HOLMAN & FERNALD,
(Late Edwards, Holman & Co.)
MANUFACTURERS OF THE
Improved Salamander Safes,
BOSTON.
THE Certificates and Premiums given to our manufacture and the decided preference shown to it by all who regard the subject unbiassed by interest or unprejudiced in any way, surely warrant us in urging upon the community, with strong emphasis, its acknowledged if not unequalled merit. Considering the cheapness of the article, it is surprising so few of our merchants and business men provide themselves with Safes. The cost is very trifling compared with their value—the interest on the price of a medium one being but four or five dollars a year—yet hundreds of persons who are doing an extensive business, and who would not for a day suffer their buildings or other property to be uninsured, have no hesitation in risking the loss of their Books and Papers, often far more valuable. We never knew the owner of a Safe, however, who would part with it for ten times the cost, provided he could not get another. Our Safes have been repeatedly tested in the hottest fires, and in every instance the contents have been found unscathed.
Safes of all sizes manufactured, to suit any desired location. The interior arrangement can be constructed in any way that the purchaser may require. We have appointed
