THE NEWS and THE PRESS.

MARCH 1, 1867.

LATEST VERSION OF THE NEW CONFEDERATION SCHEME.—The Toronto Globe of the 22d inst., now before us, contains an elaboration of a telegram received during the evening previous. The information was supplied by J. Gordon Brown, editor of the Globe, who is at present in England. Mr. Brown did not peruse Earl Carnarvon's Bill before sending his telegram, but withal his outline of the changes is reckoned as trustworthy. We condense the Globe's narration of the changes, and its remarks into as brief a space as possible. The Globe first says:

"The name of the new Confederation is to be CANADA! Upper Canada is to be styled the Province of ONTARIO: Lower Canada is to be called QUEBEC; and the other Provinces are to retain their present designations."

The general features of the Quebec Scheme, we are told, are maintained, but several important alterations have been made in details.

The first change is in the matter of grants from the Federal treasury, for the support of the local governments. Under the Quebec Scheme the amount was 80 cents per head on the population of 1861. The charge which this would be upon the Federal chest, would be—we give the Globe's figures—as follows:

Upper Canada, population,	1,396,091	$1,116,873
Lower Canada, "	1,111,566	889,253
Nova Scotia, "	330,857	264,686
New Brunswick, "	252,047	201,638
Total annual grant,		$2,472,450

These annual grants were not to increase in future years with the increase of population, but to remain permanently at these figures.

This principle, the Globe tells us, is to be overthrown so far as New Brunswick is concerned; for she is to receive an increased subsidy from time to time as her population increases, until she has 400,000 people, and her grants will amount to $320,000. Then her increase is to stop, and her grant, like that of the other Provinces, is to remain stationary. The Toronto Globe calls attention to the facts that under the Quebec Scheme New Brunswick had also a special advantage—the additional allowance of $65,000 per annum for ten years.

The local grants to all the Provinces are, we are told, to be increased. The Globe says:—

"In addition to the eighty cents per head distributed as already shown, the Delegates have agreed that the following annual grants shall be paid permanently from the Federal chest:—

To Upper Canada,	$80,000
To Lower Canada,	70,000
To Nova Scotia,	60,000
To New Brunswick,	50,000
Total additional grants,	$260,000

Distributed according to population of 1861 these additional grants would give to Upper Canada $117,449; to Lower Canada $93,513; to Nova Scotia $27,834; and to New Brunswick $21,204.

The whole grant for local purposes under the Scheme as amended is given by the Globe as follows:—

Upper Canada,	$1,196,873
Lower Canada,	989,253
Nova Scotia,	324,686
New Brunswick,	315,638
	$2,795,450

And our contemporary says:

"These grants, at the estimated populations of the several Provinces on the 1st January, 1867, give the following rates of grant per head:—

	Population.	Per head.
Upper Canada,	1,302,056	60 cents.
Lower Canada,	1,288,880	74 "
Nova Scotia,	368,781	88 "
New Brunswick,	295,084	110 "

The second departure from the Quebec Scheme the Toronto Globe says is to the effect—

"That until Prince Edward Island comes into the Union, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick shall have between them the four seats in the Upper Chamber that the Island was to have had. The distribution will now be as follows:—

	Population.	Members.
Upper Canada	1,302,056	24
Lower Canada,	1,288,880	24
Nova Scotia and New Brunswick,	663,884	24

The House of Commons will start with the following distribution of seats and remain so until the Census of 1871, when Upper Canada will get a number of additional seats:—

Upper Canada,	82
Lower Canada,	65
Nova Scotia,	19
New Brunswick,	15
Whole House,	181

The third departure from the Quebec Scheme our contemporary thus states:

"The Crown is to have power to enlarge the number of Legislative Councillors to a limited extent, when necessary to prevent a dead-lock."

The fourth departure from the Quebec Scheme is said to be—

"The transference of control over the Fisheries and over Penitentiaries from the Local to the General Government."

The fifth and last change is on the Sectarian School question. And here, as the wording is not clear, the Globe gives the ipsissima verba of its despatch, which we copy with the brief remarks which follow:

"In reference to the School question, clauses have been introduced, first, stating that any privilege granted to Separate Schools in Upper Canada shall also be granted to Separate Schools in Lower Canada; and second, that all measures about Separate Schools shall be subject to an appeal to the Governor General in Council."

"As to the first of these provisions, it seems very harmless. There is not much danger of an Upper Canada—we beg pardon—Ontario Legislature passing laws for the further extension of sectarianism in the working of our Common School system. The meaning of the second provision is, unfortunately, not clear. The 51st resolution of the Quebec scheme provides that "any Bill passed by a Local Legislature shall be subject to disallowance by the Governor-General, within one year after the passing thereof;" and if nothing more is done in the Confederation Bill than to confirm this power of disallowance, and to state the precise mode of bring objections to any Separate School Bill fully under the notice of the Federal Executive, with a view to its disallowance—that there can be no possible objection to that."

The Toronto Globe is clearly not pleased with some of the changes, especially those in regard to the allowances to the Local Governments, and wonders how the Canadian delegates could have been so short-sighted as to agree to them, but withal it winds up its article by saying:

"When we have the Bill at full length, we will be in a better position to survey the whole question. But, meantime we have no hesitation in stating our opinion, that if the whole tale has been told in our despatch—if there are no other changes to be heard of—the Bill, with all its defects, will be an immense boon to the people of Upper Canada, and we will heartily rejoice when it receives the Royal sanction."—News.

THE INTER-COLONIAL RAILWAY.—The News of yesterday says that the Confederation Bill which has passed the House of Lords, "stipulates when the Intercolonial Railway shall be commenced, and over what length of time the work of construction is to extend. In six months from the adoption of the measure the start is to be made, and in three years the work is to be completed. Disraeli, in the Commons, would introduce the instrument providing the guarantee, the amount of which is expected to be three millions sterling. The guarantee will probably extend over forty years, allowing ample time for the repayment of the principal, through the medium of a sinking fund, for which provision will be made. The debentures to be issued under the guarantee are expected to bear 4 per cent. interest." The Cable again announces that the Union Bill has passed the Lords. The iteration of this fact is no doubt intended to convince our Anti friends that Confederation is "marching on."—Telegraph.

The Country Market yesterday presented quite an animated appearance as compared with the general dullness and absence of Country teams and produce noticeable lately. The north side was nearly filled with sleds containing beef, potatoes, mutton, veal and buckwheat meal. Considerable quantities of beef and mutton, killed early in the winter and kept packed in snow, are now being brought forward, and will, it is thought, have the effect of preventing any further advance in the prices of these articles. Fresh killed beef and mutton of good quality command from 7 to 8 cents. Butter is worth about 18 cts. packed, and 19 a 20c. in roll, for good qualities. Owing to the general scarcity of money sales are slow, except in Pork, Eggs, and Buckwheat Meal, which are bought up readily, the supply being somewhat limited. The demand for pork is chiefly for immediate consumption; none is at present purchased for barrelling.—Ib.

DEATH OF MR. FULTON.—We learn by telegraph, that Robert Fulton, Esq, Assistant Provincial Secretary of this Province died at Fredericton last night at 11 o'clock. Mr. Fulton has been in the Provincial Secretary's office about forty years. He was probably between sixty and sixty-five years of age. Being of a gentle, genial nature, and kind and affable in manner he was universally liked. Mr. Fulton, we believe, was unmarried. By his death, the poor will lose a good friend, for, for many years past, he has bestowed a large share of his income upon them, giving to all who needed with a liberal hand.—Globe.

BRITISH AMERICAN MARITIME INTERESTS.

The Immigration Gazette of Canada furnishes the following statistical information regarding the maritime interests of British America:

Few persons in British America, and scarcely any one in England, have any idea of the vast proportions which the shipping interests of these Colonies have assumed of late years. With the exception of Great Britain and the United States, the tonnage of vessels entering and clearing from our ports annually is greater than that of any other country in the world, being upwards of four millions of tons greater than that of France, although the commerce of the last named country has largely increased during the last few years. At the end of the year 1863, the number of vessels owned by these Provinces and their tonnage was as follows:

	Vessels.	Tons.
Canada	2 311	287,186
Nova Scotia	3,539	309,554
New Brunswick	891	211,680
P. E. Island	360	34,222
Newfoundland	1,429	89,993
	8,530	932,246

And since that time our commerce has grown very considerably. The tonnage between the Provinces and other ports in 1863 was as follows:

	Inwards.	Outwards.	Total.
Canada	1,061,307	1,091,895	2,132,204
Nova Scotia	712,939	719,915	1,453,854
New Brunswick	659,258	727,727	1,385,985
P. E. Island	69,080	81,200	150 288
Newfoundland	156,578	148,610	205,188
	2,639,164	2,779,355	5,408,519

The inland navigation upon the Canadian lakes was as follows:

Inwards.	Outwards.	Total.
3,530,701	3,365,432	6,806,133

making a total as under:

Inwards.	Outwards.
6,177,865	7,137,785

or a total tonnage of 12,314,952.

This is a proud position for the British American Colonies to have attained, and may be accepted as an earnest of what we may and can do in the time to come. If our commerce increases during the next half century as it has done during the past thirty years, it will be considerably in excess of even what the commerce of the United States was before the war, and almost equal to the present commerce of Great Britain. This may startle some of our readers who have been inclined to imagine that Canada was a slow-going place, lacking in enterprise and spirit. Our progress has been slow as compared with that of the United States, but is all the more likely to be stable and continuous.

The number of sailors employed to man our merchant and shipping vessels in the year 1863, was as under:—

Canada	5,958
Nova Scotia	19.637
New Brunswick	2.765
Prince Edward Island	2.313
Newfoundland	38.578
Total	69,256

Do the followers of Goldwin Smith ever consider these facts, or realize of what immense value this magnificent marine force would be to the Empire in the event of its being engaged in a war with any great naval power? It will be well for them to do so.

The Yarmouth Herald thus describes a family gathering of the survivors of the late Eleazer Butler, of Yarmouth, N. S.:—

They met at the residence of Mr. Nathan Butler, on the old homestead, on the 15th January. There were present:—Stephen, aged 83; Robert, aged 79; Eleazer, aged 77; Mrs. Churchill, aged 72; Mrs. Durkee, aged 70; Nathan, aged 68; and Mrs. Goudey, aged 61. Their united ages amounting to 510 years; their average being 73 years. These are the survivors of a family of eleven.

After spending the day in a very pleasant manner, in which the events of by-gone days were brought up from memory's store, and happy reminiscences of the departed ones were cherished afresh, all joined in a regular old fashioned sing, and then bowing around the old family altar, each commended the other with all their interests to that God who hitherto had sustained and guided them, and in whom all hoped that by his grace abounding, they should meet in heaven with all the members who had gone before, an unbroken family."

AYERS CHERRY PECTORAL

RX IS a Soothing expectorant prepared to meet the urgent need of a safe and reliable cure for diseases of the throat and lungs. A trial of many years has established the fact, that it is more efficacious in pulmonary affections, than any other remedy. Its efficacy has now become so generally known, that it is justly regarded in many countries as a medicine of indispensable necessity. In Great Britain, France, and Germany, where medical science has reached its highest perfection, it is prescribed in domestic practice, and constantly used in the armies, in hospitals and other public institutions, where it is regarded by the attending physicians as the most speedy and agreeable remedy that can be employed. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found where well known cases of diseased lungs, which had baffled the efforts of the most skilful and experienced doctors, have been prematurely cured by it. These results are the most convincing proofs of the superior curative properties of this preparation; and to them the authors point with peculiar satisfaction. While it is most powerful against confirmed diseases, it is extremely gentle as a medicine in infancy and youth, being quite harmless to even the youngest, when administered judiciously.

This health-restorer accomplishes even more by prevention than cure. If taken in season it heals all irritations of the throat and lungs, whether arising from Colds or Coughs, or from other causes, and thus prevent that long train of painful and incurable diseases, which would arise from the neglect of them. Hence no family should be without it. Influenza, Croup, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough, Pleurisy, Incipient Consumption, and other affections of the breathing organs, give way before this preeminent combination of medical virtues.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass, and sold by all Druggists and dealers in medicine everywhere.

SELEE'S HAIR LIFE

RICHLY merits the high praise the people of the Provinces now award it. It has proved superior to all other Hair preparations for restoring Grey Hair to its original colour. It is, also, a splendid Hair Dressing, cleaning the Head so perfectly from Dandruff, Scurf, &c.

It invariably stops the Hair from falling off, and is, decidedly, a Hair Restorer.

The money will be refunded in all cases where a thorough trial of two bottles fails to give entire satisfaction.

Sold by Druggists and other Dealers.
