

ing districts give cause to fear, that the depression under which the trade of the country has been labouring, and which was hoped had partially subsided, is likely to be of longer continuance than was expected. We are also concerned to find that this depression is not confined to the manufacturing towns; the standard of copper, at the weekly ticketings in this country, has fallen nearly £10, per ton within the last fortnight. On the 15th instant, the standard was £108, 5s. and the average produce 7½; yesterday, the standard was £98, 1s. and the average produced 8½. This is indeed a very serious aspect of affairs. Numbers of our miners are at this moment out of employ, and number are working for very insufficient wages. At the present standard few of our mines will pay cost, and the consequence of the discontinuance of more of them we dare not contemplate.

The consequence of the scarcity of money, arising from the depression of trade, is already felt by the agricultural portion of the community, who find by the decreasing demand for cattle, &c. that whatever affects one great interest in the country is sure eventually to reach all. Trade cannot long suffer without producing an effect on the price of agricultural produce nor can agriculture be depressed without, in the end, affecting the state of trade.—West Briton.

THUNDERSTORM.

It was scarcely to be expected that after the long continuance of dry and sultry weather, a reaction would not take place, and we find, accordingly, that thunder storms have been experienced throughout many parts of the country

At Oldham on Tuesday se'nnight the electric fluid entered the Friendship Tavern, descended through the floor, and struck two females, who were very seriously injured; one of them we understand has lost the use of one side of her body. The whole of the windows in the house were broken, the bell wires were melted, and the mantle-piece in the parlour split by the lightning. At Mr. Seville's foundry Lower Moor, a man who was grinding spindles at a large stone, was struck dead on the spot, the stone being at the same time shivered to atoms. At Heyside, a factory was set on fire by the lightning, but was soon extinguished.

At Shrewsbury, on Wednesday se'nnight, there was a terrific clap of thunder; the electric fluid passing down the chimneys at Mr. Bemand's has rent the brick-work, and done much injury. In the parlour three children were struck upon the arms and thighs, which have the appearance of red stripes down the skin: one of them was rendered totally speechless many hours: two other children sitting at the kitchen door were scorched by the lightning as it passed out of the house. A man servant was deprived of the faculty of hearing, and a girl in the cellar was struck down and her side scorched. A number of articles in the house were either shivered or destroyed.

In the neighbourhood of Westbury, the storm was furious. At the seat of Richard Top, Esq. heavy damage has been sustained; more than 700 sash squares of glass were broken by the hail stones, which in circumference measured from two to four inches, and some which conglomerated were much larger! these covered the ground two inches thick in many places. The hot house grape, and cucumber-frames are entirely demolished, the fruits destroyed and the gardens laid waste, nearly one third portion of a field of eight acres of wheat, very forward in the ear, is literally thrashed out by the pelting of the hail-stones, some of which were on the ground yesterday, in the shade, after having fallen twenty-three hours, measuring two inches round. In several places hares rushed from the covers, startled at the tempest.

On the same day a hail-stone was felt at, and near London and many thousand squares of glass were broken. One gentleman, Mr. Atkinson of Grove-end-road, had 10,000 squares broken, and Mr. Jenkins, of the Portman Nursery, upwards of 50,000 squares. In some of the green-houses the plants were beaten to pieces. At Eton, the lightning struck a malt-house and set it on fire.—London Paper, July 7.

A new step in Dancing.—A Providence paper announces and departure from that city of a Mr. Montcas, who professes to be a dancing master. It appears that he opened a dancing school at Providence, was well patronized, received his pay in advance borrowed about 20 dollars of his scholars, contracted other debts to the amount of 200 dollars, then "slipp'd his cable," and danced off, to the tune of "over the hills and far away," leaving his scholars to take such "steps" as they thought proper, with regard to the "French leave" he has taken of them; and his musicians to "whistle for their pay."

Mr Farquhar, the late owner of Fonthill Abbey died on the 8th ult at the advanced age of 73.—He was unmarried, and has one nephew, who will inherit his immense fortune, which is said to exceed one million and a half.—LONDON PAPER
