Ever since the optiming of the season, we have been anxiously looking for some farther intelligents of their proceedings, and were somewhat surprised at hearing nothing on the subject, as it was known those employed on the part of the British had some to their post a considerable time ago. Strange as it may seem, we now learn that the whole season has been trifled away withany thing farther being done. It apfrom some misunderstanding between pears the United States Government and General Harster, who acted as their Astronomet last neason, they have now dismissed him from that situation, and appointed Major Ellicot in his place, no doubt in the hopes that the iner will be more willing to second her views, whatever they may be. It is, lowever, only justice to General Harster to state, that this change did not arise from any misconduct on his part, but from a manœuvre in politics to which great men frequently apply for the fulfilment of their designs. By this arrangement we are to consider Major Ellicot as the Astronomer on the part of the United States, and Dr. Tiarks on that of Great Britain. On the appointment of the former gentleman, he came to Burlingwhere he met Dr. T. who was there ton, on his way to the Bay; but we are assured nothing of an official nature passed between them; and instead of proceeding to their post and entering upon their summer de ties in conjunction as was expected, the United States Astronomer pursued the following extractinary conduct, no doubt in cor formity with private instructions he had received to that effect. He left Dr. T. at Burington, and in a clindestine manner went with his party to Rouse's Point, where they were engaged for some weeks in taking observations and, determining its latitude, and that without any intimation to those employed on the part of Great Britain; at the same time avoiding, on the plea of sickness, to met the other Commissioner at Missipuoi Bay, where they were waiting for him. Subsequently when ordered to go to the Bay, he did not think proper to obey, but went, on the same pretence of indisposition, to Burlington, to meet the American Commissioners, although he must have known they had been for some time at Swanton expecting him there. In this state matters stood by our last accounts, with Dr. Tiarks waiting at Missiquoi Bay for Major Ellicot, as the acting Astronomer for the United States ; being aware that he cannot act legally but in conjunction with him. We have heard of the celebrated Chinese Jugglers, the tricks of Herman Boaz, and latterly the wonderful feats of Riamo Same : but this is an instance of juggling that leaves them all in the back ground. Though not entirely new, as respects the quarter from : hich it proceeds, it is but too obvious that " there is more meant than meets the eye :" and as it illustrates the character of those we have to deal with, ought to put us on our guard. While the United States are practising all these delays, in the accomplishment of this object, they are carrying on their military roads and canals for the transportation of warlike munitions towards this Province. with the greatest alacrity. Our Northern Boundary .- The Plattsburgh Republican of Saturday last states, that the scientific Agent appointed by our government to ascertain the boundary line Leiween the United States and Lower Canada, concurring with the observations made last year, expresses the opinion, that the military works at Rouse's Point are north of the 45th degree of latitude.

The Boston Centinel, of Wednesday, on the same subjects, remarks, on the authority Fletters from Vermont, that the Commisfamilies sioners on the Northern Boundary line have finished their surveys and observations, and that it was generally understood, though notofficially promutgated, that the boundary hine between the United States and Lower Canada, has fallen a mile and a half to the south ward of Rouse's Point.
