

LONDON, SEPTEMBER 5.

We received at a late hour this morning the Paris papers of Saturday. The official Gazette contains an important Proclamation from the King relative to the dreadful atrocities committed in the South of France. It will be recollected that the Paris papers were either totally silent respecting them, or represented them as of little importance. But now we have official confirmation of the violence and extent of them. The King orders the laws to be strictly executed, and no weakness or indulgence to be shewn to the guilty. The South continues to be in a most agitated state.

The report that a treaty had been concluded with the Allies still prevails at Paris, and the funds have risen to 62 1/2.

Warms and Hungen have capitulated. The Spanish army under Gen. Castanos, which had entered France, had returned to the Spanish territories.

PROCLAMATION OF THE KING.

Louis, by the Grace of God, King of France and Navarre.

To all who shall see these presents, health—

We have learnt with grief, that in the Department of the South, several of our subjects have recently proceeded, to the most criminal excesses, that under the pretext of making themselves ministers of public vengeance. Frenchmen have, to satisfy private revenge, shed the blood of Frenchmen, even before authority was universally re-established. Such a conduct, stretched throughout the whole extent of our kingdom.

Doubtless great crimes, infamous treasons, have been committed, and have plunged France into an abyss of misfortunes—atrocious persecutions have been exercised against such of our faithful subjects, who following the banner of our well beloved Nephew, courageously attempting with him to save France; but the punishment of these crimes ought to be national, solemn and regular. The guilty ought to suffer by the sword of the law and not fall under the weight of private vengeance. Justice would be offended, discord perpetuated, and a door opened to a thousand disorders; social order would be subverted, were men to substitute themselves at once judges and executioners for injuries received, or even for personal attacks. Our intentions and our orders have sufficiently made known, that the nation shall have justice done on the authors of these evils, and that indulgence granted to weakness or to error will not be extended to those criminals whose public and proved guilt can be prosecuted without causing alarm, to the multitude who obeyed doubtless, with regret the force of circumstances. We hope that this odious attempt to anticipate the operation of the laws and of our authority has already ceased. It must be regarded as an offence against us and against France, and whatever may be the regret we shall feel, nothing will be omitted by us to punish such crimes. Our worthy Nephew, whose name stands henceforth united with the sentiments of love and devotion manifested by our Southern Provinces, who, by his character of obedience, conciliation and energy, has preserved and still will preserve these provinces from invasion, ought also to be our agent in saving them from civil discords, and in repressing and punishing those who would pretend to abuse our name and his.—But doubtless the noble ties formed between him and the inhabitants of the South, will not be broken by the culpable conduct of some men thirsting for vengeance and disorder. In this confidence and with this hope we have recommended, by prior orders, to our Ministers and our Magistrates, to cause the laws to be strictly respected, and to shew neither indulgence nor weakness in the prosecution of those who have or who yet may attempt to violate them, being well convinced that our voice will not be heard in vain in a country from which we have received so many proofs of fidelity and affection.

(Signed) "LOUIS. (Countersigned) "PASQUIER, Keeper of the Seals, and Minister of Justice."

Letter of the King of France to the Vicars Capitular of the diocese of Paris, the See being Vacant.

Gentlemen—Deeply affected with the new proof of mercy which God has bestowed on us in bringing us back to our dominions; profoundly afflicted by the excesses committed against our holy religion during the revolution, and by the calumnies which they have drawn upon our kingdom, my first duty, and the first wish of my heart is, to express our gratitude to him for the benefits by atoning as much as possible for the outrages offered to him and by imploring him to be pleased to pour his blessings on us and our people.—I regret that circumstances have not permitted us to do it earlier; in consequence my intention is, that you order solemn and expiatory prayers. Whereupon, I pray God, Messieurs Vicars-Generals, to have you in his holy keeping. LOUIS. Written at Paris, Aug. 30, 1815.

NEW-YORK, OCTOBER 21. IMPORTANT BRITISH ORDER IN COUNCIL.

Dated Aug. 17th relating to the Trade with the U. States.

From and after the date of this order, until six weeks after the commencement of the next session of Parliament, there shall be paid on the importation into this kingdom, from the territories of the United States of America, in vessels of the said States, of any goods, wares, or merchandise, being of the growth, manufacture, or production of the said territories, the same duties of customs that are payable on such goods, &c. when imported from the United States in British ships, and no other or higher duties of customs; and it is hereby further ordered, that on the exportation of any goods, &c. the growth, &c. of his Majesty's territories in Europe, from this kingdom to the United States, in vessels of the said States, there shall be paid the same duties as are by law payable on such goods, &c. when exported to the said States in British vessels, and none other or higher duties; and it is hereby further ordered, that on the exportation from this kingdom to the U. States of any goods, &c. the growth, &c. of his Majesty's territories in Europe, in vessels of the said States, there shall be paid and allowed the same bounties as are paid and allowed on such goods, &c. when exported to the said States in British vessels."

It can hardly be doubted, that the above Order in Council has been issued by the British government in execution of the stipulation contained in the Commercial treaty, lately negotiated between this country and Great-Britain. Of this treaty we have not yet been permitted by the administration, to know any thing, but—by guess. Neither does it seem that there is any desire on the part of Mr. Madison, to hasten that system of equal and exact justice, which the British Government have already acted upon. Why has the senate not been called to pass upon this treaty? Why, when the hirings of administration are incessantly bawling about the animosity Great-Britain bears us, are we pursuing so laggard a march, or rather no march at all, in the work of reconciliation, and friendship? Why is not the senate convened? Or, will Mr. Madison reject the treaty—like his predecessor, spurning the "advice" of his constitutional counsellors? There is certainly something mysterious in the business.

Reversion of Valuable Property for Sale.

THE Subscriber is willing to SELL his RIGHT in the Falls of Magogaudovic; there are three Saws and a Sluice upon it, for sluicing boards from the upper Mills, which is almost constantly employed, at half a dollar & thousand—there are fifteen Acres, or thereabouts, cleared, upon which are four DWELLING HOUSES; this Property is under Lease for £50 a year. Water for carrying the works is never wanted, be the season ever so dry—the Rivers and Lakes run up far beyond Fredericton, and the great Lake or source, is as large as Saint Andrew's Bay, and in one part is but eight miles from the River St. John—as many Mills or Water-works might be erected upon the privilege as might be deemed expedient, and the Timber is said to be almost inexhaustible. Fish—such as Salmon, Alewives, &c. might be let up through the dams, at a very trifling expence; this is no idle speculation or theory; but is obvious at the first glance—fish in the season come in shoals, but are stopped at the foot of the great Falls; but could they get up into the Lakes, there would be few Rivers in the Province superior for Fishery.—The Lease has four years to run, from the 1st of May next. Also might be had 300 Acres of LAND, contiguous to the Mills, not included in the Lease, upon which there are 10 Acres of cleared Intervale.

The situation is well known, but as no person would purchase without an examination; he refers for further Particular to himself, or any other communication of the subject, will be received by Messrs CROOKSHANK & JOHNSTON.
