t send

emor-

h, the

trased

ay the

s that

aught

s, and

pro-

unful

lary a

in go-

rail in

aposs-

n are

mable

COD-

licen-

e are

posed

ad of

tra-

ersons

csign

scrip-

vs on

I do

e ren-

impo-

icing,

what-

ithful

alas!

such,

or the

COT-

thing

l, by

ying

ne of

e de-

have

Pro-

iffer-

shor-

erns.

rious

aven,

please

se-

thing

Such

often

dom;

e on

Sun-

d in

press

an to

ainly

from

ually

verti-

-sqx

ment

Jewish nation taught the ten commandments, confusion. to their children at so early an age, that they It deserves a conspicuous place in every chamber, in every house. Parents and mas-they rise up. and morality. Here, and here only, is the tude of a man. In the estimation of the nation, whose views were limited by the interest and happiness of the people, have made the dissemination of the principles of sibriety, industry and virtue, the object of unceasing study and labour; and particularly among the rising generation. Animated, Gentlemen, by their great example it is our duty as magis rates and rulers, on a smaller scale to inculcate, both in our official stations, and by our personal conduct, uniform and constant obedience to every law of our country. This is the only way, and it is certainly a very efficacious one, by which we can support the precepts of order and wisdom, and be essentially useful to society. The judicial trust reposed in us, is a very solemn one; deposited in our hands for the benefit of our fellow creatures, and for which we are responsible to God, and our own consciences.

I am, however, perfeculy aware, Gentlemen, all this passes with some persons for hypoerisy, enthusiasm, and mere cant. But who, I ask, are they that thus calumniate us? They are the profane, they are the vicious, they are the very profligate of the earth : occupied posts on the heads of the Columbia, Men, whose censure, in my opinion, de- and the rivers flowing from the Rocky serve no more notice or regard, than the clamours of a gang of highwaymen, against law, order and government. Be not deceived, Gentlemen; every immoral man, and every other man, that habitually breaks the laws of the land, is an enemy to his country. Whatever may be the hypocritical language of his lips, his actions speak louder than his words, and incontestibly show the hostility of his heart. And from the infectious nature of bad example, he is often a greater curse and injury to the moral interests of society, than the highway robber himself.

If it be cant and enthusiasm in magistrates to support this law, with equal propriety may the reflection be extended to the legislative body who passed it: unless it should be pretended, that judges and justices have a right to determine what laws are founded in cant, and what are not; and to execute them or not, at their pleasure. A position too preposterous to be maintained by any body, but a downright ideot .-- If indeed it be enthusiasm to discountenance those vices, that threaten to deluge our country with ruin; if it be enthusiasm to labour with zeal and ardour in the cause of virtue and our country's good; if it be enthusiasm to discharge an official obligation with fidelity and honour; if it be enthusiasm to force ] obedience to those laws, which are the foundation, pillar and prop of all other laws, and of government itself; it must be confessed, Gentlemen, it is that kind of enthustasm, which ought to be the pride and ornament of every judicial character in the law? Judges and Justices are bound to exocute ail laws, one as much as another; and as they lay no claim to perfection, more than other men, it may possed y happen, they may be obliged to cond to in other persons, a-vice from which they are not them- gratifying prospect.

than the voice of the people. And it is e- hypocrisy; though it is natural to think, vessel of state through a heavy and tremenqually clear, this virtue must originate in the awkwardness of the situation, and in- dous storm. He had heard with great pain domestic education, in obedience to parent- consistency of conduct, might be sufficient the report relative to the withdrawing the al authority, and in a love of order. The to cover such magistrates with blushes and allied troops from France. They might as were the first sentences they were able to hypocrisy cannot be fairly imputed to those could not rely for support upon the throne lisp; and every body knows the care and who execute this law, torrents of odium and of France on the affections of the people of pains employed by the wisdom of old Rome, defamation may be let loose upon them. By that country. When unaided by foreign in order to impress a knowledge of the some persons their conduct may be steemed force they had been twice expelled. It twelve tables on their youths. If I was an unpardonable outrage on the rights of must be obvious that if another convulsion called upon to pome out a particular law of gentlemen; by others, the effect of a low sook place in France, the whole of Europe the state of Pennsylvania, as entitled to the and churlish disposition; and by others, the must be again involved in war, in which superior attention of its inhabitants, it should effervescence of a weak and superstitious this country could not escape from taking be The act for the prevention of vice and mind. It must indeed be acknowledged to part. Then would the laurels we had won immorality. There is no positive law of be extremely unpopular, to attack the vices | wither on our brow, and the battle of Wathe land that deserves to be inculcated with of those who are distinguished by wealth and terloo would have been fought in vain. half the solicitude, on the rising generation. influence, and especially in a government The Duke of Otranto had given it as his ters should teach it deligently to all their supporting this most valuable and excellent main in France. The allies had twice condomestics. They should "talk of it when law, I honestly warn you beforehand, that quered France-and, by the right of conthey sit in the house, when they walk by you must expect to run the gauntlet. You quest, they might have partitioned France the way, when they lie down, and when must expect to be scourged with the sneers according to the divisions in Casat's Comof the wise, the proud man's contumely, mentaries. As for Louis XVIII, his dis-Let politicians speculate, and philoso- the contempt of the rich, and the endless position afforded every reason to believe that phers dogmatise on forms of government, as impertinence of fools and sycophants. But he would become an instrument in the hands long as they please, it remains an eternal all this, and a thousand times more, you truth, that the liberties of a country can be will be able to despise, if you are possessed preserved only by the practice of religion of the spirit of your station, and the fortisolid rock on which human glory and feli- wise and good, they have often been overcity can be permanently erected. Hence looked, as the dust in the balance; and it is, that the enlightened law givers of every | though they may perhaps occasion a momentary uneasiness, yet that should never be put in competition with the just reproaches of a guilty mind. Cold indeed, and coward must be the heart, and depraved the understanding, that can prefer human applause, to the exquisite satisfaction of an approving conscience, and the final reward that awaits the performance of virtuous actions, and the faithful discharge of duty.

From the London Globe of Jan. 30. An important circumstance has come to our knowledge, which, at any preceding time of our history, would have excited universal indignation, if national right and the dignity of the crown were not instantly and peremptotily asserted. We learn that the United States have actually dispatched a frigate round into the Pacific Ocean, to take possession of the river Columbia, a British station, where there is a small colony of settlers, with a front upon which the British flag flies. It was originally taken possession of by Vancouver in his Majesty's name; and that British American subjects have long Mountains to the Pacific, is well known; and that they had previously to the discoveries of Messrs. Lewis and Clarke (particularly by the expedition of Sir Alexander M'Kenzie) explored the whole country, but they had made no establishment on the coast till 1813. In that year, previous to the blished themselves at the mouth of the Columbia, by which they purchased their goods Capt. Black, of the Racoon, who again declared his Majesty's title to the settlement by the right of original discovery, and on this, repeated the solemnities before made use of by Vanconver, and the other British navigators who had visited the spot, - This is, in fact, a reviver of the Nootka Sound question, the claim made by the United S. | Star: arising solely from the purchase of Louisi ana from Spain, and which, by their construction, would put an end to our projected expedition to the North Pole, since, if disindignities.

LIVERPOOL, FEB. 7.

long a period laboured had been great, but well at once release the prisoner at St. He-But if the character of enthusiasm and lena. Undoubtedly the House of Bourbon constituted like ours. Should you there- decided opinion, that if the allied troops fore, Gentlemen, engage in the work of were withdrawn, the Burbons would not reof the Almighty to keep down the bad passions of the French people.

In this view, the tranquility of Europe was the end, and the government of the Bourbons the means. The consequence of withdrawing the Army of Occupation would probably be a convulsion leading to revolution. The French would again overrun the Netherlands and the Rhenish provinces, and demand the release of Bonaparte. He adjured ministers to use every effort to avert any resolution on the part of the allies to withdraw their troops, pregnant as he feared such resolution must be, with the most calamitous consequences.

Addresses of condolence to the respective members of the Royal Family, on the death of the Princess Charlotte, were moved and adopted.

LONDON; FEB. 4.

Amelia Island was taken possession of by the U. S. troops on the 24 Dec. Com-Aury wrote a letter to the American officer, in which he not unsuccessfully questioned the right of the American government to occupy the Island, and expressed his surprise that a mation which so recently established its own independance, should obstruct others in the pursuit of the same object. This is, at least, fair language between Republicans, who, we think should not be very fastidious about their associates. We have heard no outcries yet from the journals in this country, which affect to advocate the universal rights of mankind at the proceedings of America. We need not hint to the exclamations of horror with which we should have been assailed, had a legitimate government, that is, a regal government, occupied a terarrival of the Racoon, their traders from the ritory as a measure of precaution. But Reinterior made an arrangement with some ci- publics, in the opinion of these publicists, are tizens of the United States, who had esta- privileged to " commit the oldest sins the newest kind of ways." -- Courier.

" The North-American system seems to and post, and were found in possession by require, at this time, some official elucidation; and if we mistake not very greatly, it will not be long that one or more of the Governments of Europe will be able to avoid demanding some satisfactory explanation. Britain has precisely the same right to occupy Amelia Island at this moment, that the U. States had on the 22d Dec. last."

> LIVERPOOL, JANUARY 28. UNITED STATES.

A rumour has been in circulation of a covered, they would claim possession of the protest having been made by the British whole of it! What must be the mornined Minister at Washington against the occufeelings of his Royal Highness the Prince parion of Florida, by the United States; a Regent, on reflecting that the system which modification of this rumour confines the he has countenanced, as pursued by the ful- protest to the occupation of Amelia Islands. lowers of the immortal Mr. Fitt, have The whole is, probably, a stock-jobbing mabrought us to a condition to wink at such nœuvre; but it proceeds upon what is a very just conception of right and wrong. Were the United States to avail themselves of the disordered state of the Spanish colo-Shortly after the opening of Parliament, nies, to gratify a rapacious ambition, such a the Earl of Aylesford moved the usual ad- protest would be necessary, only it ought to But where is the hypocrisy of executing this dress. He adverted to the melancholy loss be the protests not of Great-Britain merely, the country had sustained in the death of the but of the powers of Europe unitedly. Princess Charlotte; and stated that the dif- Certainly, any such seizures would argue a ficulties under which the country had for so very hoary corruption in a young and vigorous state, and give ill promise of the proper the present state of affairs afforded a more application of her faculties in future; and if the Allied Powers have put down Bonaselves wholly exempted. In doing this, it | Earl Stanbore deprecated a systematic partean principles in Europe, they ought not can be supported by no other foundation is impossible to discover the least trace of hostility to Ministers, who had steered the to be inattentive to them in any other park of the world.

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 26.

From our correspondent at Washington. Saturday, March 21.

The people here are all elated at the prospect of a war with Spain. It is reported here that the Chev. de Onis is preparing to depart, and I have heard it whispered that troops of the United States have been preered to enter and take possession of the Floridas.

SPAIN AND THE UNITED STATES. The National Messenger, of Friday last, published at the seat of Government, contains the following:

" If it were done, when 'tis done,

"Then 'twere well it were done quickly." Our affairs with the Spanish Government have at last assumed an aspect which must lead to immediate issue. Negociation HAS CEASED, and the proud Monarch of the Inquisition must either make prompt reparation for the spoliations made upon our commerce, or, we must seek it by a resort to arms. When an honest and just appeal for our rights fail, 'tis then full time to unsheath our swords. The time has gone by, when shuffling and tricking are considered diplomacy. We have waited with a patience characteristic of our government for thirteen years: if Spain has not found it convenient to be honest in that time, she never will. The only alternative left her now, is to act justly, or take the consequences,

FREDERICTON, (N.B.)

28TH APRIL, 1818.

We have been favored with a perusal of London papers, brought by the mail, to the 1st of March, --- they are chiefly filled with matter, to us, is of

The Mails from St. John and Halifax have not On Wednesday last Mr. BENJAMIN AYERICG, a Passenger in the Sloop Regent for this place, fell overboard opposite Mistake Point and was drowned. The marriage of the Princess Elizabeth with the Prince of Hesse Homberg is finally determined Charles the 13th King of Sweden, died after a severe Illness. He was born in 1748 and was raised to the thrown in 1809. It is expected that the vessels about to explore the Arctic regions will be ready about the 24th

An attempt has lately been made in Paris to assasjanate the Duke of Wellington; 'a Pistol Ball was fired at the Carriage at the moment when his Grace was entering his Hotel.' efforts were immediately made for the discovery of the offender.

Sir Richard Croft, (late Accoucher to the Princess Charlotte) terminated his existence by shooting Passengers from the Cape of Good Hope (says a London paper of the 22d Feb.) who left St Helena not more than seven or eight weeks ago, state that Bonaparte was reported at that Period to be extremely ill.

NOTICE.

THE SUBSCRIBER having disposed of the Stock of GOODS now on had, with the STORES, late the Property of FRASER, DON-ALDSON, & Co. to J. KENAH, Esq. wishes to close his Accounts here, by the 15th day of MAY at farthest .-- He therefore requests that those who may still owe accounts to F. D. & Co. to gist December last, or to himself to this date, and who cannot at once pay the same, do call and settle, by giving NOTES for their respective balances, that the Books may be immediately closed JAMES FRASER

Fredericton, 24th April, 1818.

NOTICE. LL Persons having any just demands against A the Estate of the late JOHN M'KEEN, deceased, are requested to present the same duly attested within twelve calendar months from the date hereof; and all those indebted to said Estate are desired to make immediate payment to MARGARET M'KEEN, Administratrix. WILLIAM M'KEEN, Administrator. Maugerville, 10th April, 1818.

Last Notice to Debtors.

ALL those indebted to the Subscriber, neglecting to settle, their Accounts will be put in the hands of an Attorney to collect.

JEDEDIAH SLASON. Fredericton, 9th March 1818.

NOTICE. A LL Persons having any demands against the Estate of the late JOHN M'LEOD, deceased, will render their accounts for adjustment, and those indebted to said Estate will make immediate pay-

JEDEDIAH SLASON, Executors. Fredericton, 7th April 1818.