WAR DEPARTMENT.

ADMIRALTY-OFFICE, JULY 28, 1812.

Admiral Lord Keith, has transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq. despatches from Captain Sir Home Popham, of His Majesty's ship Venerable, giving an account of his further proceedings subsequent to those reported in his former letters, and inserted in the Gazette of the 14th instant.

On the 2d, the squadron under his orders being off Guetaria, an attack was intended to be made upon that place, and two companies of royal marines were landed under Major Williams, accompanied by Gen. Carroll, for the purpose of reconnoitring; but some parties of the enemy being discovered crossing the hills, and the Guerillas, whose co-operation had been expected, being engaged with the enemy in a different quarter, the plan of attack was relinquished, and the marines re-embarked, but without loss.

The Guerillas had been employed in an action with a detachment of the enemy conducting 80 prisoners from Asturias. One hundred and thirty of the enemy are stated to have been killed, and fifty taken, who had been left wounded on the field of battle, and the Spanish prisoners were liberated.

On the 6th Sir Home Popham arrived off Castro, where a 24-pounder and a company of marines had been landed by Sir G. Collier from the Surveillante, to assist Colonel Longa in an attack on the place. Information was however received of the approach of 2500 French troops, whose arrival obliged Longa to retire, and the parties landed from the squadron were again re-embarked without loss. In the evening the enemy were seen marching into the town.

On the 7th the enemy were driven from the town by the fire of the squadron, and took post on the hills and preparations were made for a landing and attack on the castle on the following morning, which accordingly took place on the 8th, when the Commandant of the castle surrendered with 150 men, the remainder of the enemy's force having marched towards Larido. Twenty-six guns of different sizes were found in the town and castle of Castro; those in the former were withdrawn, and the latter put into a state of defence and garrisoned by the marines and Spanish artillerymen of the Iris, Capt. Christian.

On the 10th the squadron proceeded off Puerta Galletta, to co-operate in an attack upon it with the Spanish troops under Longa; and on the 11th much firing was kept against the batteries; but the enemy being found to be stronger than the Spaniards had expected, the attack was abandoned. During the morning, Capt. Bloyers had landed with a party of marines, and knocked off the trunnions of the guns in the Bagotta battery, and destroyed one mounted on a height.

On the 12th the Venerable anchored off Castro, which had been feebly attacked by the enemy the evening before; one of the imperial guards were wounded, and brought in a prisoner.

On the 15th, the enemy's moveable column having been drawn by a feint to Santona, from whence it could not reach Guetaria in less than four days, another attack was intended to be made upon the latter place, in concert with the Guerillas under Don Gaspar, and with the promised aid of one of the battalions under General Mina.

Early in the morning of the 18th, one 24-pounder under Lieut. Groves, and a howitzer under Lieutenant Lawrence, of the marine artillery, were landed from the Venerable, and mounted on a hill to the westward of Guetaria, under the directions of Captain Malcolm, of the Rhin, with the Hon. Captain Bouverie landed with two guns (one short 24-pounder and one 12-pounder carronade) from the Medusa, and after many difficulties in drawing them up, mounted them on the top of a hill to the eastward. The Venerable's guns began firing at noon, and continued till sun-set, when those of the enemy on that side were silenced; and the Medusa's were put in readiness to open on the following morning. During the night, however, intelligence was received of the approach of a body of French troops, which afterwards proved to be a division of between 2 and 3000 men, that had just arrived at Saint Sebastians from France, and was immediately sent forward by forced marches to Guetaria.

The uncertainty with respect to the enemy's force, and the dispositions of the guerillas to oppose their advance, prevented the re-embarkation of the guns and men landed from the squadron, until the retreat of the Spaniards, after some skirmishing with the superior numbers of the French, in which the latter are stated to have suffered severely. Capt. Bouverie then destroyed the two guns from the Medusa, and re-embarked with all his men, and every thing belonging to the guns, Capt. Malcolm was, detained longer, by a message brought to him by one of Don Gaspar's Aid-de-Camps, stating that the enemy had been beaten back, and urging him to remain in his battery; finding, however, that the enemy was advancing fast, he gave orders to re-embark, and brought off his party, with the exception of three midshipmen and 29 men, who were taken prisoners, but fortunately without having one man killed or wounded.

Sir Home Popham had sent to propose an exchange of men taken on this occasion for some of the French prisoners on board the squadron, and was in hopes of succeeding in this proposal.

The Spaniards lost a Captain of Artillery, and had a serjeant and ten men badly wounded. Those in want of surgical aid were received on board the Venerable.

The detachment expected from Gen. Mina's army arrived the morning after the action, and joined Don Gaspar, having marched 18 Spanish Leagues in two days.
