There are at present in Halifax harbor H. M. S. Aurora, 35 guns, 2,558 tons, 400 horse power; the Galatea, 26 guns, 3,227 tons, 800 horse power; and the Sphinx, 6 guns, 1,061 tons, 500 horse power.

MATTERS IN ST. STEPHEN.—On Wednesday night we received the following telegram from St. Stephen.

"St. Stephen, Dec. 6.

To J. LIVINGSTON, ESQ.—The Lieut Governor arrived here last night and called a meeting of Magistrates to-day at three P.M., to consult about organizing a Volunteer Night Watch, and being prepared for defence in case of a Fenian Raid, which, from information in his possession, he had reason to fear.

The information did not seem to point to St. Stephen only, but to frontier towns of New Brunswick.

No excitement amongst people here, and no fears apparently entertained."

Increase in 1865 ..... $990 89

On Tuesday night, a few minutes after ten o'clock, a fire broke out in a house in St. Andrews street, owned by N. F. Powers, and made such rapid progress that in a few minutes the whole upper flat was one sheet of flame. The fire originated in an attic room occupied by a widow named Mrs. Sullivan, who being at the time from home, lost all of her earthly possessions save her children. At one time it seemed as if nothing could save the whole block, the houses being closely built and all wooden structures. By the unusual energy displayed by the members of the Fire Brigade, however, the fire was confined to the upper flat in which it originated. We could not learn whether the property was insured.—News.

The Hillsboro' Advocate says that a number of gentlemen, including Professor Hinds, have been engaged during the past week in making a geological survey of the land owned by the "Princess Alexandra" Company, with a view to obtain reliable information as to the precise locality where coal may be most easily obtained.

☞ The Kingston (Jamaica) Standard says that slightly over one thousand rebels have been hanged and shot in St. Thomas-in-the-east up to date; and it is not at all unlikely that ere the different court martials close their sittings, there will be far over two thousand who will have paid the penalty of their vile attempt to exterminate the white and colored races of this island.

FURTHER STATEMENTS RELATIVE TO THE MURDER OF CAPT. BENSON.

The following statement by the cook, who is now under sentence of death for the murder of Capt. Benson; is published in the Halifax papers:—

"Dowcey states that he was, when first the mate made his acquaintance, one of the hands on board the Royal Mail Steamer plying between Jamaica and New York. The mate was at Jamaica, having been discharged from a vessel there. He offered to work his passage in the steamer to New York, which offer was accepted. While on the voyage, the mate proposed to the cook to run away from the ship on reaching its destination; but to this the former objected, as he thought he would not be able to get his trunk, which was heavy, ashore without detection by the officers. The mate offered to obviate this difficulty, by taking the trunk ashore with his own 'traps,' as detection could thus be avoided. The negro acceded to this, and the plan succeeded; the mate promising to get the cook a berth on board some ship. The brig Zero shortly after arrived at New York, short-handed. The mate shipped himself, and informed the cook, who also applied for a situation on board. Capt. Benson informed the negro that he did not know whether he would take any colored men; and advised Dowcey to go to the shipping-master, who would arrange matters with him. This Dowcey did, and was engaged as cook on the Zero. He made his appearance on board next morning. Capt. Benson on seeing him said: "I see you have managed to ship with us," and set the negro to work. Nothing of note occurred until the ship arrived at Cow Bay, with the exception of some trifling disagreement between the capt. and mate. At the latter place, three of the Germans who composed the crew deserted, and the captain went ashore to get men to fill their places. He succeeded in obtaining the two other Germans, (who figured in this trial,) and immediately returned to the vessel, on reaching he was surprised to find the ship's boat launched, and loaded with provisions, etc., as if prepared for a voyage. On enquiring the cause of this, he was informed by the mate that he (the mate) had intended deserting the vessel, in consequence of the disagreements which existed between him and the captain. (It appears that the mate had at first intended running away with the vessel, and broached the subject to the cook. The latter dissuaded the former to forego this intention, but advised desertion, and signified his willingnes to go with him. The boy Stockwell was also going. The mate at length took this view of the case. The Captain ordered the boat to be hauled up. The mate usually dined with the Captain, but from this period (Thursday) until Saturday he did not do so. On Saturday he went down to the cabin to dinner, and at some stage of proceedings the captain informed him that if he (the captain) did right he would have him (the mate) arrested at New York for the attempted desertion.—Afterwards the mate went on deck, and then it was that the murder was first decided on. He proposed to the colored man to kill the Captain and take the vessel to the West Indies, and the negro acceded to the plan. The next day was Sunday. About 4 o'clock in the morning according to the cook's statement, the mate called him, the negro being asleep in the galley. He did not not get up however. Frank (the boy) then came and called him. He then got up and went into the cabin, when the mate called him and said, "I've killed the old man." He also said: "Come here, I can't stand it any longer!" and with these words turned into his birth. The mate at this time was standing leaning against the captain's berth. The negro then called for the German Bill, but as the latter did not answer the call, the cook whistled for him. The boy Frank came down, when the negro beckoned him back, and said he wanted Bill. (This statement, it will be observed, corroborates the boy's testimony as regards being beckoned back by the cook, and toll to call Bill.) When Bill came down the mate told him to take the captain's body and throw it overboard. The cook explained the blood on his sleeve by saying that it was from bringing the bloody bed clothes up from the cabin. After the body had been thrown overboard the mate recovered from his momentary depression, and began to concert measures for escaping with the ship and from the consequences of the great crime which had been committed. He got hold of the captain's papers and searched for and found those connected with the ship, and began to examine the latter. He said: "We can work it all right now. If these papers are in printed form I can change them." He looked at them, and saw they were English papers, and could not alter them. He then proposed to scuttle the ship, and directed operations for this purpose. The rest is well known. The auger broke, and the axe fell off the handle, and they then decided to come ashore.

The Recorder adds:—

Such is the statement of the negro. When we say that it bears upon its face a strong impress of probability and plausibility, we believe that we but re-echo the sentiments of a great portion of the community. He tells the story to the most minute details, without the slightest hesitation or any attempt at display, and it is a very grave question to decide whether it is true or false. Dowcey is ignorant—can scarcely read, and is therefore in his solitary imprisonment denied one great consolation. He is very dejected, and since the trial appears to have changed greatly. He doubtless would have made some statement when asked by the Chief Justice if he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him, but it is a question whether he knew how to frame, or rather was too confused to make a suitable reply. The Rev. Dr. Hannan spent considerable time with the condemned. The latter is 29 years of age, and was born about fifteen miles above Weymouth, N. S.

The mate Douglas, makes an exactly contrary statement as regards the main facts, although in some few particulars his story agrees with that told by the cook. He says it was the negro who plotted and consummated the murder. The mate is visited regularly by ministers of the denomination to which he belongs, and to all outward appearance is very sincere in his professions of religion. He spends most of his time in singing and praying in so fervent a manner as frequently to be heard on the lower floor. He is 29 years of age, and a native of Greenock, Scotland.

It seems to be the general opinion that the execution of the negro should be deferred until the mate's case is decided upon.

The boy Stockwell, would appear, to have been a source of much trouble to his parents. The following is a copy of a letter received from his father:—

Richmond, Va., Nov. 15, 1865.

Dear Frank,—Your letter of Sept. 28th has come to hand after so long a time. It seems strange to us that a little boy like you should feel at liberty to run away and not let us know where you are for months together and then write to us calling yourself our affectionate son. I am not at all surprised to hear that you have got into trouble. Hope you will have repentance and return home a better boy. We have been here in Richmond since last April, and expect to remain. Here are hundreds of little Negro boys that behave much better than you and go to school and are trying to learn. We have the care of a great many colored people and of schools for their children. We should be glad could you come home and be a good boy. But as you have got into trouble you may not have a chance. When you receive this write again and let us know how you are and what has been the decision in the trial of the crew of your vessel.

You must ask God to forgive you, and we will forgive you also. We are quite well.

From your Father. G. S. STOCKWELL.

ARRIVAL OF THE "CITY OF NEW YORK."

BOSTON, Dec. 6.

City of New York, with Liverpool dates to 23d, has arrived.

The London Times has reason to believe that a Cabinet Council held on the 18th, it was determined to address an energetic remonstrance to the Spanish Government, against the conduct of the Admiral commanding the Spanish fleet off Valparaiso, and against the measures taken by Spain to enforce her demands against Chili.

A Dublin telegram, of the 20th, to the Morning Post, says: Pigeon House Fort, commanding Dublin Bay, has been garrisoned, since the 18th, by large military detachments. All the guards have been doubled, the guns double shotted, and the men held under arms all night.

During all that day, the 20th, four General officers were in the fort, and the gates and bridges were closed.

The Underwriters and Maritine Insurance Companies of London and Liverpool, are reported to have lost half a million sterling, by the destruction of three New Orleans Cotton ships at Key West.

Victor Emmanuel, in his speech at the opening of Parliament, said time and the force of events would solve the question pending between Italy and the Papacy.

The reported arming of the Pigeon House Fort at Dublin, is confirmed.

Rumour accounts for it by the alleged appearance of a doubtful vessel in the channel.

Magazine Fort, Phœnix Park, Dublin, is similarly strengthened. It is alleged that these movements are not attributable to Fenianism, but to increased discipline under Sir Hugh Rose.

Public meetings are taking place in Manchester, to demand from the Government the most searching investigation into the proceedings in Jamaico.

The Morning Post sees indications of reform in certain steps taken by the Government.

Breadstuffs active, but prices tend downward. Provisions quiet and steady. Consols closed at 89½ @ 89¾. U. S. 5.20s., 63¾ @ 64.

UNITED STATES.

BOSTON, Dec. 4.

Washington, 4th.—Semi-official news from the city of Mexico, Nov. 17th, been received in this city at Mexican Legation. Langlais, Minister of Treasury, whom Napoleon sent to Maximilian in order to arrange the finances of empire, has declared that it is impossible to succeed in that enterprise, as the budget amounted to forty millions.

In late advices from Mexico it is represented that Liberals are daily gaining ground and the number of their forces continually increasing. Gen. Diax defeated an Imperial force in State of Puebla, and afterwards went to see Gen. Alverez to combine in a decisive movement against French.

Fortress Monroe, Dec. 3d.—English schr. "M. S. K. Thorn," from Greytown for Newport, is ashore near Cape Henry.

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 29th.—Ship "Alcyone," Leavitt, of St. John, N. B., from Liverpool for Baltimore, with salt, went ashore on Bondey Island, about sixty miles north of Cape Fear, Tuesday, a.m. Ship is a total loss. Captain and crew were taken off by steamer. "Washington," which arrived at this port to-day. "Washington" made every effort to pull ship off but it was of no avail, as there was a heavy sea at the time.

A dense fog prevailed yesterday in New York, preventing vessels from sea entering, and causing damage in the harbor from the grounding and collisions of vessels.

Hong Kong papers state that the effect of a recent decree in China will be to throw a large amount of business into the hands of foreign merchants.

Steamship Liberty from Havana, 29th, has arrived.

News from Cape Haytien confirms the accounts of its bombardment by the British. The rebels there have scattered, and most of the rebel chiefs been shot. Six or seven persons who took refuge at the British Consuls' during the bombardment, were seized by the rebels and shot.

The rebel Gen. Hiedrew with 500 men, surrendered to the government, and Giffard is now master of the situation; most of the foreigners fled to the American war vessel at Cape Haytien during the bombardment. The triumph of the government was commemorated by festivities at Port au Prince and Jacmel. The cholera at Guadaloupe and Martinique has been so fatal that all vessels from there are refused "pratique" at St. Thomas.

BOSTON, Dec. 6th.

The President's message was delivered in Congress yesterday: is dignified and amicable in tone towards late Rebellious States.

In reference to the propagandism of republicanism the President thinks it no part of our policy. He would have us do what Washington sought to impress upon his country-men. "Preserve our system of Government for a blessing to ourselves and an example to be imitated by the world." But if the monarchies of Europe insist on challenging Republicanism to a trial on this Continent, he does not believe the people of this country will hesitate to meet the issue.

Our foreign relations are satisfactory save with Great Britain. The proposal of Earl Russell to submit claims mutually agreed upon to a Commission, was declined because the very matter in dispute was persistently left out. The municipal law of Great Britain, with its domestic interpretation, the President proclaims will not be assented to by this Government as public law for the conduct of neutrals. But he permits the subject with this protest to rest where it is, simply insisting that. "For the future friendship between the two countries must rest on the basis of mutual justice."

The correspondence between the United States and France, in reference to questions which have become subjects of discussion between the two Governments, will at a proper time, be laid before Congress.

No reference is made to the Reciprocity Treaty except that he leaves it entirely in the hands of Congress.

"Hibernian" signalled at Portland.
