LONDON, MARCH 25.

The King will hold a Levee on Wednesday, the 7th of April; and a Drawing room on Thursday, the 29th of the same month.

Letters have been received from Corfu to the 24th of Feb. From one of them we learn, that on the 16th of Jan. several important movements took place of the Greek troops between Griocchori and Argyro. Detachments were pushed forward to Tebelen, under the orders of some of the leading partisans of the late Ali Pacha, who are attempting to wrest that part of the country from the power of the Turks. The Hellenists are making great efforts to co-operate powerfully with the Albanians, and the Pacha of Septari, who has been declared a rebel by the Porte, has prepared to take the field against the Sultan. For this purpose he has opened a regular negociation with the Independent Chiefs of Middle Albania.

The king of France was alarmed on Friday last, by a fire, which suddenly began in the apartments of the Great Almoner, and filled the Castle of the Tuilleries, and even the Court before it, with dense clouds of smoke. The iron gates were closed, the guards took up arms, and it was probably imagined that some attempt had been made to burn the King, who cannot easily be moved in his Palace. After a time, however, the fire was got under, and was thought to be completely extinguished, when half an hour after it broke out with greater violence than then ever. It was at last however, entirely subdued, and it is said, without having been attended with any loss of lives or even accidents.

On Sunday last, (14th inst.) at eight o'clock in the morning, it was discovered that certain words offensive to his Majesty were traced upon the snow in the garden of the Tuilleries.—Three persons, charged with committing this outrage, were immediately taken up; but one of them was shortly afterwards discharged. Yesterday the other two were brought before the Sixth Correctional Chamber. One of these, named Coulon, a silk hat manufacturer, who was defended by M. Claveau, was acquitted. The other, named Suretau, a cotton spinner, being adjudged guilty, was condemned to six months imprisonment, and a fine of 500 francs.—Journal des Debats.

THE ARMY.

GENERAL ORDER.—Horse Guards, March 10.

The King has been pleased to decide that one uniform system of Field Exercise and Movement shall be established throughout his Army, the Commander-in-Chief has received his Majesty's commands to direct, that the rules and regulations approved by his Majesty for this important purpose, shall be strictly adhered to, without any deviation whatever; and such orders hitherto given, as may be found to interfere with, or to counteract their effect and operation, are hereby annulled. All Gen. Officers, Colonels and Commanding-officers of corps are therefore held strictly responsible for the due and accurate performance of every part of these regulations; and in order that no deviation may creep into practice, so as to disturb the exact uniformity which must be attended and preserved in all movements, it is his Majesty's further pleasure that no formations shall be executed, except such as are here prescribed without due and competent authority; and Gen. Officers on the Staff will report at the periodical inspections, whether these his Majesty's commands are strictly complied with. The Commander-in-chief has received his Majesty's further commands to direct, that every officer shall provide himself with a copy of these regulations, and Commanding Officers of corps are to take care that this order be duly observed.

The 71st regiment at present at the Fermoy Barracks, Ireland, are under orders to embark for Quebec, to relieve the 1st battalion of the 60th regiment, which is ordered home. The 60th, it may be remembered, is what is termed the condemned regiment; and as it has always been kept abroad, these orders are looked upon as matter of great grace and favour.

Letters from the City of Mexico, to the 24th Jan. have been received: It appears that there had been, within the two or three days preceding that date, an ebullition of popular feeling against the old Spaniards. One of the Generals in the Mexican service had sent a message to the Congress, to say, that unless the law ordering the expulsion of the old Spaniards were immediately carried into effect, the troops would not continue
