It has been stated (says the Times) that his Majesty had an intention of visiting Germany this summer, and was advised to use the waters of Carlsbad, from which he might expect to derive much benefit. We have reason, however, to feel assured, that his Majesty has no intention whatever of quitting the kingdom, at least this season, but proposes passing the entire of the summer at Windsor, directing the improvements to be made in the Castle; with the exception of a short occasional visit to the Pavilion at Brighton.

A subscription has been set on foot for the widow of Mr. Smith, of Demerara, under the management of Lord Suffield, a number of Members of Parliament, and other gentlemen.

Sir Charles Stuart, it is said, retires, and is to be succeeded by Sir C. Bagot, now at St. Petersburg; and the mission at St. Petersburg is to be filled by Mr. Stratford Canning.

The Propagateur Haytien states, that a negro, sixteen years of age, has composed a tragedy, entitled "The Death of Christophe." This work, adds the Propagateur, will be represented at the national theatre of the Republic, by order of the President Boyer.

It is reported on the Continent, that Marshal Lauriston has brought the Journal de Paris, for 500,000 francs, about £20,000.

A slave owner, named Peter Beck, was hung at Georgetown, Demerara, on the 10th of May, for shooting a negro, his property.

The latest intelligence from Rome states, that on Thursday, the 27th of May, the Pope caused the general Jubilee for 1825 to be proclaimed in the portico of St. Peter's Church, and by notices posted up in various parts of the city. It will commence on Christmas eve this year, and continue twelve months. This event is of every 25 years' recurrence, but political circumstances prevented its taking place in 1800.

This year has been remarkably prolific of public companies for almost every purpose to which a highly improved state of the arts and sciences could direct a redundant capital. Who could have thought that the arts and sciences, backed by large capital, would have taken the field against the washerwomen of the metropolis, and attempted to drive them from the tubs of which they have so long held undisturbed possession? So it is, however; and the name of "The London Patent Steam Washing Company" is to be added to the list of those to which the present year has given rise. The object of this company is as its name imports, to wash clothes of all descriptions by the application of steam. For this purpose, an extensive establishment has lately been erected at Phipps-bridge near Merton, Surrey.

We are blessed with fair weather, and the last four days abundantly repay the sad and gloomy presages of the stormy, rainy, and last unpromising fortnight. Our reapers are gathering the harvest in high glee; although a few ears may and do feel the effect of rust or smut, yet a lesson is held out by nature to avoid bearded Wheat. I have travelled many hundred miles, and have with care and attention visited every Farm, every Family, in a circuit of three Counties, and there appears the fairest hopes of an abundant crop. The bearded Wheat, evidently is not suited to the climate.

Extract of a letter from Wakefield, dated the 4th inst. :—
"There was a shock of an Earthquake experienced here this night week, about midnight. I was sitting up with a dying man at the time, and felt it very sensibly."

Lord BYRON's death appears to have turned the attention of the Literary World to the pending fate of Greece. An assemblage of vision that so directed—drawn into a small, & consequently strong focus, that will doubtless emit some brilliant sparks of genius.

A DESIDERATUM.

"It ought so fair
In all the dewy landscapes of the spring,
In the bright eye of Hesper on the morn;
In nature's fairest forms, is aught so fair
As virtuous friendship? as the candid blush
Of him who strives with fortune to be just?
The graceful tear that streams for others' woes?
Or the mild majesty of private life,
Where peace with ever-blooming olive crowns
The gate; where honour's liberal hands effuse."

Extract of a private letter from Greenock dated July 9th.

"We have uncommonly fine weather here after a long and very dry time of more than three months continuance. This kept back the crops much, but they are now coming on rapidly." "All sort of business is good in Paisley but we complain here very much. You are cutting up our Ship Building entirely. Our Carpenters cannot work so cheap. This and other things combine to hurt our trade greatly."—ib.
