CHANGE IN COLLINS

Nearing the Gallows he Apparently Realizes his Position.

HOPEWELL CAPE, Nov. 13.—Preparations for the carrying out of the death sentence on Thomas Collins on Friday, the 15th inst., were begun today. The enclosure in which the execution will take place will be eretted on the north side of the jail with a passageway extending across the front of the building to the jail entrance, from which exit will be made to the gallows. The exclosure will be 18x16, and 10 feet high.

In this enclosure, unless commutation of the death sentence should come at the last moment, the prisoner will pay the penalty of the horrible crime of which he has been twice found guilty. Collins has changed much in the last few days and appears to realize that his end is near. Much of his former cheerfulness has left him and his demeanor is now serious and thoughtful. He reads the Bible a good deal and appears to be making preparations for the end that soon must come.

Rev. Mr. Thomas, the chaplain at Dorchester penitentiary, visited Collins last evening, and will come to see him again today. He will probably remain with the condemned man until the end.

The preparations for the execution have cast a gloom over the little village, and at this hour there probably are very few people to whom a change of sentence would not be welcome news, as there is a strong feeling among many that the prisoner is not possessed of proper mental balance and who think that the ends of justice would be served by imprisonment.

It is not known here whether Radcliffe will officiate at the execution or not. Sheriff Lynds, when spoken to about the repkrt in the evening papersto the effect that the services of the famous hangman had been engaged, would neither deny nor confirm the report.

VROOM--STEVENS

Daughter of Late County Court Judge led to Altar by St. Stephen Gentleman.

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., Nov. 13.—Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Hawthorne Hall was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding, when Miss Annie Stevens, daughter of the late Judge Stevens, was united in marriage to Edwin G. Vroom, of the firm of Vroom Bros. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Gibson, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The happy couple left by C. P. R. for Montreal, where they will spend a days.

Owing to the recent death of Judge Stevens no invitations were issued, and only immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The bride was attended by her niece, Miss Edith Stevens, and the groom by Edgar R. Lacoutre, of Woodland. The bride was married in a travelling dress of grey chiffon broadcloth. The presents, which were many and very choice, included a cut glass pitcher and tumblers from the employes of Vroom Bros., Ltd.

HUNTING NOTES.

A gentleman who came from the Miramichi woods today reports that three Philadelphia sportsmen, who left here about ten days ago to hunt big game, under the guidance of Mr. Henry Braithwaite, are having a great run of luck. Up to last Saturday night they had secured two moose and a deer, one of the moose being taken on the road while they were enroute to camp. They each expect to get their full complement of game before returning home.

Mr. Coleman Carnegie, a nepnew of the steel king, will arrive here the latter part of this week and proceed to Trout Lake on a hunting trip with Mr. William Griffin, Jr.

SUPREME COURT.

On account of the indisposition of Chief Justice Tuck argument in the case of Seery vs. the Federal Life Assurance Company had to be stood over yesterday afternoon.

In the case of the Colonial Investment and Loan Company vs. Demerchant, W. W. Allen, K. C., moved to set aside a non-suit and enter a verdict for plaintiff; T. J. Carter contra. Court considers.

Argument in the Seery case was resumed this morning and was unfinished when the case adjourned at one o'clock.

A BIG SHIPMENT.

One of the biggest lumber shipments by rail was made yesterday by the Scott Lumber Company. It consisted of thirteen cars loaded with hemlock boards and was taken by special train to the Junction where it was cannected with a fast freight for Boston. The shipment was consigned to Stetson, Cutler & Company.
