THE practice of Life Assurance in any country indicates a state of society where high moral feeling and commercial confidence exist; and its progress in Great Britain is a marked feature in the national character.
It is now upwards of a century since the first Institution for effecting Life Assurance was established in England; but it is only since the beginning of the present century, or rather since the conclusion of the war, that Life Assurance has become a general practice, an understood duty, and an essential portion of every monetary contract.
The great number of Life Assurance Offices now established in Great Britain, and pursuing a successful course, affords strong evidence, that in other countries where society is in an equally settled state, similar institutions, conducted on right principles, will be equally appreciated, and equally successful. Many of practical information on the value of human life in many countries where its aid and protection would be eagarly sought, if well founded institutions were provided for its practice,—but the time has now arrived when increased knowledge enables its benefits to be extended with safety to many other parts of the world, where, hitherto, it has been unknown, or at least unpractised, except under great disadvantages, by a distant and tardy correspondence, and at a great expense.

THE COLONIAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY has been established for the purpose of extending to the Colonies of Great Britain and to India, the full benefit of Life Assurance; and for the purpose of giving increased facilities to persons visiting or residing in foreign countries.

The general management of the Company is under the direction of persons who have been long practically acquainted with, and connected with the working of Life Assurance institutions; and it has been the study of the Directors to afford all those advantages to their Policy-holders abroad, which are commanded by Assurers in this country.
For the purpose of giving increased facilities also in the Company's transactions, the Directors are in progress of forming local Boards of Management, and Branch Offices, where Premiums may be paid, in the different places to which they propose to extend their business.

THE CAPITAL of the Company is £500,000. All the Directors in Great Britain are Shareholders of the Company, and those appointed in the Colonies are bound to take a similar interest in the Institution.

THE RATES

which the Company have adopted, have been formed on the most correct observations which exist as to the value of life; and the Directors have to acknowledge the valuable assistance which they have received from the Parliamentary Reports, prepared by Col. TULLOCH, in regard to the mortality among the British Troops in the Colonies of Great Britain; and to the valuable assistance, in their proceedings, afforded by HENRY MARSHALL, Esq., Deputy Inspector-General of Army Hospitals, the Medical Adviser of the Company. The rates for Canada are the same as for Great Britain, and there is no charge for voyages in Steam Packets across the Atlantic.

THE PROFITS

of the Company will be ascertained and divided at certain intervals: the First Investigation and Division being to be in 1854, when each Policy having a right to participate in the Profits, will share in the Fund to be allocated for Division among the Assured, according to the Profits which the Company may calculate to have arisen on the particular Class of Risks to which such Policy may belong
