

SELECTED POETRY.

The following lines are intended as a versified abstract of a Sermon preached from Hebrews, iv & 9:—There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.—
March 28th, 1819.

How false and erroneous the fond expectation,
Of permanent rest and enjoyment below,
Misfortune or care will pervade ev'ry station,
And poison our sweets with the essence of woe.
Mortality's sons, from the summit of grandeur,
In countless declensions to poverty's cave,
Are doom'd thro' "this vale of affliction" to wander,
And struggle with griefs till they sink in the grave.
But oh! cheering trust to the children of sorrow,
Whom courage inspires and religion sustains—
Who through the dark day view a shining to-morrow,
Assured "that a rest for the righteous remains."
No sickness or anguish infect the bright dwelling,
No care finds access to the seats of the blest,
And raptures on raptures celestially swelling
Eternally charm in the mansions of rest.
What mind of perception, what being of reason,
Can bound his desires with the pleasures of time—
Embitter'd with pain and so transient their season,
Whilst torture unceasing must follow the crime.
O pause! ere you stand on the verge of perdition,
Oh fly to your Saviour, and hide in his breast,
With angels and saints share the blissful condition
Prepared for the just in the mansions of rest.

DYSENTERY COMPLAINTS.

As the season of the year has returned in which Diarrhæas and Dysentery complaints, are more prevalent than at some other seasons of the year, permit me, Sir, to state for the benefit of my fellow citizens, that by upwards of twenty-seven years experience, I have found, that whenever my bowels were affected by any of these disorders, RICE has been a sovereign remedy, and always relieved me in a few hours; and it has always been attended with the same good effect, when complaints of that nature have attacked any of my children or family. I have frequently recommended it to others, who have benefited thereby. At this season of the year, I would recommend it to be given to children, as a meal, at least two or three times a week—let your rice be sufficiently cooked, either with milk or otherwise, so that it is made palatable—if some prefer it in mutton soup, they will find it beneficial, or in any other way.

June 24, 1819.

A boy of seven years of age, in the town of Weser, Germany, playing one day with his little sister of 4 years old, was alarmed by the cry of some men who were in pursuit of a mad dog. The child suddenly looking round him, saw the dog running towards him; but instead of making his escape, he took off his coat & wrapping it round his arm, he boldly faced the dog, and holding out the arm covered with the coat the animal attacked it, and worried the coat till the men came up, who being armed with clubs killed the dog. The men reproachfully asked the boy why he did not run and avoid the dog, which he could so easily have done. Yes, said the little hero, I could have run from the dog; but if I had, he would have attacked my sister. To protect her, therefore, I thought of offering him my coat, which he might tear at till you should come up and kill him. The men, as well they might, first admired his courage in facing the dog; but they were more astonished at the prudence and firmness of mind discovered by this phenomenon. The conduct of this wonderful child furnishes a useful hint to persons of more mature age, in protecting themselves from the attacks of a mad dog.

NOTICE

WHAT on Sunday the 9th day of May last, was discovered by the Pilot Boats while cruising off Point Escuminac, a Schooner, about 15 miles distant, and bearing E.N.E. from Escuminac; and upon coming up alongside of her, was found to be a Vessel of about 60 tons burthen, having no person on board, water logged, no sails nor rigging of any description, nor spars, except the two lower masts and bowsprit.
