

LONDON, DECEMBER 30.

TURKEY.

With respect to the final determination of the Congress of Sovereigns, or the "Gentlemen of Verona," as it regards the affairs of the East, and the struggle of the Greeks, we are left entirely in the dark. An important mission had been confided to Lord Strangford, to Constantinople, and affairs, it is said, will altogether turn upon the result of this. It would seem that some unexpected occurrences had transpired at Constantinople, the extent, or importance of which we cannot ascertain, although frequent mention of them is made in the papers from the 19th to the 30th of Dec. We will collect what particulars we have.

A Verona article, of Dec. 21, says, "it was immediately after the drawing up of the declaration to be presented to the Ottoman Government that Lord Strangford, who is intrusted by the Sovereigns with this mission, left our city to proceed directly for Trieste, there to embark for Corfu. But despatches from Vienna sent from Baron Stumer to Prince Metternich, having arrived afterwards, an express was immediately dispatched to Trieste, with letters for Lord Strangford, requesting him to suspend his departure till he should receive fresh instructions founded on the despatches which had been received from Vienna, and which confirmed the account of the Revolution in the Turkish Ministry. It is learned, however, that the messenger may not have found his Lordship at Trieste, as it is probable that he had embarked at Corfu.

Another account says, an extraordinary courier had arrived at Venice, from Constantinople, who passed Orsova on the 25th of Oct. on his way to Verona, and spread a report that the Janissaries had taken the Seraglio by assault, and plundered the treasury, and that the Sultan had fled to Scutari, in Asia. The Augsburg Journal, however, adds, that this needs confirmation.

A third says, vessels which have arrived from Constantinople, announce that the Grand Turk has caused to be beheaded, his favorites, Haleb Effendi and Berber Baschi, and that he has changed the whole Ministry. Three vessels saw, in passing Tonedes, the sea covered with wrecks of enemy's vessels.

Another account still, states that the Asiatic troops were called in and that a desperate battle ensued, in which the Janissaries were victorious, which induced the Sultan to dismiss his favorite. One letter, dated the 12th, says, the capital was then tranquil; but it was expected that the Janissaries would make further demands, and that Haleb Effendi could hardly escape with his life.

The Austrian Observer of the 18th, which is considerably later, contains intelligence from Constantinople, dated the 25th Nov. which states that Haleb Effendi has been treated with great lenity: his property is untouched, and he has even been permitted to retire into a convent of dervises. Several other changes have taken place in the administration; but perfect tranquillity had prevailed in the city and the environs, except that in some quarters bands of armed thieves broke into some houses, but these excesses were speedily checked.

A Hamburg paper of Dec. 27, says we have private letters from Constantinople, of the 19th Nov. which affirm that the fall of Haleb Effendi will probably make no change in the system pursued by the Sublime Porte relatively to the European Powers. The continuance of a large army, in the neighborhood of the capital began to be more and more burdensome to the Turkish government.

From the above, there is no doubt of there having been some serious changes at the Porte; and these changes make in favour of an ultimate war with Russia. The Janissaries have all along been calling for war, and they have succeeded in putting down the ministers who were for peace.

ALGIERS.

A Paris paper of Dec. 24, announces a courier from Mahon, bringing intelligence of the 20th Nov. that an American arrived there with information from Algiers, that before he left, an Algerine fleet was on the eve of sailing to act against the Spanish flag.

PERSIA.

Accounts through various channels, and even from Constantinople, concur in stating that the Persians have gained advantages over the Turks. By letters from Persia, dated Tabriz, 27th of Aug. last, it appears that on the 1st of July, the Persians, under the command of the Prince Royal, marched from that city and attacked the Turks on the 3d of Aug. who in less than an hour were completely defeated, with the loss of their tents, baggage, ten 4 pounders, two 12 pounders, one 14 pounder, one 16 pounder and one mortar. The Persians pursued them within two days march of Azaroom, which place would have fallen into their hands, but the cholera morbus afflicting the victorious troops, and fatigue rendering the disease mortal, the Prince Royal and his army returned to Tabriz with the spoil they had taken.

GREAT-BRITAIN.

The Marquess of Drogheda died at his house in Sackville-street, Dublin, on the 22d of Dec. in the 94th year of his age.

It is mentioned as a report that Mr. Canning has it in contemplation to propose a plan for advancing eight or ten millions to the Landholders, at four per cent. to pay off the mortgages, on which they are paying a greater rate of interest.

The Duke of Wellington arrived in London from the Continent, on the 22d of Dec.

Lord Amherst and suite, will embark in the Jupiter, 60. Capt. Westphall, at Plymouth the latter end of Jan. for the purpose of proceeding to Calcutta, and succeeding to the important office of Governor General of our Indian Possessions.

Preparations are making for the arrival of Prince Leopold in England.

The Birmingham paper says, "we understand that the gun makers of this town are exceedingly busy in their preparations, under the expectation of hearing of some thing to their advantage from abroad; and, as we hear, some orders have actually been received.

The King continues to enjoy excellent health.

According to Parisian gossip, the eldest son of Murat (Achilles) will shortly espouse one of the daughters of Joseph Buonaparte.

Price of British, on the 30th Dec. Consols, 81 1/8.

IRELAND.—There is nothing of much importance to be found in the Irish papers. The White Boys appear in small numbers, occasionally, and commit some slight excesses. Meetings have been held for the expression of public sentiment on the late event at Dublin and we have before us the resolutions of the Dublin meeting, together with the address to the Lord Lieutenant, and his reply.—With so strong an apparent feeling in favour of tranquility and mutual affection, it seems wonderful how the Irish nation contrive to be always from some cause or other, in a state little different from that of a house on fire.
