceeded to the second Baptist Church to prepare for the rite of Baptism, and while thus engaged, a party of Irish—and women—made thier appearance in front of the Church. A small number of them entered the doors and seated themselves on the front pews, uttering the most violent threats against the young lady. The attention of the pastor Dr. Howell, having been called to these intruders, he summoned several of the male members of the congregation to the vicinity of the pulpit, and it was determined, on consultation, to have them ejected from the Church unless they would consent to depart quietly. The efforts to induce them to withdraw met with a blustering opposition, but finally prevailed, and the champions of Papacy retired, still avowing their determination to be avenged on the young lady for abjuring the religion of her deceased parents. Quiet being restored the services were proceeded with, and the ordinance of baptism administered to the young Lady, who had been the object of such unscrupulous annoyance.

We learn that the two Irish women connected with the above outrage, called at the residence of the family with whom the object of their persecution resides, and demanded an interview, no doubt designing to remove her by main force: but we are glad to have it in our powers to say that they were repulsed, and warned ts keep away from the premises. Rich. Whig.

At the commencement of the present year there were in the United States about 22,000 miles of railroad employing about 5,000 locomotives. It is estimated that these locomotives consume between four and five million cords of wood annually, the product of at least 100,000 acress of woodland.

An English correspondent to an American paper writes the following in relation to an effort to get up a rival Newspaper to the London Times:—

The powerful influence of the London daily Times, on some questions relating to conscience and God's truth, has often and long been deplored. This has originated a scheme for the establishment of another daily paper able to cope on equal terms with the Times. The Rev. David Thomas is the energetic soul of this movement. He is engageed in attending a series of public meetings to advocate this project. The Times has been called the Englishman's Bible; it has immense rescources of wealth and talent, and its rival to stand a chance of success, must have the same.

The new paper is to called the Dial The paid up capital is to amount to no less than £500,000, or $2,500,000,; and this large amount of money is to be devoted to the purchase of the best type, the best paper, the best ink, the best talent, the best brains, and the best experience. Not only will there be resulting from this large sum of money, but as it will be subscribed by about 100,000 persons, nearly the whole of these will naturaly inquire for the Dial. The scheme also secures another thing, that the paper shall be of a high moral tone,—The Dial will not speak on great public questions influenced by a solid calculation of profit or loss; it will denounce the wrong and contend for the right, irrespective of consequences. The Dial is to be started under the Limited Liability Act, and the scheme is secured from all monopoly by no one person being allowed to take more than ten shares. We wish for the project success, and should Mr. Thomas' co-labourers be equal in talent and energy to himself, of this there can be little doubt."

Italy.

The following circular has been posted in different parts of Paris. The enemies of Papal tyranny though often crushed and defeated, have not abandoned all hope of freedom. There cannot be a doubt, but liberty temporal and spiritual, will yet be given to Italy.

"TO THE ITALIAN PEOPLE!—INSURRECTION THE HOLIEST OF DUTIES!

"BROTHESS AND FRIENDS:—Honor to you who have not been crushed by your many oppressors, who have not been discouraged by the most cruel prescription. It is now centuries since since the spirit of evil tell upon Italy as the noblest prey it could devour, clutching you in its two talons—Papacy and Empire. For centuries this spirit has sucked your blood and striven to poison your soul with its pestiferous breath But your soul is immortal. That priest who returned to Rome through a smoking breach, that Bourbon in whose bosom beats the heart of Tiberius, those Austrian ravens that croak upon the harmonious banks of the Adige—all know and feel and tremble at the knowledge that intelligence and life have not abandoned their victim. They all feel that the soil of Italy quivers under their accursed feet, and that there are three undaunted giants, such as were found formerly in the mountains of heroic Sicily. The blood of martyrs has but fertilized your soil. You possess courage, intelligence and constancy, and you have that experience which is bought by long misfortune. You want but one thing—arms! You shall have them. You must have them. Already you have appealed to the true children of Italy. Every one of them has offered his mite, so that those who shall first have the honor to proclaim your emancipation my find ready at their hands the instruments wherewith to carry on the holy war. Our hearts have leaped with joy at the news come to us across the Alps, that you are secretly storing up your first muskets while waiting for the day of your deliverance. We also desire to come to your aid, and take part in your fraternal union. Receive, brothers and friends, the produce of the French subscriptions; receive it not only as as a proof of sympathy, but also as an offering of gratitude, for you are setting a great and useful example—that of extreme constancy, under the weight of oppression; and it is, perhaps, from you that the spark will proceed which is destined to re-animate the world. No nation has suffered more than Italy; and none, if there be justice upon earth, will have a prouder place among regenerate nations.

"For the people and students of Paris,

"THE COMMITTEE."

FRANCE.—The Bank of France, under the firm hand of the Emperor, continues to pay in good coin. The accounts of its position, indeed, are now becoming so favourable as to lead to the hope of its weathering the storm. Napoleon's greatest danger seems thus passing over. The great improvement in Paris he has carried out, however, has reduced the houseroom for the lower classes so much, that the greatest distress prevails among them on account of the high rate of rent. He is endeavouring to quiet them on this point, by a tention to their wants, and to show his confidence in them he has paraded the most 'dangerous' faubourgs in person at the head of his staff. The Empress has become patroness of a society to provide rooms at a half rent the needy needy, The price of grain is becoming rapidly lower in France generally, and although there is a strong effort on the part of certain of our contemporaries to represent the empire as breaking up, we must say that we are unable to see any strong signs of such a catastrophe. Louis Napoleon is in the position of a man who has a vast deal more in hand than any one man ought to have, and more than any man would have but for the difficulty of such a people as the French agreeing to rule themselves. He is, moreover in the position, over a nation approaching closely the state in which they will become self-governing. Sooner or later his despotism will become an impossibility, as it is now a great difficulty, but for the present it is only candid to admit, that he manages to hold the reins and to keep his seat amazingly.

NAPLES.—The King of Naples continues to occupy the same position as when we last reported on his case. The Imperial and royal monitors who have undertaken to counsel him, are evidently most cautious and tender with their too stern brother in rule. Russia, Prussia, and Austria are thoroughly opposed to his being interfered with, and we strongly suspect that neither France nor England are very hearty in their work of bringing him to his senses. Their ambassadors are on the eve of being recalled, if they have not already demanded their passports. Their fleets accompanied by that of Sardinia, are, it seems, to enter his waters; but it effectually puzzles mos men to know what, after all this, is to be done. We confess ourselves still unable to believe that compassion for the oppressed and injured Neapolitans can be the motive for Western interference, or that there is any reality in the professions of fear lest all Italy become convulsed, should Naples be goaded on to insurrection. We see more and more clearly that the great Powers of the West are ranging themselves on the one side, and the great Powers of the North on the other, with Italy between them. Unless the whole affair will evaporate speedily, it will be found to issue in a conflict in which Austrain occupation will figure much more prominently than Neapolitan oppressions.

SPAIN.—Spain has reached the culminating point of miserable rule once more. But a few months ago Espartero was carrying all before him, putting down iniquity and restoring the nation to its true position as a constitutional kingdom. He was carrying laws, and going forward to their execution in a manner which gave rise to hope even in the 'cast hopeful', that his country had seen the worst days of a flagitious rule. General Navaez, who is the very type of all the corruption that seemed about to be swept away, is at the present moment Prime Minister in his stead, and the old Queen, whose ill-got gains were on the eve of being seized and returned to their proper owners, is in full power at Madrid. Napoleon is clearly disappointed at this. He evidently expected firm, strong Government in the hands of O'Donnell, and counselled the young Queen to stay when she had got to the point he thought sure; but she has launched away into the whirlpool of extreme and foolish extravagance. We shall wait the issue. Iniquity will have its time, but that will not be protracted. A poor, spiritless, and priest-ridden people will have a season of horrid revolution to pass through again ere long, and perhaps they may be able to choose for themselves better rulers, and be allowed to do so.

AFRICA.—We are delighted to notice the successful termination of one of the most deeply interesting journeys of discovery. The Times announces the safe arrival at the Mauritius, on the 13th of August last, of that most celebrated of African explorers, Dr. David Livingston, in her Majesty's ship Frolic This traveller, whose exploits have, from time to time, appeared in our columns, has at length succeeded in traversing Africa from ocean to ocean, having, besides the discovery in 1849 of Lake Ngami (in company with Messrs. Oswell and Murray), and other journeys since in various directions, actually penetrated from the Cape north and west to Angola, whence he returned as far as Seshike, and thence finally eastwards to Tete and Quilimane on the east coast.

These great achievements must be the more respected when we consider the least expense to the public, and with only the limited means at the disposal of a humble missionary Full particulars of this latest and most hazardous of his journeys may now be daily expected. When David Livingston was yet but a little boy, living in Hamilton, he used to leave his home in the morning and wander alone all day in the woods of the neighborhood. At night he mended his shoes, and set off again next morning. Thus, for many a day of his youngest years, he was trained as it were by the hand of God, and fitted to become one of the greatest discoverers of his day.

PERRY DAVIS'S

VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER

The Most Popular Medicine in the World.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

We take pleasure in referring to the virtue of Davis's Pain Killer. We have used the article, and found it valuable. The sale of this article in the United States is beyond all precedent, as the books of the office will show.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Davis's Vegetable Pain Killer. We first heard of this medicine during a visit to the New England States, and being struck with the novelty of the title, were induced to make some inquiry about it; and we were surprised to learn that it was kept constantly in the houses of most of the inhabitants of the cities and villages where we stopped, to be used in cases of sudden attacks of pain, burns, scolds, &c, and we heard it spoken of in terms of high commendation, both by druggists and physicians.—Philadelphia Eagle.

Perry Davis's Pain Killer.—It is a real pleasure to us to speak favorably of this article, known almost universally to be a good and safe remedy for burns and other pains of the body. It is valuable not only for colds in the winter, but for various summer complaints, and should be in every family. The casuality which demands it may come unawares.—Chris. Advocate Valuable Medicine.—The sale of that remarkable and truly valuable preparation, Perry Davis's Pain Killer, is constantly and rapidly increasing. During the past year the demand for this great remedy has been altogether unprecedented. Scarcely a week passes by during which we do not hear of some remarkable cure having been performed, within the circle of our acquaintance, by the use of Perry Davis's Pain Killer.—Prov Gen. Advertiser.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM INDIA.

Messrs Perry, Davis & Son,—I am happy to be able to add that your medicine is getting more and more in use, and consequently the demand for it is increasing. The sales at the various sub-Agencies are very satisfactory, especially in Maulmain and Dinnapore; in fact, wherever European Regiments are located the sales are extensive. A party in Agra who sent for a supply for his personal use and that of his friends, says the demand for it is great, and recommends the appointment of an Agens there.

Mr. Toone, of Barrackpore, writes under date of 20th October: "This will certify that my son, 19 years of age, was taken suddenly ill in the night, with a severe pain in the stomach, followed by Cholera. He found no relief until I gave him a teaspoonful of the Pain Killer, diluted with warm water; but after the expiration of a few moments, he brought it up, when I repeated the dose, which partially relieved him. I followed it with a third dose, when he fell asleep, and on waking next morning he was quite fresh. I consider it a most valuable medicine to be always at hand."

I remain ours, &c,

J. L CARRAU, Calcutta.

We are glad to learn that Perry Davis's Pain Killer is having so large a sale in our city. We have every reason to believe it to be an a most sovereign curing for pain, and as such is a medicine no family should be without.—Montreal Pilot.
