A Proclamation.

WHEREAS the General Assembly of this Province stands prorogued to Wednesday the fourth of this instant September: I have thought fit further to prorogue the said General Assembly, and the same is hereby prorogued to the first Wednesday in December next ensuing.

GIVEN under my Hand and Seal at Fredericton, the third day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-two, and in the third year of His Majesty's Reign.

Witness our hands, this 18th Oct. 1822. JOSEPH AVARD, Jun. HENRY CHAPMAN, SYLVENUS MINOR, Trustees.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It is with ridicule as with compassion, we do not like to be the solitary objects of either; and whether we are laughed at or pitied, we have no objection to share, and fancy we can lessen the weight, by dividing the load. A gentleman who was present at the battle of Leipzig, told me a humorous anecdote, which may serve to illustrate the above position. After the signal defeat of the French at this memorable action, Leipzig became full of a mixed medley of soldiers of all arms, and of all nations; of course a great variety of coin was in circulation; a British private, who was attached to the rocket brigade, and who had picked up a little broken French and German, went to the largest hotel in Leipzig, and displaying an English shilling to the landlord, inquired if this piece of coin was current there. On yes, replied he, you may have whatever the house affords for that money, it passes current here at present. Our unfortunate Bardolph, finding himself in such compliant quarters, called about him most lustily, and the most sumptuous dinner the house could afford, washed down by sundry bottles of the most expensive wines, was dispatched without ceremony. On going away he tendered at the bar the identical shilling, which the landlord had inadvertently led him to expect was to perform such wonders. The stare, the shrug, and the exclamation elicited from "mine host of the garter," by such a tender, may be more easily conceived than expressed. An explanation very much to the dissatisfaction of the landlord took place, who quickly found, not only that nothing more was likely to be got, but also that the laugh would be tremendously heavy against him. This part of the profits he had a very christian wish to divide with his neighbour. Taking, therefore, his guest to the street door of his hotel, he requested him to look over the way. Do you see, said he, that large hotel opposite? That fellow, the landlord of it is my sworn rival, and nothing can keep his story from his ears, in which case I shall never hear the last of it. Now my good fellow, you are not only welcome to your entertainment, but I will instantly give you a five frank piece into the bargain, if you will promise, on the word of a soldier, to attempt the same trick with him to-morrow, that succeeded so well with me to day. Our veteran took the money, and accepted the conditions; but having buttoned up the silver very securely in his pocket, he took leave of the landlord, with the following speech, and a bow, that did no discredit to Leipzig:— Sir, I deem myself in honour bound to use my utmost endeavours to see your wishes into execution; I shall certainly do all I can, but must candidly inform you that I fear I shall not succeed, since I played the very same trick with that gentleman yesterday; and it is to his particular advice alone, that you are indebted for the honour of my company to day. — Lacon.

Matchless Performance!—The decision of Lord Kennedy's great match for 2000 guineas, took place on Monday the 12th of August. His Lordship had taken 40 to 1, in fifties, that he would one day, of season 1822, from 12 o'clock of one night to 12 o'clock the following night, kill 40 brace of grouse, on his shooting ground at Felar, at the head of Aberdeenshire; and afterwards ride to his seat at Dunnotter, and back to Felar, a distance of 140 miles. Exactly at 12 o'clock on Sunday night, three watches were set together, and put in a box by the umpires. — Turner, Esq. on the part of Mr. Farquharson, and Capt. Barclay, on the part of Lord Kennedy: Mr. Cumming referee. At 4 in the morning, Lord Kennedy commenced shooting, attended by a great body of Highlanders, drawn together from curiosity. A great deal of rain had fallen in the night, which made the hills very wet, and made the birds wild. The first was killed at a quarter after four, and the whole forty brace in four hours after and 41 minutes. After shifting his wet clothes and taking some refreshment, he mounted his horse and started for Dunnotter, where he arrived at 2 o'clock; having rode the 70 miles in four hours and a half. He remained there about an hour, and got back to Felar four minutes before eight o'clock at night, performing the 140 miles in ten hours and 26 minutes, and winning the match by four hours and four minutes. The whole was done, shooting, riding, &c. in 15 hours and 56 minutes. He returned to Castletown that night, a distance of 14 miles, by 10 o'clock; making the whole distance on horseback 154 miles.—His Lordship did not appear fatigued.—Every thing was against him; the grouse are uncommon strong and forward this season; the road is any thing but good—the first four miles a mere mountain sheep tract, and the remainder very hard and stony, with numerous short sharp hills.—London paper. Young Wilding out done!—In the Coffee Room at the British Tavern, Bristol, the conversation of the company touched on the subject respecting the real or imaginary existence of Mermaids, when one of the party declared in favour of the affirmative: "Oh! real, beyond all doubt; I have seen seven or more at one time, the most beautiful creatures I ever beheld, with long black hair, and their young ones suckling at their breasts. The worthy and facetious host of the Bush replied "Sir, Captain —, of the —, informed me that one Sunday morning a Mermaid had suddenly appeared to his men, dressed in gay attire, with his hair frizzled and powdered as white as a full grown cauliflower, and demanded to know if the Captain was on board. The Captain soon appeared on deck. The Mermaid addressed him as follows: "Sir, I shall feel particularly obliged by your giving orders for your anchor to be taken up, as it lays against my street door, and prevents my family from going to church."

MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—Six weeks since, application was made to a person for the loan of one hundred pounds to a young chemist, who had made a discovery he was too poor to substantiate by experiment. The money was obtained, and in a few days repaid by the borrower, already raised to sudden affluence by the private disposal of his invention. It is a new mode of tanning skins, combining such rapidity and economy, as promise to the public an immediate and immense advantage. Raw hides, hitherto lying twelve months in the tan pit, and subjected to a process otherwise defective and precarious, are now perfect leather within six weeks, and at less than half the expense. The gentleman who bought the invention, is a noted opposition member and contractor; and from the terms of his stipulation, we may form some judgment of the probable magnitude of the results. He has paid him ten thousand pounds down, he has given obligatory deeds, secured him £5000 on the 1st of January, and £5000 per annum for the four years next succeeding, and afterwards eleven thousand a year for life! It is expected the price of a pair of boots will not exceed eight shillings, and a corresponding fall will be produced in all articles of leather manufacture.—Lon. pap.

BOSTON, Oct. 23.

So numerous are the piracies committed by the ruffians at Cape Antonio, that to publish entire the particulars of their enormities, would occupy too much of our paper. They are repetitions of the robbery of vessels, and of such cruelty towards the defenceless mariners, as to those, the particulars of which have been published. Information of the plunder, &c. of the following, have been received since our last: Brig Hannah, Clements, of Philadelphia; Danish schooner Alert, Ingles, from Vera Cruz, for Saint Thomas; schooner Bee, Johnson, of Charleston, burnt; brig Ardent, Jones, of Grenada; French ship Venus, from Bourdeaux; brig Vittoria, of London; Brig Industry, of Montego Bay, and a Danish ship; two American brigs, a schooner, and an English sloop, whose names are not given.

The Rebecca, of Portland, arrived at Havannah, 6th instant. A piratical sch'r of 9 guns, prize to the Peacock, arrived same day, taken on the North side of Cuba, while in the act of engaging a small British Government schooner, on the New Providence station; but the crew, except four, all made their escape to the shore. The Peacock was said to have sent another piratical schooner to Pensacola, and to have burnt 3 others. A letter from Havannah, October 5, received in this city, says, that the King's schooner rescued, was the Speedwell, and that she had arrived the day before, with accounts that the Peacock had captured 5 or 6 pirates, near Bahia Honda.

The brig Victory, of London, a captured vessel, lays, with impunity, inside the Colonados, as a store ship, where she has been for upwards of six weeks. Her cargo of coffee was put into bags, carried to Havannah, in launches, in open day, and sold. An information having been lodged against part of it, proceedings were instituted by an Alcade, when a person by the name of Barado, came forward, and swore that the property was his, that he bought it from one Bernal, a physician, who swore in his turn, that he had it from Montos de Aca, a surgeon, and this last swore it grew upon his estate! It is thus that justice is evaded in Havannah.

NEW-YORK, Oct. 21.

The weather, for three or four days, has been more like the middle of July than October. The mercury yesterday was up to 85.

Private letters from New-Orleans, of the 25th and 27th ult. state that between 7 and 800 had died from the 1st of September up to the last date. On the 24th there were 60 cases reported to the Board of Health; and it was supposed that about 1200 of those who were considered liable to take the fever, yet remained. Of one vessel from this port, 14 of the crew had fallen victims.
