EUROPEAN NEWS.

We would call especial attention to the following excellent letter from our London Correspondent, giving the result of the late elections in Great Britain, and other important news.—Ed. Intelligencer.

London Correspondence.

The Elections—Defeat of the Tory Party—Riots—Her Majesty—Quackery—Neal Dow—Speakership—Wretchedness in London—Company Frauds—Revenue Accounts, &c.

London, (Good Friday) April 10, '57.

Whether Lord Palmerston is satisfied or not with the result of the Elections, is not publicly known, and perhaps he would find it difficult to answer the enquiry by a single yes or no. The partisan of the Manchester School—the leader of it at least from the new Parliament will not express him I dare say, but the Liberal composition of the House of Commons may render him anxious how far he will be drifted into reforms, for which he has no strong predilection. His Foreign Policy has been accepted by the country, as the following figures will shew, taken from the Morning Star, the organ of the Manchester party.

Voted for Mr. Cobden's motion	- -	263.
Returned at the last Election	- -	157.
Rejected or retired	- - - - - -	106.
Paired in favor of Mr. Cobden	20 total	283.
Returned	- - - - - 15 "	172.
	5	111.

Of the minority of 243 who supported Government, 183 have been returned, and also 17 who voted on the Government side, a total of 210, leaving only 33 who have retired or rejected. This is very significant and decisive indeed, as many of those who voted against the Government would not repeat their vote if the question were raised again.—On the question of Liberal Politics in general, however, the next Parliament will be stronger and more resolute than the last.

	England.	Scotland	Ireland.	Total.
Conservatives	293	19	24	337.
Liberal Conserve.	17	3	0	20.
Liberals	261	35	31	327.
	481	48	55	684.

This return gives a preponderence of 70 Liberals over both Conservatives and Liberal Conservatives united. Eighty-one other elections are not included in this table, but these will not materially disturb the relation of forces. The Tories have lost ground at this trial of strength, and now have not a single representative for the Metropolis or County of Middlesex; more remarkable still has been their defeat in more of their strong places. Lord Palmerston has, in fact, a plethora of influence, and is likely to be in the coalition of the man with many friends, more worried than indulged. Unless he is prepared to concede much, and to do it gracefully, he will fare as ill in the new House as the Cobden-party have failed in their appeal to the people.

Election riots have been few, the worst in England having taken place at Kidderminster, Baxter's old parish, where, he said, scarcely a house was to be found from which did not proceed the voice of holy prayer and praise. In some other cases, as at Salford and Rochdale, the demon of drink was brought into play to serve party ends, but on the whole there has been a degree of peace and order unequalled in former General Elections. Were the agency of strong drink excluded, there would be little to fear in the way of riot and breach of law; men's passions when most inflamed seldom carry them to serious outrage unless both mind and body have been excited by alcoholic fire. About a hundred members are pledged to support an enquiry into the operation of past Legislation, including Prohibition, on the Liquor traffic, and many of these will also vote for a Bill on the permissive principle, that is allowing localities to prohibit the traffic in their own limits. By future discussion and enquiries guaranteed within the House of Commons, we hope for such justice to be done to the Maine Law as will remove misconception and procure respect, and eventually the cordial adhesion of both the country and the High Court of Parliament.

Her Majesty's accouchment has been delayed beyond the public expectation. She is said to be in excellent health, and is known to suffer comparatively little from the crisis so interesting to human hopes and fears. Once she submitted to inhale chloroform, and is happily free from those ignorant prejudices which ladies of the highest rank are most exposed to. There is a report,—how far credible I cannot say—that shortly after the crisis of confinement, she is put into a bath of brandy, goes to sleep, and wakes up half recovered! This brings to mind the notorious quackery of the brandy and salt cure of twelve years ago, when, as the wags said, the most agreeable form of using the prescription was, to apply the brandy inside, and the salt outside. That nostrum had its day, not a long one, and the medical profession will earn the gratitude of all the cure of dispensary to the utmost possible degree with all forms of medicinal preparations into which alcohol, the subtlest of poisons, enters. Dangerous as an article of diets, and delusive as a drug, is the mildest character which can be truthfully offered to it. While I am on Temperance matters, I may say that we are expecting great benefit from the visit of Neal Dow. He is now, we hope, on the Western Ocean, eastward ho! and his presence will be sure to rouse the curiosity of vast numbers who with little care for the Maine Law, will be anxious to see and hear its world-renowned orator.

Returning to the Estates of the Realm,—it is probable that Parliament will meet on or about the last day of April; but there is a rumour that the first Session will last but a few days and that business will not be entered upon with spirit till after Whitsuntide, when the Queen will, in person, address her liege councillors on the affairs of the nation. The Speaker having retired and the question of a successor has been hotly debated. Mr. Evelyn Denison is, the 'Times' announces, the Govt. candidate. The Conservatives will not contest the point, unless the Liberals are divided. The effect will be no sinecure, considering the number of new members and the heat of anticipated debates. Burdensome at least is the post, and in the watches of slumber which Mr. Speaker may be able to take, when a loudrum orator is up, it would not be surprising if he were to dream of the golden strawberry leaves of a coronet, and wake up refreshed.

Dr. Scoresby, the distinguished Arctic voyager is numbered with the departed, as also is a celebrity in another walk of life, Mr. Kemble, son of the actor and nephew of Mrs. Siddons, and himself a scholar profoundly versed in Anglo-Saxon lore. His style was likewise very pleasing, but to make this subject interesting by "viva voce" lectures is next to a miracle. A curious account has appeared of some lectures Mr. K. once gave on English History; the first was delivered to a numerous auditory; the second to three or four; and the third to two hearers; one of them being Mr. Kemble senior; in fact, the third was not delivered, the only stranger present proposing that they should send to the College buttery for a supply of creature comforts in place of the Lecture; the elder Kemble seconded the motion and the Lecturer carried it into execution.

The Spring Assizes have come to a close. The calendars have not been light, and in places where the number of cases has been small, the nature of them has generally been dark and heavy. Dr. Sotheby, the medical officer of the City of London, which has fewer than one-twelfth of the population of the whole metropolis, has been supplying the newspapers with a topic in his last report, which exposes the wretchedness subsisting in parts of his jurisdiction. Within three months 2,208 rooms were inspected, in 1989 of which 1,576 families were herded, numbering 5,790 persons. Better accommodation for the poor will he eloquently advocated, but most of the writers will say nothing of that principle of total abstinence which would, in numberless instances, give both the power and spirit of improvement to the sufferers themselves. Gin and beer keep the home dirty, diseased, and debauched, and till these are removed, other measures of amelioration will fail oftener than they will succeed, besides being of the most costly description. The health of London continues above the average, and with all draw-backs, the population steadily increases, not allowing for provincial sources, at the rate of 30,000 per annum.

The Royal British Bank is kept before the public eye by the examination of its late leading men. Mr. Apsley Pellatt, ex-M.P., was recently subjected to a severe catechising in the Court of Bankruptcy, and failed to relieve himself from the charge of carelessness and due regard to his trust. His last plea is, that he did with regard to it, what thousands of other men of business do with regard to keeping their public engagements as Directors of various companies. The whole system is unsound, and not such as a christian man should sanction. The name of Sir S.M. Peto, Bart., has been mixed up with charges of unfairness in business transactions. It cannot be right for any man to launch out into speculations in which he cannot be responsible, and which tempt him to practices unworthy of his character and position. Sir S. M. Peto is chairman of a Steam Company which has sunk £500,000 of capital, of which £60,000 was his own money. Though all his friends believe him to be above any meanness or trick of trade, a man is answerable for the effect which he knows his name willhave in giving an appearance of safety to that which it stands connected with.—Now a christian is to shine, but never with a light that may lead other men to their pecuniary or moral ruin.

An order in Council has been issued prohibiting the importation of cattle, &c., from the countries upon or near the Gulf of Finland. This is to preserve our flocks and herds from the murrain, of whose existence there is satisfactory evidence. The last murrain, about a century back, inflicted awful ravages, and hence the precautions taken. These are either too premature or too stringent; and we only wish that Government would provide as carefully against the exposure of men from evils greater than the murrain. Is not a man better than a sheep? is an an old question capable of a new and painful application?

The Revenue accounts for the quarter show a small increase on the corresponding quarter of 1856, and on the year the increase is above two millions—the whole Revenue from 25th March, '56, to 25th March, '57, being upwards of seventy millions; less, after all, than our national expenditure in strong drink. Emerson states as one proof of our enormous wealth, that there is enough to keep all the people in idleness for one year; and surely the possession of so much material of commerce and comfort ought to stimulate us to such a use of it as might be best adapted to secure the greatest happiness of the greatest number, indeed, the true welfare of all. The public charges for education in Great Britain were, in the last year for Great Britain, £541,233, and for science and art, £73,855.—Ireland has come in for £213,630 for purposes of eduction, principally, I suppose, for the new colleges, which flourish, despite all the acts of the Romish priesthood. Their "Catholic University," is yet in future. As a sign of agricultural progress it may be noticed that 2,078,857 trees were planted in Ireland during the last ten years.—Paddy will be able to boast of something better than the old potato, friend, as that esculent has been, to the Irish poor.

The Meriblater Art Treasure Exhibition is going forwards, both as to the building itself and the accumulation and distribution of contents. The motto of the Committee is, the line of Keats, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever." Would Giffork, the Quarterly reviewer, have snarled if he had seen such a selection. Many religious persons will think that the Bible, the storehouse of all wisdom, could have furnished a motto more appropriate, and recognizing the Divine Being as the source of all spirit in the creature. Why not, for example, the passage that, "there is a spirit in man, and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth him understanding?"

Church affairs are not very prominent just now. The Bishop of London is busy confirming, not the churches but the children, would that the rite had more virtue and vitality about it! The Bishop of Norwich, Dr. Hinde has resigned, but it is said that an express act of Parliament will have to be passed allowing him to do so, as with the ex-Bishop of London and Durham. The Rector of Marylebone, Rev. Mr. Pelham, an Evangelical clergyman, is reported to have the revenues; upon which the Times reads a homily on the importance of an equal appointment of mitres and other church goods among the parties which divide the Anglican establishment. A proposal has been made to allow Dissenting ministers to preach in the cathedrals and abbeys of the land!

Spring has set in in earnest. The sap has risen and sent out the foliage and flowers to denote its animation. To-day the golden sunshine steeps the air, the earth, and water; and the heart of man is called upon to hold communion with all that is beautiful around him, using every object in nature as instruments of intercourse with the things that are spiritual and everlasting. The veil of nature is lovely, but wisest is he who can translate the hieroglyphics, and who reverently upraising it, can become partaker of the beatitudes that it conceals.

The following account of a melancholy disaster, we copy from the Cobourg Sun of Wednesday last: "We have to record, to-day, a most melancholy and fatal calamity, perhaps the most fatal that has occurred in the history of our town. On Wednesday morning last, the 1st inst, nearly all the fishermen in town manned their boats and sailed out into the lake to follow their usual avocations. A violent snow storm came on shortly after but they ventured out some six or seven miles and cast their nets. They then made for the shore which, all the boats but two, after much difficulty, succeeded in reaching. These two boats have not since been heard of, and it is feared that they and their occupants, nine in number, are all lost. In one boat were Mr. Wm. Edgecomb, his two sons, William and John, aged 13 and 11, respectively, and another boy, John Irvine, aged 13 years. This boat was owned by Mr. Edgecomb The other boat was owned by Mr. Jex, and was occupied by Charles Kerr, John Newton, Charles Parker, and two lads, George and John Hudson aged 15 and 17 years. Mr. Edgecomb leaves a wife and six children, besides the two sons that were with him. Mr. Kerr had a wife and six children; John Newton leaves a wife and two children, and Charles Parker a wife and one child. The boys Hudson were the sole support of their aged parents." Since the foregoing was written, we learn that the bodies of the fishermen were washed ashore between Colborne and Brighton.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM TEXAS

TRAVIS, CO. TEXAS, Aug. 15, 1854.

Messrs, Fleming Brothers—Dear Sirs:—There were several cases of Chills and Fever in my mother's family at the time we received the M'Lane's Liver Pills ordered in my letter of June 12th, and a few doses administered in each case produced the desired effect thus demonstrating the efficiency of these celebrated Pills in that disease.

Mother has not been troubled with the sick head-ache since she has commenced taking these Pills, and as we have but few of them left, you will please send us another dollar's worth. Direct, as before, to Austin, TEXAS. Respectfully yours. MEREDITH W HENRY.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE, manufactured by FLEMING BROS, of Pittsburgh, Pa. All other Vermifuges in comparison are worthless. Dr M'Lane's genuine Vermifuge also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of FLEMING BROS.

AN OLD AND TRIED MEDICINE.—Under our Special Notice head will be found the advertisement of Mrs. M. N. Gardner's Indian Balsam of Liverwort and Hoarhound. This is an article which has been before the public for upwards of twenty years, In the meantime many other preparations have been introduced and passed away, while the experience of many thousands of patients has tested the value of this above all. It is prescribed by the most skillful and prominent physicians, as the best remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended. Messrs. Weeks & Potter, wholesale Druggists, 154 Washington street, Boston, are the general agents, who have with much liberality supplied the Rev. Moses Thomas, Minister at large, of this city, with a quantity for gratuitous distribution among those who may be unable to purchase.—New Bedford Standard.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS ARE AN EXCELLENT FAMILY MEDICINE, and are recommended to all sufferers from diseases of the Liver and Stomach. It is indisputably admitted that they have never failed to cure these disorders. Sold at the manufactories, No. 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and No. 244 Strand, London; and by all druggists, at 25c, 62½c., and $1 per box.

Barque Pallas, Green, Harwich, on shore at Moosepacaf totally lost.

Spoken off Gibralter 27th March, barque Thalia, Bodile, from Malaga for this port

Ship Courier, Larkin, from Liverpool for Portsmouth, N. H., put into Nantasket Roads 22d inst.

Brig Echo, Ellsdale, of and from Maitland, for Boston went ashore night of 21st inst. on Ipswich Beach, and will probably go to pieces. Crew saved.

Ship American, Baldwin, which sailed from New London 18th inst. for St. John, N. B. was compelled to return in consequence of head winds, and anchored below the lighthouse. To prevent her from going ashore during the severe N. E. gale on the 20th, her masts were cut away.

The brig Caroline, of Prince William, N. S., Capt. Thomas, went ashore at the Gladdes House, on the 20th inst. She is loaded with cordwood. The crew were landed safely about 8 o'clock in the life-boat, which was manned by a crew from the Glades House. The vessel is ashore on the flats and will undoubtedly go off when the storm abates.

Barque Avon (of Windsor, N. S.) from Liverpool for Castine, with salt, went ashore night of 16th inst. in a thick snow storm, about high water, on Jameson's Point, Camden. She remained 17th, and was making considerable water. She will probably be got off if the weather is favorable, after discharging a portion of her cargo.

A later report says that the Avon was got off, leaking badly, and having six feet water in her hold. Part of cargo was thrown overboard. Salvage $4,500.

Schr. Admiral, Farnsworth, from Annapolis, N. S., for Salem, ran ashore 21st inst. at 10 A. M. just outside Fort Constitution, in Portsmouth harbour, but will probably be got off with but slight damage.

Schr Alma, of and from Parrsboro, N. S., for Boston, with wood, took the gale off Portland, and at 10 A. M., went ashore on Plum Island, opposite the half-way house. Crew saved. No insurance on vessel or cargo.

Schr. Burlington, Cleaveland, from Margaretville, for Boston, went ashore three miles below Gulliver's Hole on the night of the 3d inst. and became a total wreck—two of the crew drowned.

There is $3,000 insured on the Pig Iron on board the Bark May, Pitman, from Ardrossan for Providence (before reported foundered on the Banks) equally divided between the American and Merchant offices at Providence.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Light on Green Isle, Catalina Harbor.—The Colonial Government at Newfoundland has given notice that on and after the 1st day of March 1857, a light would be exhibited from a lighthouse recently erected on Green Isle, on the S. side of the entrance of Catalina harbor, Trinity Bay, on the E. coast of Newfoundland. The light is a fixed white light, and will be visible seaward from the deck of a ship in a favorable state of the atmosphere at a distance of 8 miles from ENE, round southerly to SW. The lighthouse consists of a keeper's dwelling, of wood, of a story and a half high, with a pitched roof, through the centre of which rises a low stone tower surmounted by a lantern, the height from the base to the top being 32 feet. About the first day of June next this light, which is temporary, will be replaced by a more powerful light of the same character, the illuminating apparatus being a lens of the fourth order. The light will be placed at a height of 86 feet above the level of the sea, and will be visible through the same arc of the horizon, from ENE round southerly to SW, for a distance of 13 miles.

Green Isle is in lat. 48 30 45 N., lon. 52 6 W. of Greenwich, nearly. In bearings magnetic. Variation 31 deg. 15 min, W in 1857, increasing about 5 min. annually. By command of their Lordships,

JOHN WASHINGTON, Hydrographer.

To the Independent Freeholders of the County of King's.

GENTLEMEN,—The Assembly having been dissolved with the view of affording the Constituencies an opportunity of expressing their opinion on the present state of public affairs, I have been induced to offer myself as a Candidate for the important position of one of your Representatives. If elected, I shall endeavor to maintain and defend the principles of Responsible Government, believing that the door of office should be open to every man, without distinction of Creed, Profession, or Occupation.

To the establishment of Municipal Corporations, or to any Educational system comprising among its provisions Direct Taxation, I am opposed, as unsuited to the age and condition of the country.

I shall support the present Administration in all measures conducive to the welfare of the country, and oppose them when I conceive the rights and privileges of the people are invaded.

In factious opposition to any Government, I hope never to be found, but will use whatever ability I possess to promote the true interests of the Province.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
E. A. VAIL.
