VERY SWELL WEDDING AT TRURO

Bride a Representative of One of Nova Scotia's Leading Families.

MARRIED TO A POPULAR ARMY OFFICER.

Halifax Herald: In St. John's church, Truro, one of the very prettiest of the smaller Anglican churches of this province, and one full of sacred associations to the family to which the bride belongs, the marriage took place at three o'clock Saturday of Susan Georgina, only daughter of Mr. Charles Archibald, vice-president of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and Mr. Peter Elliston, R. G. A., A. D. C. to Major General Sir Charles Parsons, commander of the forces, and son of a distinguished English surgeon, Dr. W. A. Elliston, of Stoke Hall, Ipswich.

On both the maternal and the paternal side the young bride may lay claim to ancestry distinguished in provincial as well as national history. She is a great granddaughter of the Hon. Samuel George William Archibald, LL. D., in his day Master of the Rolls in chancery, and one of the ablest men which this province has ever produced. A mural tablet to his memory adorns St. John's church. She is also a grand-daughter of Sir Edward Archibald, for years British consul at New York, and on the paternal side a grand-daughter of Senator Thomas D. Archibald, one of the leading "Confederation senators."

Belonging to a family of such social prominence, and personally a great favorite, her approaching wedding to Mr. Elliston, than whom there is no more popular officer on this station, has naturally been a matter of great interest. Very deep and very general was the disappointment when it was announced that, owing to the fact that she is still convalescent from recent illness, the marriage would not be a public "function," at which her many friends might be present, but would, on the contrary, be an extremely quiet ceremony, witnessed only by the members of the immediate family, and, instead of taking place in Halifax, would take place in Truro, for which place, accompanied by her mother, she left on Thursday afternoon last.

The little church is, as stated an exceedingly picturesque one, lending itself readily to the purposes of floral decoration. For this occasion the church was beautified with white roses, chrysanthemums, carnations, palms and ferns. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Reginald Heber Bullock, one of the chaplains to His Majesty, the King, assisted by the Venerable Archdeacon Kaulback.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. Charles Archibald, looking very charming in a traveling costume of dark brown cloth, with white lace hat and white marabout and ostrich feather stole. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by Miss Bessie Chipman, as bridesmaid, the latter wearing a pretty tailor-made gown of blue cloth with blue hat and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Cockburn, R. A., was the groom's best man. The bride was given away by her father. The only witnesses of the ceremony beside those mentioned was Mrs. Charles Archibald, mother of the bride; Lady Archibald, Mrs. F. D. Laurie and Mrs. George Campbell, all of Truro; and Mrs. Blois Archibald, of North Sydney.

Mrs. Archibald, the bride's mother, wore a beautiful costume of dark gray cloth and velvet, with black and white hat. A cable was sent to Ipswich announcing the marriage, and simultaneously with the ceremony in Truro, the ringing of the church bells in Ipswich proclaimed the "happy consummation" to the townspeople. Mr. and Mrs. Elliston left by the afternoon train for Montreal, Toronto and Chicago, en route to Riverside, California, where they will spend the winter, Mr. Elliston having secured three months leave. The many friends of both unite in the very earnest hope and belief that the mild climate of California may effect the perfect restoration of the bride to health. It is a matter of general regret here that the 58th Battery, Royal Artillery, to which the groom belongs, has been ordered to Esquimalt, B. C, for the removal of the charming young couple means a very perceptible loss to Halifax. They leave for the west followed by many and sincere good wishes.

The collection of wedding presents was one of the largest and most uniformly valuable that has ever fallen to the lot of a Halifax bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a "keeper" for the wedding ring, set with pearls and diamonds.

CANADIAN ENTERPRISE

That has Greatly Pleased the Cubans.

Havana Post: The last two days will be memorable days for both Cuba and Canada, because they mark the completion of two Canadian enterprises on this island and of removing into larger quarters by reason of its greatly increasing business of another. We refer first to the inauguration on Sunday night of the through daily service between this city and Santiago de Cuba. This as is well known is due to the completion of the Cuba railroad, the existence of which is owed to Canadian capital and the prince of Canadians, that great railroad man Sir William Van Horne. The completion of this road which connects the extreme eastern and western portions of Cuba will go down in history as the greatest factor in the development of this beautiful and fertile island.

The second enterprise to which we refer was the inauguration Sunday morning of the electric railroad between Havana and Marianao. This also is mainly due to Canadian capital, its president being Mr. Edward Hanson, one of the most progressive of Canadians. One could use columns of space telling of the advantages which this railroad will be to Havana; how it will relieve the congested population in this city, permitting people of moderate means to get out into the suburbs where they can have plenty of God's pure air and a home of their own, when without quick transportation facilities they would be compelled to spend their days cooped up in one or two rooms in the crowded city. Let us hope that the Insular Railroad company will continue to extend its lines throughout the country. That it will be so and that they will find it a very profitable undertaking we have not the slightest doubt.

The third enterprise was the removal yesterday of the Royal Bank of Canada to the handsome and commodious new building which its rapidly increasing business has made necessary. This bank is purely a Canadian concern and the success with which it has met here speaks well for the able officers who direct its affairs.

Altogether these two days are ones which both Cuba and Canada can well be proud. The completion of the first two Canadian enterprises mentioned and the success which has attended the third should inspire more Canadian capital of the great opportunities which are only awaiting a little money in Cuba.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Amherst Talking of Taking Over Street Lighting System.

Amherst, N. S., Nov. 21.—The streets of this town are lighted by 243 electric lights of sixteen candle power, the service being an all-night one, furnished by the Canada Electric company, consisting of Amherst citizens, with M. D. Price president, and J. A. Davis secretary. The contract, at $11 25 per year per lamp, will expire in a few weeks, and as the company claims that the lighting has cost it considerably more than this, by reason of the increased cost of coal and other expenses, gave notice some time ago of a substantial advance in the price. After considerable negotiation between the town council and the company, the former proposed $14.50, and the latter offered to accept $15.75. A meeting of rate payers was convened last evening to obtain their mandate on the subject.

At the meeting presided over by Mayor Lusby the following offers were submitted by the company: To sell out the plant and franchises for $70 000, or at a price to be decided by arbitration; or to furnish street lighting as per present contract, for $15.75 per lamp.

It was moved by Recorder Townshend, and seconded by Councillor G. A. Weeks, that this meeting recommends to the town council to submit to the directors of the company the following proposal for the purpose of arranging at a basis for future negotiations for the acquiring by the town of the plant and franchises of the company, namely: "The value of the plant and franchises to be ascertained by a board of three arbitrators, of whom one shall be chosen by the town council, one by the directors, and the third to be either the warden of the county or his appointee. The arbitrators to report in writing to the town council and the directors their finding. Neither party to be bound by the finding, unless the same be ratified by the company and the ratepayers of the town. The town to pay all costs connected with such arbitration, but not to exceed $500. The details of the terms and conditions of such arbitration to be left to the town council and directors of the company."

After the resolution had been discussed by the recorder, Dr. Hewson, D. W. Robb, B. C. Munro, Harvey Pipe, Councillor Fage, T. N. Campbell, Stuart Jenks, M. D. Pride, it passed unanimously.

During the discussion the president of the company stated that his company would be willing to accept the arbitrators' award if the town council would agree to do so.

It was moved by T. N. Campbell, and seconded by B. C. Munro, that the matter of making a contract with the company for street lighting be left to the town council to make the best bargain they can on a three years' contract.

The mayor stated that he believed the offer of the company is a final one, and he wished it to be distinctly understood that no fault will be found with the council if it enters into a contract at $15.75 After remarks by the mover, Principal Lay, D. W. Robb, Councillor Biden, F. W. Blair and R. C. Fuller, the motion passed unanimously.

It is not expected that the arbitrators will be able to report for two or three months.

Mr. Robb placed before the meeting facts and figures which must have convinced those present that the company desires to be fair and to charge no unwarrantable price for its street service. At the same time, the ratepayers, to whom the cost is a large item of taxation, are determined not to pay too dearly and to ascertain if municipal ownership would be economical.

Mr. Martin's Libel Suit.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 23.—Hon. Joseph Martin intends to defend his reputation by process of law, having grown weary of being made the target for indiscriminate abuse. Accordingly he has demanded and obtained from The Daily Ledger the name of the man who wrote over the nom de plume of "Siesmen" a letter which appeared in The Ledger of Wednesday last, the day of the bye-election.

Action for criminal libel will at once be initiated. Meanwhile the identity of the defendant is carefully guarded by Mr. Martin's solicitors. As proceedings have not reached the court it is impossible to cite the statements complained of. The letter concluded with this doggeral verse:

"Politics young and politics old,
Politics hot and politics cold,
Politics tender and politics tough,
Thanks, Joe Martin, we've had enough."
