STARVING INDIANS ENTERING THEIR CHILDREN IN MINNESOTA.—A Duluth, Minnesota, despatch, says:—

"Indian scouts who have arrived here from Vermillion Lake, ninety miles north of this city, report the Indians at that place in a state of actual starvation. Eighty families frenzied and dying with hunger, are on their way here. The scouts state that up to the time of their leaving the starving wretches, they had eaten six children and one man. The cause of this terrible distress is the failure of the wild rice crop and the fact that there is no grain, besides which the Indians claim that they have failed to receive their usual annuities and provisions from the government.

PUBLICATIONS.

THE MONTHLIES.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for February, is unusually varied and entertaining in its contents, which are embellished with over Eighty Engravings.

The "Legend of the Cascades"—a beautifully illustrated poem, with which the Number opens—gives a rendering of one of the grandest of Indian traditions, and is very fitly published in the same Number with Mr. NORDHOFF's illustrated paper on the Columbia River and Puget Sound; since the tradition relates to that river, and is briefly alluded to by Mr. NORDHOFF.

WILLIAM C. PRIME contributes a profusely illustrated paper on Pottery and Porcelain, full of novel and interesting information, now especially timely in view of the valuable works recently published relating to the Ceramic Art.

Thousands of readers will read with peculiar interest EUGENE LAWBENCE's article on City Road Chapel—where the last lessons of John Wesley were heard; where he was buried among his early companions; and from whose pulpit have gone forth "the leaders of a missionary throng, bearing to Europe, Asia, and America the simple faith of the latest reformation." The article is illustrated with portraits of the Wesleys—including a view also of John Wesley's tomb.

GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS, in the Editor's Easy Chair, discusses Tweed's fate and the question of the co-education of the sexes, and gives some very entertaining gossip of the Lyceum greenroom. The Scientific Record is very comprehensive in its summary of recent progress in science and art, and the other departments are full of interest and instruction—including a very amusing Drawer, with numerous illustrations.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY for February opens with a versified and illustrated rendition of Rishyasringa, a Tale of the Mahabharata, which, although a love story we know not how many thousand years old, is as fresh and "modern" as if written but yesterday. Then comes an illustrated article on the French song-writer Beranger, by Albert Rhodes. The principal illustrated paper of the number, however, is Edward King's second article on Texas, in the Great South Series, with pictures from Champney's portfolio. A quaint story from the Danish, is called "The Black Marble." A new paper by the poet Stedman is on the poets, Hood, Arnold, and Procter, whom he calls a Representative Triad. A sketch by E. S. Nadal, of "English Sundays and London Churches"; a reply by Prof. Atwater, of Princeton, to Dr. Blauvelt; Prof. W. S. Tyler's address on "The Higher Education of Women"; the continuation of Miss. Trafton's and Mrs. Davis's serials, and poems by Celia Thaxter, Julia C. R. Dorr, and Louise Chandler Moulton, complete the list of the principal contributions.

Dr. Holland, in Topics of the Time, writes of "Rich and Poor," "Organs," "What Has Been Done About It," and "The Watchman and Reflector." In the Old Cabinet are "The Artist and his Picture," "A Deed of Abomination," and "More Villainous than Vice." The most noticeable of the reviews this month is that of Strauss's last book, "The Old Faith and the New." The Editor announces that hereafter "Social Science" information will appear in the department of Culture and Progress. Price $4.00 a year. Scribner & Co, 654 Broadway, New York.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY for February has for its first paper Naples under the Old Regime. This is followed by chapters 5th and 6th of Prudence Palfrey; an interesting paper entitled a chain of Italian cities; the Anti-Slavery Convention of 1833, by John G. Whittier; Recollections of Agassiz; then in poetry there are contributions by Lucy Larcom, Will Wallace Harney, Celia Thaxter, J. T. Trowbridge, and Oliver Wendall Holmes. The Review of Recent Literature is decidedly entertaining; and the departments of Art and Music have each peculiar attractions. Price $4.00 a year. H. O. Houghton & Co., Riverside Press, Cambridge, Mass.

THE SCIENCE OF HEALTH is a most useful publication, devoted to a subject of vital importance, affecting the interest of all human beings, in every relation of life. We therefore commend it to the attention of every reader. As a first-class magazine, it will pay in any family. The February number contains many important articles: among them, we would name OCCUPATION, as Affecting Health; Drink, Death-Rate and Pauper-Rate; Death and its Treatment; Agassiz—of What Did he Die? How to Get Well and Keep Well; an interesting Life Sketch, entitled A Terrible Lesson for Mothers; Doctors and Drink; The Candy Curse; Nutrition and Food; Accidents to Children; Intemperance in Women; Perversion—What is It? Answers to many questions, relating to life, health and kindred subjects. The subscription price is only $200 a year. Sample number, 20 cents. Address S. R. WELLS, Publisher, 389 Broadway, New York.

THE NEW DOMINION MONTHLY for January is just to hand. It contains the usual variety; and its contents are always good and safe family reading. The young folks are remembered; and Home interests receive full share of attention. The illustration this week is a portrait of the late Professor Agassiz. The publishers are determined to spare no effort to make their monthly acceptable and profitable to Canadian readers. Next month they propose to commence a series of current notes on passing events throughout the world, under the title of "Review of the Times." This doubtless will add greatly to the interest of the Monthly.

THE MOTHER'S MAGAZINE for January is before us. From an examination of its contents we are satisfied, that, it is, as its name indicates, a help to mothers, in the discharge of their responsible duties. Its tone is pure, and it cannot fail to do good to its readers. Price $1.50 a year. L. T. Farr, Publisher, 5 Beekman St., New York.

THE ALDINE.—There is so much beauty and artistic excellence in the February number of the Aldine, no lover of fine arts can well afford to allow it to remain a closed book. The promise held out for the New Year, in the January number, of a volume of surpassing worth and taste, is sustained in this issue. A dozen beautiful pictures embellish its pages, more than half of which are original views. Mr. W. M. Carey has a spirited full-page picture of "Antelope-Hunting on the Plains;" the hounds are in full pursuit of a herd of deer, which are coursing like the wind over the foot-hills at the base of the Rocky Mountains. Mr. John Howe has a series of five pictures, which he drew last summer in the lovely region of the famous Juniata River in Pennsylvania. One of these is a grand and massive whole-page picture, representing "The Juniata River, near Huntington, Pa." showing a deep cut through the rocks on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad. Two large companion pieces, full of the feeling and atmosphere of out-of doors, gives the beholder wild and rugged views of the inlet and outlet of "Sinking Spring," a river which flows for a mile under the mountains. Two other charming sketches, full of beautiful water, cloud, and foliage effects, are sketches of the river —"Lewistown Narrows," and "Juniata River near Lewistown." No finer series of pictures of American scenery has ever been published. Mr. John S. Davis contributes a characteristic sketch of the village "ne'er-do-well," "An Idle Dog," which is true to life, as well as being graceful in pose and composition. Specht has a fine picture of Scotch greyhounds, "Gentlemen of leisure," and "Cinderella" is one of those fairylike pictures, after Lejeune, representing a pretty maiden sitting by the open fire-place. The other illustrations are a large and handsome picture called "The Old Bible," by G. Wagmuller, a child reading to her grandmother; a sweet picture of a young lady seated on the flowery bank of a stream, "A child no more a maiden now," and a dashing sketch called "Budding Genius."

The literary contents of the number of the Aldine are choice, varied, and original. A poem never before published, called "The Scythe and the Sylphids," is from the pen of Richard Adams Locke, now dead, but who will be remembered as the author of the famous "Moon Hoax" of years ago. Joseph Watson, a Shakspearean scholar, has a readable paper on "Sir Joshua Reynolds." H. Emily Baker contributes some interesting "Sketches in Old Newport." Chandos Fulton writes entertainingly of "Cloud Pictures;" Mrs. M. F. Butts has a pretty poem or song called "When the World gets Green;" Frances Lee tells a capital story of Yankee life, under the title of "Taking it for Granted;" Dr. T. M. Coan, late literary editor of the Independent, has a valuable essay on "Imaginative Friendships;" J. H. Batty writes of "Antelope Hunting;" Rev. Samuel W. Duffield has a pensive poem called "Foot Prints;" Edward Olin Weeks is represented by an entertaining story, a Florentine legend, entitled "Michael Botello;" Prof. Wm. C. Richards has a jewel of a poem, "My Doubt;" Geo. Klingle, a poem, called "Blighted;" Marie S. Ladd a sketch of "Polly;" and M. Despard writes of "Eliza Greatorex;" the editorial articles are "An Idle Dog;" "A Juniata Jaunt;" and well-filled departments embracing music—"Progress of Instrumental Music;" Drama—"The Metropolitan Stage;" Literature; and Art—the Brooklyn Art Association." With this catalogue of the contents of the February Aldine, we can safely say no other American publication ever offered its readers so many art and literary attractions. Subscription price, $5, including chromos, "The East" and "The West." James Sutton & Co., publishers, 58 Maiden Lane, New York City.

☞ The Maritime Monthly has changed hands, and become the property of the Maritime Monthly Club. This Magazine has been established at considerable cost and labor by its former proprietor which, we are glad to see, are not going to be thrown away. Under the new management we shall see, without doubt, new life infused into the undertaking. We learn that a gentleman of great literary ability and editorial experience has been elected to the management. It would be strange that a country of such enterprise as these Maritime Provinces should fail to appreciate and support a literary undertaking like the Maritime Monthly. We hope to see a light, readable No. for February

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Parliament is dissolved by royal decree.

Premier Gladstone issued an address to his constituents at Greenwich, asking for a re-election, and announcing that the Queen had been pleased to accept the advice of her Ministers to dissolve the present Parliament immediately and to summon a new one, to meet on 5th March 1874. In his address, Mr. Gladstone gives as a reason for this measure, that since the defeat of the Government upon the Higher Irish Education question, by concurrent efforts of the leader of the Opposition and the Catholic prelacy in Ireland, the Government has not been possessed of sufficient authority to carry out great legislative measures. Its appearance during recess of Parliament has not indicated that any improvement in its position was probable, the chief of the Opposition having refused to accept office on the defeat of the Government, and the Cabinet feeling that they have not the support which every Ministry ought to enjoy. An appeal to the people is the proper remedy for such a state of things. The advantage of a dissolution at the present moment is that the estimates are so far advanced that the Government is able to promise a surplus of £5,000,000 sterling with which it intends to abolish the Income tax and to relieve local taxation. Among the matters likely to come before Parliament are the re-adjustment of the Educational Act improvement of the Local Government and of Land, Game and Liquor Laws. The address promises a large measure of relief from duties on articles entering into general consumption, and expresses a hope for a speedy assimilation of the County with Borough franchises.

Disraeli in an address to his constituents in Buckinghamshire seeking re-election to Parliament strongly condemns the action of the ministry in inaugurating the Ashantee war. He also claims it would have been far better for the country it within the last five years the foreign policy of the Government had been a little more energetic. Disraeli characterized the argument for extension of household suffrage to counties as fallacious, and says no one has more strongly opposed the contemplated assimilation of the Franchise than the Premier.

The Queen held a council at Osborne to-day, and issued a proclamation ordering the dissolution of the present Parliament.

With gladness I tell them all that my recovery is due to Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, with the blessing of God upon it.

Fellows' Hypophosphites being peculiar in its effects and composition, no other preparation is a substitute for it.

FEAR NOT! Though troubled with what seems an incurable, cough, Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam will cut short all Lung Complaints which have their origin in affections of the Chest. The superiority of this medicine over all others, for subduing a harassing cough, has been so fully and widely proved, that it is only necessary to ask those afflicted to give it a trial; and, if fairly tried, no disappointment will ever ensue. It will arrest the increasing cough, allay disquietude, and perfectly cure.

A dose or two of Dr. Wilson's Anti-Bilious and preserving Pills, administered as soon as the symptoms of disease are felt, will, in nine cases out of ten, prevent serious sickness. This fact is particularly worthy the attention of those who cannot conveniently procure medical aid.

Dr. Dow's Sturgeon Oil Liniment has become so generally used that no stable is complete without it. The promptness and certainty with which it acts renders it invaluable to those who have the care of horses. It is better than any Liniment in use, no matter under what name it may be called.

Our Veterinary Surgeons throughout the Dominion are recommending Clark's Derby Condition Powders for several reasons; one, because they know that Professor Clark would not associate his name or introduce any article that was not the very best of its kind; and again, from experiencing the good results that follow their use.
