THE NEW GOD SAVE THE KING. By George Colman the younger.

LORD, while thy chastening hand, Wide thro' this loyal land, Sorrow doth fling! Each Briton's heart-felt tear, Shed o'er the Father's bier, Bids us the Son revere; God save the King!

Long may war's clangour cease, Long may the Dove of peace Here spread her wing; Lull'd thus in sweet repose, Oh! from domestic foes, Oh! from black treason's blows, Heaven guard the King.

While GEORGE'S praise we sound, Rally his throne around, United cling. Think who upheld his sire! Who quell'd the Despot's fire! Raised Britain's glory higher, 'Twas GEORGE OUR KING!

These beautiful Stanzas were sung in addition to the sublime national Air of God save the King. on the re-opening of the Covent-Garden Theatre after His Majesty's lamented death. It is said the number of vocal and instrumental performers were immense. It is also affirmed that the public were admitted gratis, and that the last verses were seven times encored.

MARY'S TEARS. Were not the sinful Mary's tears, An off'ring worthy Heaven; When o'er the faults of former years, She wept and was forgiven.

When, bringing ev'ry balmy sweet, Her day of luxury stor'd, She o'er her Saviour's hallowed feet, The precious perfume pour'd;

And wiped them with her golden hair, Where once the diamond shone; But now those gems of grief are there, Which shine for God alone.

Thou that has slept in error's sleep, O wouldst thou wake in Heaven, Like Mary kneel, like Mary weep, Love much and be forgiven.

SPECIMEN OF WELSH PREACHING.

At a meeting of Ministers at Bristol, the Revd. Mr. ---, invited several of his Brethren to ciating at the Welsh meeting house in that city. He was an entire stranger to all the company, and silently attentive to the general conversation of his Brethren. The subject on which they were dis- LANGEN & ROBERTSON. coursing was the different strains of public preaching. When several had given their opinion and had mentioned some individuals as good Preachers, and such as were models as to style of composition, &c. solicited his opinion. He said he felt it to be a privilege to be silent when such men were discoursing, but that he felt it a duty to comply with this request. " But," said he, " if I must give my opinion, I should say that ye have no good Preachers in England" "No!" said Mr. L "No," said he; "that is, I mean no such Preachers as we have in the Principality " " I know," said Mr. L. you are famous for jumping in Wales, but that is not owing, I suppose, so much to the strain of Preaching which the people hear, as to the enthusiasm of their characters." " Indeed," said the Welshman, "you would jump too, if you heard and understood such Preaching " " Why," said Mr. L, "do you not think I could make them jump, if I were to preach to them!" "You make them jump!" exclaimed the Welshman, " you make them jump !- A Welshman would set fire to the world, while you were lighting your match." in this new turn of the subject, and unanimously requested the good man to give them some specigive you; if John Elias were here, he would give you a specimen indeed-oh! John Elias is a great Preacher." "Well," said the company, " give ments to the said THOMAS RYAN. us something that you have heard from him." " Oh no!" said he, " I cannot do justice to it; beside, do you understand the Welsh language?" They said " no, not so as to follow a discourse." "Then," said he, " it is impossible for ye to understand it, if I were to give you a specimen." But," said they, " cannot you put it into English?" "Ch!" said he, " your poor meagre language would spoil it; it is not capable of expressing those ideas which a Welshman can conwas encreased, and nothing would do but something of a specimen; while they promised to make every allowance for the language "Well," said the Welshman, " if you must have a piece I must" try, but I don't know what to give you, -I do. not recollect a piece of John Elias, he is our best a made in the neatest manner. Preacher: I must think a little ; -well, I recollect a piece of Christmas Evans, Christmas Evans was a good Preacher, and I beardhim a little time ago at an association of Ministers. He was Preaching on the depravity of man by sin -of his recovery by the Death of Christ, - and he said, ' Brethren, if I were to represent to you in a figure, the condition of man as a sinner, and the means of his recovery by the cross of Jesus Christ, I would represent it somewhat in this way: Suppose a large grave-yard surrounded by a high wall, with only one entrance, which is by a large iron gate which is fast bolted. Within these walls are thousands and tens of thousands of human beings, of all ages and of all classes, by one epidemic disease bending to the grave, -the grave yawns to swallow them, and they must all die -there is no balm to relieve them -no physician there—they must perish. This is the condition of man as a sinner, -all, all have sinned, and the soul that sinneth it shall die. While man was in this eplorable state, Mercy, the darling attribute of Deity, came down and stood at the gate, looking at the scene and wept over it, exclaiming, " oh that I might enter, I would bind up their wounds, - I would relieve their sorrows-I would save their souls! While Mercy stood weeping at the gate, an embassy of Angels, commissioned from the Court of Heaven to some other world, passing over, paused at the sight, and Heaven forgave that pause; and seeing Mercy standing there, they cried, Mercy, Mercy, can you not enter? can you look upon this scene and not pity? can you pity and not relieve? Mercy replied, I can see; and in tears she added, I can pity, but I cannot relieve! Why can you not enter? Oh! said Mercy, Justice has barred the gate against me, and I cannot, must not unbar it. At this moment Justice himself appear'd, as it were to watch the gate The Angels enquired of him, why will you not let Mercy in? Justice replied, 'my law is broken and it must be honoured. Die they or Justice must'! At this, there appeared a form among the Angelic band, like unto the Son of God, who ad- phur, Fig Blue. dressing himself to Justice, said, What are thy demands? Justice replied, 'My terms are stern and riged, -I must have sickness for their health, -I must have ignominy for their honor-I must have death for life. Without shedding of blood there is no remission'! 'Justice,' said the Son of God, 'I accept thy terms. -- On me be this wrong, and let Mercy enter' 'When,' said Justice, 'will you perform this promise?' Jesus replied, ' Four thousand years hence, upon the hill of Calvary, without the gates of Jerusalem, I will perform it in my own person.' The deed was prepared and signed in the presence of the Angels of God, -- Justice was satisfied, and Mercy entered, preaching salvation in the name of lesus. The deed was committed to the Patriarchs, by them to the Kings of Israel and the Prophets: by them it was preserved till Daniel's seventy weeks were accomplished; then at the appointed time, Justice appeared on the hill of Calvary, and Mercy presented to him the important deed! 'Where,' said Justice, 'is the Son of God?' Mercy answered, ' Behold him at the bottom of the hill bearing his own cross; "-and then she departed and stood aloof at the hour of trial. Jesus ascended the hill, while in his train ately presented him with the deed, saying, . This is the day when this bond is to be executed.'-When he received it, did he tear it in pieces and give it to the winds of Heaven? No, he nail'd it to his cross, exclaiming, it is 'finish'd'. Justice called on holy fire to come down and consume the sacrifice. Holy fire descended -- it swallowed his humanity, but when it touched his Deity it expired! and there was darkness over the whole Heavens; but Glory to God in the highest; on Earth peace, good will to men.' -- " This," said the Welshman, "this is but a specimen of Christmas Evans"
