

in which it was at the date of the treaty of Ghent, the whole of it may become peopled, and be brought, with its inhabitants, under British subjection.

Mr. Vaughan supposes that the acts of the British authority, to which the undersigned, in the course of this correspondence, has had occasion to object, can in no shape affect the final settlement of the boundary, nor tend to strengthen the claims of Great Britain, nor in any manner to invalidate the rights of the United States. If there were an absolute certainty of a speedy settlement of the boundary within a definite time, Mr. Vaughan might be correct in supposing that the rights of the respective parties would not be ultimately affected by those acts of jurisdiction. But it is now near half a century since the conclusion of the treaty of peace, out of which the controversy grows, and it is more than 13 years since the final ratification of that of Ghent, providing a mode of amicably settling the dispute. It remains unadjusted. Mr. Vaughan himself has repeatedly expressed regret, in which the undersigned has fully participated, on account of the delay. Judging from past experience, as well as the uncertainty of human affairs in general, we are far from being sure when a decision will take place. If, in the mean time, Great Britain were to be allowed quietly to possess herself of the disputed territory, and to extend her sway over it, she would have no motive for co-operating in quickening the termination of the settlement of the question. Without imputing to her a disposition to procrastination, she would, in such a state of things, be in the substantial enjoyment of all the advantages of a decision of the controversy in her favor. The President of the United States cannot consent to this unequal condition of the parties; and the undersigned, in conclusion, is charged again to protest against the exercise of all and every act of exclusive jurisdiction, on the part of the government of the Province of New-Brunswick; and to announce to Mr. Vaughan that that government will be responsible for all the consequences, whatever they may be, to which any of those acts of jurisdiction may lead.

The undersigned requests Mr. Vaughan to accept the renewed assurances of his high consideration.

H. CLAY.

Department of the State,
Washington, March 17, 1828.
