

FREDERICTON, (N. B.)

TUESDAY, APRIL 29, 1828.

Alms House and Work House.

COMMISSIONER FOR THE WEEK, CHARLES LEE, Esquire.

SAVINGS BANK.

TRUSTEES NEXT WEEK,

HENRY G. CLOPPER, ESQ.

JAMES TAYLOR, ESQ.

JEDEDIAH SLASON, ESQ.

Wednesday last, being the day appointed for the Anniversary of His Majesty's Birth; the Troops in Garrison were under Arms on the Green in front of the Officers Barracks, at 12 o'clock: and soon after the arrival of His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, and Suite, a feu de joie was fired in honor of the occasion.

Several of our columns are this week occupied with the Speech of His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor; delivered at the Annual Meeting of the New-Brunswick Agricultural and Emigrant Society, on the 1st ult. We are convinced there is no necessity for directing the public attention to that Document, by any particular notice of its valuable contents: It will perhaps be enough, for the present, merely to say, that the vivid conceptions it displays throughout, of the natural advantages of this Country, in an Agricultural view, and of the paramount importance of their cultivation; together with the intense and continual anxiety of His Excellency for our prosperity and happiness, which pervades the whole; eminently invite it to the grateful consideration of the Province at large: though, in order more fully and justly to appreciate its merits, we should by no means lose sight of the mental labour such a production must have demanded, and which, unquestionably, could only have been dictated by the most cordial interest for our welfare.

The Steam Boat ST. GEORGE arrived here about 1/2 past 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, from St. John, for the first time this Season; and left Town at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Venerable Archdeacon of New Brunswick left Fredericton yesterday morning in the Steam Boat St. George, on his way to St. John; from whence, we believe, the Archdeacon will sail for England.

MIRAMICHI, APRIL 15.

The Dwelling House, owned and occupied by Mr. Wm. Murray, near the Custom House, with its contents, was totally destroyed by Fire on the morning of Thursday last.

We have authority on which we rely, for stating the following highly gratifying intelligence. Letters have been received as late as the 10th of February from persons having the best opportunities of official information, which leave no doubt that the late proceedings of the Government here, have been fully approved at Home, and that there is every probability that Lord Dalhousie will be urged to hold the Government for another year. Moreover, one Letter states that His Majesty's Government had come to a determination of pressing upon his Lordship the expediency of his continuance in Canada.—Montreal Gazette, March 31.

We understand that an official Gentleman in this City has received a letter from London, which announces that the conduct of His Excellency has met with the most complete and unqualified approval of the British Government.—Montreal Herald, April 2.

In the absence of the Mail we subjoin such of the latest and most material articles on Foreign matters that our limits will allow; and which are highly calculated to increase our anxiety for the next arrivals

LONDON.

From the Globe of 28th February.

The Turkey mail arrived this morning, bringing dates from Constantinople to the 27th, and from Smyrna to the 19th ult. The Manifesto, in substance, is fully confirmed; there is only one original copy in town, and it was immediately forwarded to His Majesty's Ministers by the gentleman by whom it was received. We understand it is in substance the same as the one published in the French papers. It is dated 20th of December, and had been transmitted privately to rouse the Sultan's Asiatic subjects; and it was only by intelligence from Asia that the existence of the document first transpired at Constantinople. It had produced some sensation among the Franks, particularly as the preparations for war were carried on with the greatest energy. The number of troops coming from Asia was very great, and that in the Turkish capital was already of some magnitude. The English merchants appear more alarmed than usual, as they say the energy with which the troops had been silently raised, evinces the determined manner in which the Turk means to resist the European Powers, and that nothing is now calculated upon but war. In the mean time every thing was tranquil, and the Turkish police most strict. The Franks, however, were leaving Constantinople.—At Smyrna the alarm was not so great, as there were several vessels of war in the bay, and none of the merchants were embarking.

In addition to the above intelligence, there is a report circulated in the city, on the authority (it is alledged) of accounts from Turkey nine days later than the mail, that dreadful excesses had taken place in Constantinople; that every Russian, and all persons lately under the protection of the Russians, had been put to death, and that the subjects of France and England had also been ill treated.—What foundation the statement rests on we cannot yet ascertain. But the spirit which prevails at Constantinople gives reasonable ground for apprehending some violence on the part of the hordes who must be on their passage through that City.

From the Courier of 28th February.

The accounts from Constantinople are of the 26th January. The Manifesto has been read in all the Mosques, and the Bosphorus has been closed against all the ships of all Christian nations. The most rigorous measures continue to be adopted against the Armenians. All efforts to soften them prove fruitless. The Austrian Minister, D'Ottenfels, made three demands, appealing to the Treaty of Carlowitz, which places the Catholics under the protection of Austria. The Reis Effendi refused to listen to them. The minds of the people at Constantinople are described to be in a state of the greatest excitement—and all moderation and judgment seemed to have been banished from the Councils of the Divan.

Bucharest, Feb 1.—It is believed here that Russia will at length interfere with vigor on the affairs of the East, to save the existence of the Christian subjects dependent on the Porte. The Ottoman army are uniting by degrees on the Danube; day after day detachments are arriving, and the fortresses are filled with provisions. Commissaries are arrived at Adrianople, to prepare the Palace for the Grand Seigneur.—Gazette of Augsburg.

Orders have been sent to Brest, to arm the Jean Bart, the frigates Nymphé, Arctus, and the goelette Barnaise; at Cherbourg the corvette Egles; and at Bayonne the brig Capricieuse.

There sail every day from Toulon, ships of war to cruise in the Levant. Several frigates have also sailed for the same destination.

Mayence, Feb. 16.—For some time past, the passage of Couriers through this city, to and from St. Petersburg, Vienna, Berlin, London, the Hague, and Paris, is more active than ever. Though the accounts from Vienna, London, and in some degree from Paris, are favourable to the preservation of peace, this hope is much weaker in the north, and it is pretty confidently affirmed that Russia, according to the Treaty of 6th July will occupy the principalities, and that one of the last couriers from St. Petersburg, was the bearer of communications to this effect to the other Cabinets. The accounts from Prussia also indicate that the affairs of the East are there considered to be in a situation in which the sword alone can decide.—Nuremberg Correspondent, Feb. 20.

From the Globe of 29th February.

CITY, 2 o'clock.—The wild rumours from Constantinople yesterday, have to-day assumed a regular form among the reports of the Stock Exchange. It is now said that the hordes from Asia, arriving at Constantinople, are immense, as the proclamation orders all the male population to rally round the standard of the Prophet; that the greatest excesses have been committed; that the Russian banker has been killed, and all the Russians in Constantinople! that the other Franks have been sent to the Seven Towers, to protect their lives from the fury of the people; that the Austrian Metalliques at Vienna are 3 per cent lower, &c. &c.—Consols opened this morning at 83, advanced to 83 3/8, fell to 82 7/8, and are now 82 1/8 1/2 Exchange Bills 55 to 57.

London, March 1.

The accounts from St. Petersburg are to the 13th ultimo. The preparations for war in the South were continued. The Exchange on England steady at 10 1/2.

The letters by the Hamburg mail this morning, state that on Saturday last it was currently reported at Hamburg, that Turkey had declared war against Russia; the news was reported to come from Vienna express. A commercial house of some eminence at Hamburg had stopped payment.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT.—The roof of the Royal Brunswick Theatre, which was of iron, fell in on the 28th of Feb. during the rehearsal of Guy Mannering. Upwards of 100 persons were buried beneath the ruins, and it is supposed between 60 and 70 lives have been lost, about 40 bodies were still under the rubbish, and some of them alive. On the 1st of March a great number of bodies were dug out, one of whom is living.

The King of England is still ill, but took an airing on the 29th of February.

The Duke of Cambridge is dangerously ill.
