

our ashes by the hand of industry, be converted into an article of export, our clay furnish part of our furniture, and let ingenuity and skill call forth those stores of wealth that now lie dormant. Then shall we see our Commerce revive—then shall we have cash and credit, and see smiling plenty once more pervade our country.
Having made these few remarks on our trade, I shall in your next, offer a few hints on improving our exports X Y

TIMBER.—We are happy to learn that this article has advanced in price. A letter from Liverpool, of the 21st Dec. states, that sales of a cargo, from this port, had been made at the following prices:—birch 1s 10d, red pine 1s 9d; yellow 1s 4½d, r. o. staves £9, yellow pine plank 2½d per foot of 2 inches thick.

The London Times says Lord Goderich, the British Prime Minister, had tendered his resignation; and the port feuille had been offered to Lord Harrowby, who had refused; and Ld. G. had consented to serve till a successor had been designated and had accepted.

The Pacha of Egypt has evinced a determination to abstain from any aggressive acts on account of the loss of his vessels at Navarin, declaring his resolution not to execute any retaliatory measures that the Grand Signor may think proper to direct.

In the London papers appears some speculation about the intended resignation of Lord Goderich the British Premier, who it is said finds the duties of his office too arduous and perplexing to render it desirable to him.

DIED,

On the morning of the 4th instant Mr. Abiud Payson of this place, aged 34 years, leaving a wife and three children (with a numerous circle of relations) to lament the premature death of an affectionate husband and tender parent. His funeral will take place on Friday next, at 2 o'clock, from the house of Mr. P. E. Payson.

DIED AT ST. JOHN,

On Thursday evening, after a short but severe illness, which she bore with pious resignation to the Divine will of Providence, Susannah, wife of Captain John J. Ackerly, of that City, aged 26 years; she has left four children and a disconsolate husband to deplore the irreparable loss of an affectionate mother and beloved wife.
