

FROM SMYRNA.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—The fast sailing brig Torpedo, Capt. Chandler, arrived here yesterday afternoon in the short passage of 47 days from Smyrna. The Torpedo passed Gibraltar only 20 days ago, and having a very fair wind did not touch there.

To the politeness of the owners of the Torpedo we are indebted for Smyrna papers to the 14th Aug. inclusive. The paper of the last date announces that that city enjoys the most perfect tranquillity.

It also contains advices from Constantinople of the 6th Aug. which says:—"We continue to experience complete tranquillity, notwithstanding the mutinous spirit which exists among a certain class of the Janissaries. But the Aga of the Janissaries, who having been created a Pacha with three tails, is consequently invested with great power, exercises a most rigorous police; and, causing the guilty to be publicly executed, he spreads a salutary terror among those who might be tempted to imitate them and take a part in their seditious plots."

The papers are in the hands of a translator, who will furnish for our next publication whatever of interest they may contain.

Captain Chandler states, that respecting the Greeks and Turks, there were daily reports in favour of both. The Greeks were in entire possession of the Morea, excepting the strong fortress of Patras, in the Gulf of Lepanto, where there is at present a numerous Turkish fleet. The Greek fleet were at Ipsara and Hydra—at this latter island they were to meet on the 22d Aug. where great preparations were said to be making to form a desperate attack on the Turkish fleet, and it was supposed that a great number of boats were to be sent in along with fire ships. There is no doubt that the Greeks are more forward in their cause than ever. A few days before the Torpedo left Smyrna, there was a report that a 74, two frigates and a sloop (English) arrived at Corfu with three of the chief Greeks on board, from whence it is said they were going up to the Turkish fleet.

SCIO.—Most of our readers will remember the accounts which have been published respecting the enormities committed upon the Greeks of this unhappy island, after the descent made upon it by the Turks. The conflagration of towns and villages, the general and indiscriminate massacre of the men, the violation of the women and the transportation of them and their children to distant places as slaves—in fact, every misery that could be inflicted was called into practice, to glut the vengeance of Mahometanism, and to check, if possible, the noble spirit of liberty which impelled the Greeks to throw off the yoke of tyranny and oppression under which they had so long groaned.

In the last Smyrna paper, received at this office by the brig Torpedo, we find detailed the following singular and affecting circumstance respecting a female of that unfortunate Island. It is one perhaps, of hundreds of similar cases of aggravated horror and woe—and, it would appear, has even melted the heart of Turkish barbarism to a sense of pity for her sufferings.

Cognia, (in the interior of La Natolie)
July 14.

"A Turk who was present at the sacking of Scio, brought away with him to this Isle a Greek female whom he had made a slave and whom he since espoused, after having compelled her to embrace Mahometanism.

"One night, while the Musselman, was enjoying the sweets of repose, she seized a cutlass, and, in a moment of phrenzy, occasioned by the most horrible recollections, plunged it in the bosom of her ravisher, and then withdrew in order to decapitate him. From that moment her revenge was satisfied; and nature, re-assuming its empire over a heart she had formed for love and not for crime, the young Scio fell and remained a long time in a state of insensibility. After having recovered her senses, the spectacle before her eyes chilled her heart and deprived her of the faculty of escaping; she swooned a second time and remained in that state long after day break. At length some persons, being uneasy, resolved to force the door of the fatal chamber—on one side they perceived the dead body of the Turk; on the other, a female apparently waiting for some one to arrest her—"You can dispose of me," said she, "it was I who murdered him." They seized upon her and brought her before the Pacha. "Is it you who have murdered your husband?"—Yes," she replied, "it was I who killed the monster, who, in my house, at Scio, had the barbarity to murder my father, mother, husband and infant—who then carried me off, brought me hither, and thought to make a Turk of me, while I am, in fact, and only wish to remain a Greek." The populace had assembled in order to behold the punishment that awaited this Scio; but the Pacha after having listened to her attentively, granted her a pardon and sent her back to her home, to the great astonishment of the Mussulmen, who nevertheless, on this, as on many other occasions, have submitted to the will of Providence.

Respectable Turks, arrived from Cognia, have unanimously confirmed the contents of this statement."

ASSIZES.—NIAGARA DISTRICT.

Lieut. Colonel Norton was arraigned before the Hon. Chief Justice Campbell, for the murder of an Indian, in a duel.

The first witness called was William Wier, who deposed that as he was proceeding to the Colonel's house on the day the duel had taken place, he met a young man who told him to make haste, as he feared something serious would occur before the witness's arrival. Upon witness's arriving at the Prisoner's residence, he saw him with a pistol in his hand, and the deceased taking one from off a stump; both spoke, but witness did not understand their language. The deceased advanced towards the prisoner in a sideling manner till he came within six or eight feet of him, when he fired and made a rush at the prisoner, who did not move from his position. The mouth of the prisoner's pistol downwards; both pistols were fired about the same time, so that witness did not know which of them went off first. The deceased fell close to the prisoner in the scuffle; and the prisoner cried out, Oh, my poor Joseph!

Second witness—Samuel Chew Hill (a Delaware Indian) deposed that he was present at the dispute that had taken place between the prisoner and deceased, but did not understand them, as they spoke in Onondagua; they ran into the house for pistols; Prisoner brought them out, laid one of them on the stump of a tree, and walked off with the other, and stood seven paces from the deceased. The deceased took up his pistol and examined it; he then advanced in a sideling manner towards the prisoner, sprung forward and seized the prisoner's pistol by the muzzle; both pistols went off. The deceased fell wounded, and the prisoner's head was streaming with blood from the ball of the Indian's pistol. Prisoner fell upon the deceased, and cried out, Oh, my poor Joseph!

John Charles Worlstea (an Indian) corroborated the foregoing evidence, and stated, that the prisoner told the deceased to stop as he was advancing, but instead of attending to the prisoner, he rushed upon him. Witness could not from his position, see the deceased seize the prisoner's pistol.

Peter Young deposed, that the deceased said, upon being advised not to go to the House of the prisoner, whom he had offended, for fear of quarrelling with him, "I am as good a soldier as Norton, by and by I will kill him."

The Judge summed up the evidence, and the Jury returned a verdict of manslaughter!

Counsel for the Crown, Mr. Sol. Gen.—For the prisoner Messrs. Beardsly and Hagerman.—YORK OBSERVER.

We understand Col. Norton was sentenced to pay a fine of 25£.—ED.

LOSS OF A SHIP.

To the Gentlemen of the Committee, Chamber of Commerce.

Gentlemen,—I have the honour, in the absence of the Comptroller-General of this Department, to acquaint you, I have this day received a letter from Lieut. Sterne, R. N. Inspecting Commander of the Preventive Water Guard at Galway, dated the 24th instant, reporting that at 2.30 p. m. on the 21st inst. the wind being strong from the westward, a vessel dismasted was seen from the Water Guard Station at Geelin Head, drifting towards the Branock Isle—that Richard Hooper, the Officer in charge of that Station, considering there was too much wind for the galley to proceed to her, he and the crew went off in a Hooker, with the hopes of towing her clear of said Island, but previous to his coming up, she struck, and almost instantly went to pieces. Her cargo consists of American Pine, and several spars. The Preventive Water Guard of the No. Isle of Arran, and Geelin Head, have succeeded in a great measure in preventing the Hookers from carrying off the Timber, who appeared in great numbers; that the vessel appeared to be about 250 Tons, but no document, or any thing whereby her name can be discovered, has been seen. The Inspecting Commander also reports, that the Water Guard saved about 200 Beams, which are marked G. R. and C. D.

I have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your most obedient Servant,
JOHN CHRISTIAN.
