CAPTAIN PARRY'S NEW EXPEDITION.

A new expedition is projected for Capt. Parry. It has for its object to reach the Northern Pole; to make known to us what the inmost point of the ice-bound Arctic Circle is. Captain Franklin had offered himself to undertake a journey over the ice from Spitzbergen to the Pole, and this has been adopted by Captain Parry, who, in addition to his own ardent expectations of success, procured the sanction of the Royal Society to the practicability of the enterprise. The Hecla is to be prepared for Captain Parry early in the ensuing spring, and in that vessel he is to proceed to "Clopen Cliff," in Spitzbergen, in lat. 79 deg. 52 min. (or about six hundred miles from the Pole,) which he is expected to reach towards the end of May. From this point he will depart with two vessels, which are capable of being used either as boats or sledges, as the water or ice is found to prevail. They are to be built of light, tough, and flexible materials, with coverings of leather and oil cloth; the latter convertible into sails. Two officers and ten men are to be appointed to each, with provisions for 90 days, which, if they only travelled on the average, thirteen miles per day, and met with no insurmountable obstacles, would be sufficient for their reaching the long desired Pole, and returning to the Hecla, at Cloven Cliff. Dogs or reindeer (the former preferable for drawing the sledges, when necessary, but the latter better for food, in case of accident or detention) are to be taken on the expedition. It is known that the summer temperature is far from being severe, there is perpetual light, with the sun continually above the horizon, and he knows from experience, that the men, on such occasions, are always very healthy. During his absence the boats of the ship are to be engaged in exploring the eastern side of Spitzbergen; and the officers and men of science in making philosophical experiments with the pendulum, on magnetism and meteorology, in natural history, &c. The reward of success, besides the personal glory and general advantages attending the exploit, will be £5000, and we earnestly hope, that by this day (twelve months), Capt. Parry and his gallant companions will arrive safe in London to claim and receive it.
