

the fury of the tempest. Being in the vicinity of the ice to the northward, we wore the ship, and lay to under those two small sails for sixty hours. The sea ran tremendously. We carried a boat at each quarter of a ship, suspended by the davits, much above the deck; on the second day of the storm's continuance, a heavy sea struck the ship, and with dreadful violence came on deck, but happily did no serious damage. It lifted up the weather quarter boat, and had nearly thrown it upon deck; and the lee boat, with another on the chocks, were completely filled with water. It lifted an eighteen-pounder caronade quite out of its place, and washed away or stove in the quarter and waistboards, fore and aft.

"During the whole continuance of this gale, the barometer never varied one-fifth of an inch."

* Some time afterwards, when mentioning this circumstance to an old Greenland commander, he told me he had himself more than once seen the phenomenon I described, and always considered it a prognostic of a storm; at the same time, its position pointed out the quarter from whence it would commence.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10.

Yesterday, after the Chief Judge had delivered the charge, Judge Houston stated, that during the vacation, a number of the National Intelligencer, containing an essay signed Franklin, respecting the South American privateers, had been enclosed in a blank cover, and sent to him. His honor stated, that that essay contained a paragraph which might be construed into a threat, and might have been, and probably was, intended as a threat. We do not remember the precise terms of that paragraph, but the amount of it was, that any one who should condemn persons for engaging in the holy cause of assisting the Patriots of South America, could not long expect to live either as a judge or man. His Honor observed, that that paper could not have been sent to him with any good motive, and he spoke in terms of just and becoming indignation, of an attempt either to influence the mind of a Judge on a subject upon which he was about to act in a judicial capacity, or to deter him by threats from a faithful discharge of his duty, and said, that he should in all cases discharge his duty in the execution of the laws of his country, regardless of every attempt to bias his mind, or deter him by threats.

The cases of those gentlemen who have been recognized to answer the informations lodged against them for privateering under South American flags, against the commerce of nations with whom our government is at peace, will be laid before the Grand Jury, and if bills are found, they will probably have their trials during the term.

Boston, November 10.

Before this time the British have restored to the Americans the settlement of Columbia River; and it is probable that next year a regiment of United States troops will be stationed there, and a line of posts established across the continent.

November 14.

A letter dated Havana, 18th ult. received by the schooner Comet, at Charleston, says, "Coffee is at a price never before known in this city; sales have actually been made at 23 cents per 100 lbs; and contracts for the coming crop have been made at unprecedented high prices."

Another letter of the 19th ult. quotes coffee at 30 dols.; rice 9 62½; flour 19. The crop of coffee is represented as not so abundant as was expected a few months since.

FREDERICTON (N. B.)

8TH DECEMBER, 1818.

The Courier with the Mails (due yesterday) from Halifax and Saint John, had not arrived when this paper was put to Press.

The Earl of Selkirk has sailed from New-York in the ship Courier for Liverpool.

In the United States, it is believed there are above 160 Auxiliary Bible Societies, and one fourth of them are said to be conducted by females.—Am. paper.

SUCH Ladies or Gentlemen as have not yet Subscribed, and who may wish to testify their respect for the memory of the lamented PRINCESS CHARLOTTE OF WALES, by contributing towards the proposed MONUMENT, have an opportunity of subscribing at the SECRETARY'S Office. It is intended in a few days to close the Subscription Book, when the amount received, together with the names of Subscribers, will be transmitted to the Committee in London.

Agreeable to the notice which appeared in the ROYAL GAZETTE of the 24th ult. a respectable number of the Sons of Caledonia assembled in the house of Mr. James Van Horne, to celebrate the Anniversary of St. ANDREW.—An excellent dinner was served up, in true Scottish style, wherein the favorite dish, a Haggis, held a conspicuous place. J. B. Lowe, Esq. A. M. late of the City of Saint Andrew's, was called to the Chair—after which, BURNS' Address to a haggis being repeated, by a native of Dumfries, the company sat down to dinner.

The cloth being removed, each prepared to spend the evening with mirth and glee.—Scottish Proverbs, and Scottish Anecdotes, went round, and served to heighten the enjoyment.

The Chairman then rose, and after expatiating for a short time on the cause of the evening's assembly, said, that it was worthy the dignity of Scotsmen to meet together in unity, but more so on a night when thousands of their countrymen were met for the same end, viz. the celebration of the anniversary of their Tutelar Saint; and as he understood this to be the first meeting of the kind ever held in this town, he hoped it might not be the last.

The following are among the numerous Toasts and Songs which were given during the evening, and followed with tunes on the National Bagpipe:—

- "The King."
- "The Prince Regent."
- "The Queen and Royal Family."
- "The pious Memory of Saint Andrew."
- "Field Marshal the Duke of Wellington and the brave Regiments who fought under his command;"—(three times three.)
- Song—"Scots wha hae wi' Wallace bled"
- "Major-General Smyth, the Lieutenant-Governor of this Province."
- "Lieutenant-General the Earl of Dalhousie"
- Song—"Caledonia."
- "Colonel the Hon. Sir Robert Le P. Trench and the 74th Regiment."
- Song—"Kail brose o' auld Scotland."
- "The Land o' Cakes an' Brither Scots."
- Song—"Auld Lang Syne."
- &c. &c. &c.

The evening was spent with mirth and festivity, and much harmony prevailed.—After mutual congratulations the company retired at eleven o'clock.

MARRIED] On Saturday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Mills, Captain John B. Payne, to Miss Fanny, second daughter of Mr. Cornelius Atherman, all of this place.
