Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

Mrs Albert Mann Mrs Chester Curry

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysterics, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues" sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rising in your throat and threatening to choke you; all the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the abdominal region, and between the shoulders; bearing-down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact

Mrs. Chester Curry, Leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra, 42 Saratoga St., East Boston, Mass., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I was troubled with extreme nervousness and hysteria brought on by irregularities. I could neither enjoy life nor sleep nights. I was very irritable, nervous and despondent.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended and proved to be the only remedy that helped me. I have daily improved in health until I am now strong and well, and all nervousness has disappeared."

The following letter is from Mrs Albert Mann, 154 Gore Vale Ave., Toronto, Ont.:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered a long time with serious female trouble having intense pains in the back and abdomen and very sick headaches every month. I was tired and nervous all the time and life looked very dreary to me and I had no desire to live until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to get some relief. My recovery was slow but it was sure and I have never regretted the money spent for the Compound as it brought back my good health."

Women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine that holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of female ills, and take no substitute.

Free Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write to her for advice. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with female troubles enables her to advise you wisely, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

SHOWS HOW FIELDS ARE WON.

Battle-Scarred Veteran Salutes Montreal Recorder Dupuis in Court Room as "Captain" and Won His Freedom.

"Thank you, Captain!" said Peter Lee, raising his hand in martial salute towards Mr. Recorder Dupuis, from the dock in the Recorder's court, when the words were pronounced that made him a free man.

Peter has almost reached the threescore years, but his figure is still upright and his carriage that of a well-trained soldier. His bronzed face flushed as he entered the dock to answer to a charge of drunk and loitering, yet he did not fail to draw himself to his full height and bring his right hand smartly to the salute.

Constable John Collins found the agen veteran somewhat the worse of liquor on Craig street and brought him to the lockup.

"I am an old soldier," quoth Peter to the Recorder. "I have fought for my country, Your Honor, under Roberts at Cabul and Kandahar, and followed the flag with the same gallant leader in the South African war. Twice, Your Honor, in the Afghan war I was slashed upon the head with the sabre of an enemy during a fierce cavalry charge."

"What have you to say about yesterday?" asked the Recorder.

"Ever since I received the sabre wounds Your Honor, I have been a little weak in the head, and a very small of amount of drink makes me crazy.

"I exchanged the field of battle for the more peaceful fields of a farm at Three Rivers, Your Honor, and yesterday I came to town on a little pleasure trip. I met a friend and had some drink, and knew nothing more of what happened to me until this morning."

"I think," said the Recorder, "the peaceful farm is the best place for you after all. Go back to Three Rivers and don't let me see you around here again."

Up straightened the figure of the veteran of many wars, up went the hand in salute, and out to freedom walked Peter Lee, soldier of the Empire under Roberts.

THAWS ECCENTRICITIES

Persons who knew him Believed him Irrational—Family History Revealed

NEW YORK, January 17.—Adhering strictly to their promise to interpose no other defence than that of insanity in behalf of their client, the attorneys representing Harry K. Thaw, at his trial today continued the examination of witnesses, who swore that Young Thaw at various times in his life appeared to them as irrational and mentally unsound practically all of the testimony was entirely new to the case, and had to do with acts down to the day of the tragedy itself. Then came the declaration of ten men who sat on the coroner's jury during the enquiry into Stanford White's death, all of whom declared that the defendant the day following the shooting acted irrationally. His manner and appearance were such as to cause the inquest jury to discuss his state of mind after their formal verdict had been rendered.

In the day's testimony there was more delving into the history of the Thaw family. Alfred Lee Thaw, of Richmond, Va., a third cousin of the defendant, took the stand and told of the taint of insanity that had caused his father and brother to die in state asylums.

Some of Thaw's alleged eccentricities, revealed for the first time, were related by Christopher Baggan, steward of the New York Whist Club; by Miss Matilda Stein, a telephone operator, and by August Weber, a former butler in Thaw's household. Thaw spent a portion of the afternoon of June 25, 1906, at the Whist Club, and at that time—a few hours before the tragedy—was pictured by the steward as being highly nervous and as frequently exclaiming: "This is awful." He asked the steward to have a valuable package put into the safe. After the shooting the package was opened and found to contain three cigarettes wrapped in tinfoil.

SEVENTY-FIVE TELEPHONE CALLS.

The telephone operator told of Mr. Thaw putting in seventy-five calls one morning at the Grand Hotel, and then forgetting all about them. The butler told many details of Thaw's life at home in 1903, and was still under examination when adjournment was taken, The separate incidents of alleged irrational conduct on the part of the defendant are being put in evidence by Mr. Littleton as the foundation for the expert testimony that is to come. The attorney also hopes to accumulate such a mass of testimony as to Thaw's erratic conduct as to make it impossible for the district attorney to fulfill the task the law places upon him of proving Thaw sane "beyond every reasonable doubt."

An elderly man named Cole White was arrested this afternoon, charged with writing threatening letters to Justice Dowling about the Thaw case and was sent to the Bellevue Hospital psychopathic ward for observation. White signed the letters by covering his hand with ink and leaving the imprint on the paper.

CRAZED BY DRINK

Toronto Man Shot Mother and Sister in their Ow Home

Toronto News: The usual quiet and peaceful atmosphere of Jameson avenue in South Parkdale was somewhat disturbd last night at midnight by the revels of Albert Ernest Noble, of 100 Jameson avenue who on coming home in an intoxicated condition drove his widowed mother and married sister from the house with a Mauser cavalry carbine and then locked the door and kept them out.

Mrs. Noble, widow of the late Detective Alex. F. Noble, who died only a week ago, was seated in the dining room talking to her daughter Mrs. Joseph Lynd and Mr. Charles H. Connor, City Solicitor of St. Catherines, when the young man entered the front door, anh after reeling around the hall for a few minutes muttered something unintelligible and went up-stairs.

HAD A CAVALRY CARBINE.

The trio thought that the young man was drunk, and had gone to his room. They were surprized when a few moments later he stumbled down stairs, carrying in his hands a Mauser cavalry carbine. Without a word he raised the gun and fired in the direction of the party. The bullet went wild of its mark and lodged high up in the wall above the dining room door.

The terrified women fled precipitately from the house, closely followed by Mr. Connor. As soon as they had gone, the son locked the door and stood on guard with the carbine.

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

From a neighbor's house in which the ejected family took refuge, Mrs. Noble telephoned the police. Patrol Sergeant Taylor responded and on a pretext that Mrs. Lynd wished to see two small children said to have been left in the house, he succeeded in persuading the intoxicated man to admit him. Noble was immediately placed under arrest aod taken to No. 6 police station, where two charges one of drunkenness and oae of shooting with intent, were entered against im.

Patrol Sergeant Taylor later found the bullet.

In the police court this morning young Noble pleaded not guilty on both charges. Mr. J. Walter Curry who appeared for the prisoner, secured a weeks remand. The mother and daughter did not appear in the court.

CARLETON CO. NOTES

Newsy Items Condensed for Herald Readers

January 4th was the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Capt. nd Mrs. Thomas S. Duncan of Woodstock. A great number of their friends assembled at their beautiful residence, and right royally celebrated the event. W. Wallace Hay, in very felicitous terms, on behalf of the gathering, presented the happy couple with a well filled purse of gold, to which fitting responses were given. After this refreshments were served.

A beautiful memorial has been placed in the parish church at Woodstock. It is a brass reading desk, manufactured by the Pritchard Co., of Ottawa, and is of chaste and ornamental design. The desk bears this inscription "To the glory of God and in memory of Venerable Archdeacon Thomas Neales, for 36 years the loved and honored rector of this parish.'

The Carleton Sentinel has heard of two very weighty families. One not far from Woodstock is composed of six brothers and two sisters of the following weights: 220, 218, 215, 210, 213, 195, 183 and 180. The other family has only five in it, but they are big, weighing 225, 185, 240, 235, and 350.

On Wednesday morning, Jan. 8th, at the home of her brother, J. P. Hovey, Centreville, Miss Janey M. Hovey, youngest daughter of the late Edmund L. Hovey, M. D., was united in marriage to Frederick S. Wortman of Upper Kent.

Miss Jordan, who has been ticket agent in the Queen street station, Woodstock, for the past five years, has been transferred to Mr. Manzer's office at the lower station. Frank Lee is now in charge of the Queen Street station. Mr. Estabrooks, the porter, has been transferred to the freight shed.

The Consolidated Telephone Company, a company whose lines now extend to all points in the parish of Kent, Carleton Co., and to the principal places in the parish of Wicklow, opposite side of the river, are extending their line to Bristol and Florenceville.

E. L. Clarke, for many years chief clerk in Dibblee's hardware store, Woodstock, has decided to branch out for himself. About the first of March he will open a new up-to-date hardware business. Mr. Clarke is a man who has a great many friends, and as he is right up in his line, will surely do well.

A very quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison W. Rogers, Northampton, on Tuesday, Jan. 7th, when James C. Hovey and Martha E. McGee were united in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Macredie of Kenora, who are visiting in Fredericton, were in Woodstock a couple of days last week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace. Mr. Macredie is one of the C. P. R.'s Divisional engineers.

The steam heating plant in the United Baptist churrh, Woodstock, has fust been finished by the contractor, C. I. Churchill, and works to perfection.

On Wednesday Miss Louise Perley, daughter of J. Allan and Mrs. Perley, and Nelson Hanson of Montreal, were married at Trinity church, Andover.

The Woodstock Sentinel says: Hay and oats still keep tumbling in price. Potasoes remain about so so. Cordwoyd is down to $4.50 and will be still lower before spring.
