

18, Jan. 3.—The English papers are w. of commentaries on the Message of the President of the United States. Every one considers it according to his political views and private inclinations; but the fact is, this long declaration pleases and agrees with no one. It has not even escaped sharp censures on the part of the American Papers.

Mr. Monroe, who is not a Sovereign, who has himself told us that he is only the delegate of the people, has taken in his Message, the tone of a powerful Monarch, whose armies and fleets are ready to go forth on the first signal. He does more; he prescribes to the Potentates of Europe the conduct they are to pursue in certain circumstances if they do not wish to incur his disgrace. Such is the prohibition which he issues against their ever thinking to any new colonization in the two Americas.

Mr. Monroe is the temporary President of a Republic, situated on the eastern coast of North America. This Republic is bounded on the south by the possessions of the King of Spain, and on the north by those of the King of England. Its independence has only been acknowledged for forty years; by what title then are the two Americas to be under his immediate dependence from Hudson's Bay to Cape Horn? What clamours did he not raise to the United States, when the Emperor of Russia wished to trace the demarcation of the part of the territory which he claims on the North East coast, as discovered by his subject! This Monarch, however, did not presume to dictate laws to any of the States who have establishments on the same coast. It was reserved for Mr. Monroe to show us a dictator, armed with a right of superiority over the whole of the New World.

According to the political system he would establish, it would be permitted to Spain to make the least effort to re-enter on the territory which for three centuries she has possessed. The King of Portugal, as the American papers have observed themselves, could not act as a Sovereign and father without exposing himself to the wrath of Mr. Monroe. England would require his previous consent if it suited her interest to make any new military or political establishment either in Canada or Nova-Scotia. And yet Mr. Monroe's Message contains phrases indirectly hostile to the policy and ambition of the Great Powers of Europe! But what is that Power which professes so proudly maxims opposed to the rights of sovereignty and the independence of Crowns? What is that power which pretends to prescribe to subjects the limits of obedience? Who is she, in short who does not fear to compromise the existence of social orders by declaring in the face of Heaven that she will not recognise any difference between a Government de facto and a Government de jure!

By bringing under one point of view all the assertions and doctrines contained in this Message, it is satisfactory to consider that it has not yet received the sanction of any of the Authorities, even of the country where it appeared; and in short, that the opinions of Mr. Monroe are as yet merely the opinions of a private individual.

A very serious conspiracy has been discovered at Lisbon just on the point of breaking out. Three Ministers had been dismissed, the King had ordered the Queen to be arrested, and many persons of distinction were on trial.

A meeting of the West-India Merchants was to take place in London, early in Jan. for the purpose of considering the present alarming state of the colonies, and to petition the Legislature for relief.

Rome, Dec. 28.—The Pope has been better for a few days. They entertain some hopes of him at the Quirinal, but the Physicians still regard his situation as very serious.

Constantinople, Nov. 20.—All the news from the Morea agrees in stating, that the Greeks have had the entire advantage in the last Campaign; in consequence of which, the Divan is seriously engaged in discussing this very important question;—

"Shall we hazard a new Campaign, or shall we instantly treat with the Greeks." This subject has had a very interesting consideration, but the result is not as yet known.

Bell's Weekly Messenger gives a very flattering account of the Revenue. Such an increase has taken place, on the last quarter up to January 5, that a clear surplus of 5 millions will be left above the expenditure.

Under the head of Foreign Intelligence, Bell's Weekly Messenger informs us, that an American Minister has arrived in London, who has been dispatched by his Gov't for the express purpose of concluding an ALLIANCE OFFENSIVE AND DEFENSIVE BETWEEN ENGLAND AND THE UNITED STATES, for the defence of the Independence of South America against all European powers; a measure which they seem to think decisive upon this most interesting of all political questions.

The latest accounts from Madrid state, that all hopes of the recognition of the Constitutional Loan were considered as desperate. The public funds of the Kingdom are said to be in a most deplorable state.

The Pope has formally refused to sanction the re-establishment of the Inquisition in Spain; as being a Tribunal incompatible with the present enlightened Age. The Bishops and Inquisitors are highly mortified.
