Effect of Music on the Senses. A Tailor had a great number of black suits to make, which were so be finished in a short space of time. .. Among his workmen there was one who was always singing cer Rule Britannia;" and the rest of the Journeymen joined in the chorus. The Tailor made his observations; and found that the slow time of the tune tetarded the work; in consequence, he engaged a blind findler, and placing him near the workshop, made him play constantly the lively tune of Nancy Dawson.' The design had the proper offect—the Tailors elbows moved obedient to the melody, and the clothes were sent home within the prescribed period,

Query-If such a measure would not be advantageous to some of our Master Tailors in this place, and assist them in unlading their present crowded shelves?
