

IMPORTANT MEASURE.

Expected Suspension of Specie Payment.
Extract of a letter from an intelligent American, now in England, dated April 20:—

"You find from the Parliamentary proceedings, that the government is at last compelled to give up Peel's bill, the Chancellor having intimated that he should probably this week propose a measure to enable the Bank of England still to pay in one pound notes, which were declared illegal by Peel's bill, in May 1820. This is enough to satisfy any one who has watched the effects of that bill and the conduct of the ministry, that they find it impossible to persevere in that measure, and that the flood gates of paper money will be again opened—the consequence must be, an immediate rise in the price of every thing here. Iron, copper, brass, and all the rough materials of the articles made in this neighbourhood, will start first; provisions next; labour which has been very much reduced will follow; and you will find that henceforward we shall be buying on a rising instead of a falling market—the prices of cotton, tobacco, &c. will also rise, and this will bring down exchange with you, as assisted by the return of the gold which has been accumulating in this country for three years, which will be driven out again by the paper money, and will return to other countries to increase the quantity of the circulating medium and raise prices there also. A season of speculation and apparent prosperity is about to revisit us, trade will grow very brisk again, the credit system will revive, Banks and Bankers, both here and with you, will lend money freely; business paper will wonderfully increase in quantity, and being easily discounted will cause a monstrous addition to the circulating medium, and, as I said before, will raise the price of every thing. There appears at present to be some misunderstanding between the Bank and the Ministers, but when these lovers have got over their pouting spell, and made up their minds to act in concert, which they must do, for neither can stand without the other—we shall know to a certainty what the plan of proceeding is, and if paper is resolved upon, he that foresees the consequences, and can take advantage of the market before prices rise, will make money—Iron has already advanced a little."—Phila. Paper.

Mr. Denman, one of the defenders of the Queen, has been elected Common Serjeant for London.

A subscription has been opened in France under the sanction of the King, for the erection of a monument, at Arbois, in Franche Comte, to the memory of Gen. Pichegru, who perished in a dungeon of the Temple, where he was sent by Buonaparte. The subscription is extended to England. Pichegru commanded the army opposed to the British forces under the command of the Duke of York. He refused to execute the sanguinary decree of the National Convention, which ordered him to make no British prisoners, but to put them all to death:—"We are soldiers, not assassins," was his indignant reply.

The Dumfries Courier mentions the departure of two vessels with emigrants for America, from that place, on Sunday and Wednesday last; and observes, "In the present groups of 263 souls, there are very few tradesmen; by far the greater number have been bred as farmers and farm servants, and some of them possess considerable property. One economical veteran, carries out with him £1200 in sovereigns, and there are numbers that can muster £50, £60, £70, and £100 sterling."

NOTICE.

THE Subscriber intends to leave the Province next month, and having taken all the debts due JONATHAN PAYSON, in this Province, to collect, requests all debtors to call and liquidate their notes and accounts immediately:—good lumber will be taken in payment, if delivered soon. Those who have it not in their power to make such payments, good security for the debt will be required, payable in six months from this date—and those who do not endeavour to make such payments or give such security, may rest assured that their notes or accounts will be put in the hands of an Attorney to collect, before he leaves the place.

P. E. PAYSON.
