

pean Officer, and that not more than three officers were wounded. With respect to the proceedings of the Rajah of Berar, the only information upon that subject, possessed by the East India Company, and the Board of Control, rested on a single letter without a date; at the same time, Mr. Canning stated his belief of the contents of that letter. Mr. Howarth, in reply, declared his intention of submitting a motion, shortly, for the production of such information touching the present posture of affairs in India, as ought to, and could be, furnished, especially as the Right Hon. Gentleman had only intimated, his readiness to afford it, but offered to assist in preparing the motion.

Lord A. Hamilton brought forward his motion, respecting a breach of the privileges of that House. The case, as detailed by his Lordship, appears to be that an individual of the name of Ferguson, made an unauthorised use of Lord Douglas's name, in promising to provide for the friend of a Mr. Bankes, a freeholder in the county of Lanark, provided he (Mr. B.) voted for Sir Alexander Cochrane, who had announced his intention of offering himself as a candidate for that county at the next election. The question was finally disposed of, by referring it to a Committee of Privileges.

Banishment from Scotland.

On Wednesday se'night came on before the High Court of Justiciary, at Edinburgh, the trial of the Rev. Joseph Robertson, Minister of the Gospel, Leith Wynd Chapel, Edinburgh, and Wm. Pearson, spirit-dealer in the Canongate, accused of a falsehood, fraud, and forgery, and also of celebrating clandestinely and irregularly, marriage, contrary to the Act of first Parliament of Charles II. 1661, chap. 34. The libel was found relevant at a former meeting of the Court, and the panels having pleaded not guilty, a Jury was chosen, and the trial proceeded. Seven witnesses were examined in support of the prosecution, and five in favour of the prisoners. Thursday the prisoners being found guilty, they were sentenced to be imprisoned three months in the Canongate gaol, and afterwards Mr. Robertson to be banished from Scotland for life, and Pearson for 14 years.

Lord Nelson's boatswain, James Phillips, died last week, in Bedminster, and was interred on Sunday last, in Redcliff churchyard, Bristol. This gallant tar had received four large sabre wounds on his head, several gun and pistol shot wounds in his body, and three balls in his right leg and thigh. After the memorable battle of Trafalgar, his hull being much shattered, he obtained an honourable discharge, and was laid up in ordinary. He had just attained the age of his beloved Admiral, 47 years.

BOSTON, MAY 12.

In a late debate in the British House of Commons, Lord Castlereagh said, "the true interest of every Country was to throw wide open its Ports to the unrestricted Commerce of other Countries." And the sentiment was cheered from every part of the House.

In answer to the inquiry of a writer in the Palladium, the National Intelligencer has published extracts from two British Laws, shewing that a trade is authorised to the English West-India Islands in the vessels and produce of American Colonies belonging to European Nations—though vessels of the U. S. are not permitted to carry our produce.

EFFECTS OF LIGHTNING.

On the log-book of the ship Goconda, arrived at New-York from Havre, is entered the following awful instance of the effect of lightning: "On the 21st of April on the Eastern end of the Banks of Newfoundland, received a stroke of lightning, which lifted every man two feet from the deck—the ship was in a flame for three minutes—the lightning descended the main spining stay, and set the union stay sail on fire, but being wet, soon went out—Wm. White was so severely wounded, that his life is despaired of. A heavy shower at the time, probably saved the ship from destruction.

At Stockbridge, on the 6th inst, between 9 and 10 in the evening, the house of Mr. Northway, was struck with lightning. It passed from the roof into the cellar, marking its course with destruction; scarcely any part of the building remains uninjured. Two persons, a young woman and child, were laying in the same bed, near a chimney—the young woman was so badly hurt, that although yet alive, small hopes are entertained of her recovery. The child received no material injury. There were also a number of persons in different rooms in the house, yet none received any other injury than a severe shock.

A severe thunder storm was experienced in the vicinity of Springfield on the 6th inst. A barn at Westford, was struck by lightning took fire and was consumed, together with an ox and a calf.

In Longmeadow, the corn barn of Samuel Keep, Jr. was struck by lightning, the boards were rent off from one end, from three to six feet wide, from top to bottom, and two fine hogs in a sty adjoining, instantly killed. The lightning also descended the chimney of Mr. Keep's house, and went out through the kitchen door, shivering the same considerably, without doing any other damage. The inhabitants were in bed. In a small house about 8 rods from Mr. Keep's, two men and one woman were sitting by the fire, the whole were laid prostrate on the floor by the flash, but no injury was done to their persons, or the house.

SNOW AND HAIL.

The western part of the state of New-York, experienced, the latter end of last month, a greater fall of snow than has fell at any one time during the past winter. On the 20th April, the mail stage went into Geneva on runners, and at Moscow, (not in Russia!) the snow was two feet deep—At Cornwall, one of the most violent hail storms ever felt, has occurred. It came from sea, against the wind, being driven by an upper current of air over Blackheath point, taking a N. W. direction, and extending two miles in breadth. Many of the hail stones measured two inches and half in circumference; they lay on the ground to the depth of six inches; but near hedget and in low places, they were three feet in depth.

MOBILE, APRIL 21.

Major Perault has arrived here from the seat of war, and announces the following interesting information.

The Spanish garrison of St Marks, was summoned to surrender as prisoners of war, which it did, and has arrived in Pensacola. [Doubted.—Gen. Jackson's orders were to respect the Spanish garrisons, unless the Indians fled into them for protection.]

"The Indian Chief, and Francis the prophet, had been decoyed on board an American vessel, supposing her to be English, and were hung!" "The infamously celebrated Arbuthnot (Woodbine) is in possession of Jackson, and in irons. Jackson's army is well provided, in high spirits, and has now about 6000 men, including Indian allies."

WASHINGTON, MAY 15.—Letters in from us that Messrs. Mills and Burgess, the Agents of the American Colonization Society, arrived in England in December, via France; and had received the greatest kindness and attention in both. They have since sailed for Sierra Leone, with letters from the Duke of Gloucester, Mr. Wilberforce, &c. to the Governor.
