

flow or crack in him, but it now must come. So the sturdy fellows in fustian pull with a will, at first something jerkingly and excitedly, Mr. Denison lending a willing hand as leader in that honest team. One, two, three, and then such an awful, solemn, heart-rending sound; like a potent poison, the vibration penetrates every vein in the body, it strikes every nerve, it attacks and tries every fibre and muscle, it makes your bones rattle and your marrow creep. In despair of describing a sensation which combines all sensations and invades the body by so many senses, we can only call it a liquid blow; it strikes you all over your frame at once, and not content with mastering your outworks, it streams into and prevades and floods your inner man in an instant of time. Many stop their ears—and, if any of Mr. Denison's dearest tors were present, it must have amused him to see the attitude of those "deaf-mutes," who refused to hear the voice of the charmer—scuffers, who, perhaps, come to exit over a defeat and remained to swell a triumph. But to return: Many stop their ears; many would run away if they dared, and some did, saying they preferred to hear it a little way off; but the true friend of science neither stopped his ears nor thought of running away. Mr. Denison had prophesied, for it could scarce be anything else than prophecy—we mean of that scientific kind which can boast of its fulfillment before the event—that it was to be E. natural. And here all the praiseworthy persons who had their tuning keys in their mouths during the trial declare Big Ben's voice to be pure natural E. Big Ben's voice has turned out what it was meant to be, and when it says— "Here I am E. natural," strike me, buff me, crush me, if you can, with a clapper of sixteen awl, not one syllable of anything else shall you get out of me than that. When the bell says this, we do not know that any words of ours can add one syllable more to the learned gentleman's justly earned meed of praise.

ON THE WAY TO ROME.—Extraordinary Scene at St Paul's, Knightsbridge.—On Sunday morning, during the performance of Divine service at this now notorious church, the fog having rendered the use of lights necessary, the candles at the desks of the clergy and choir were lighted. Shortly after the commencement of the Litany, Mr. Westerton, one of the churchwardens, directed the beadle to light the gas burners in the chancel, so that no difficulty might be felt by Mr. Liddle and his curates when they perform that portion of the communion service which precedes the sermon. While this was being done, and the prayers following the Litany were being monotoned, Mr. Liddle, although still on his knees, and supposed to be at his devotions, ordered the beadle to light the great candles on the altar. The beadle having lighted them, returned to the other end of the church, and when asked by Mr. Westerton why he had done so he replied that Mr. Liddle had ordered him to light them. Mr. Westerton now felt himself called on to act. There was not the slightest pretext on the score of darkness for using these candles. The gas-burners he had ordered to be lighted being sufficient for the whole of the chancel. He, therefore, left his pew, went up the nave, ascended the chancel steps, and, passing by Mr. Liddle, entered the vestry, re-appearing with the extinguisher. Going within the dwarf screen raised for his protection from the unscathed feet of the laity, he reached the altar and extinguished its monster lights, replacing the extinguisher in the vestry. He then returned to his pew, having done it so quickly and so quietly that not the slightest interruption was caused to the preferences of the service. When Mr. Liddle, and Messrs. Smith and Westall, his curates, got up at the end of the morning prayers, to form their usual procession to the altar, Mr. Liddle, to the surprise of the whole congregation, who were then standing, with the Sanctus was being chanted by the choir, darted off into the vestry, followed by Mr. Smith, and returned with a lighted candle; they all then went up to the altar, Mr. Smith lighting one of the great candles. Mr. Westall, before being able to accomplish a similar feat with the other, was obliged to lift it down with its massive candlestick, and light it on the floor, the congregation all this while looking on with amazement. The communion service then proceeded, and Mr. Westerton, feeling that further interferences would not only have prevented the service from being carried on, but lead to a personal struggle between himself and the clergy, remained in his pew. But for this discretion on the part of the churchwarden, a scene must have inevitably ensued, which would have added another to the many scandals in which the conduct of the clergy both of St. Paul's and St. Barnabas have given rise.

THE COURT CIRCULAR announces the death of Prince Leiningen, and visits paid to the Duchess of Kent by the Queen and Prince Albert. It may be necessary to state that the late Prince was the son of the Duchess by her first husband, Emich Charles, at the time of his marriage. The reigning Prince of Leiningen, Prince Charles Frederic Emich, now deceased, was also, on that account, the brother-in-law of Queen Victoria.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures
EVERY KIND OF HUMOR;
FROM THE WORST SCROFULA DOWN TO A COMMON PIMPLE.

HE has tried it in over 1100 cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humors.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth. One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face. Two to three bottles will clear the system of biles. Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach. Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas. One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes. Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair. Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers. One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin. Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm. Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism. Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum. Five to eight bottles will cure the worst cases of scrofula. A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken. Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effect of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appears to me surprising: first that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846—second, that it should cure all kinds of humor. In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day—in April, 1854, I sold over one thousand bottles per day of it. Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patent medicines was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters. In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humors—but since its introduction as a general family medicine, great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never suspected. Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was always considered incurable, have been cured by a few bottles. O, what a mercy if it will prove effectual in all cases of that awful malady—there are but few who have seen more of it than I have. I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of them cured by the use of it. For the various diseases of the Liver, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Asthma, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side, Diseases of the Spine, and particularly in diseases of the Kidneys, &c., the discovery has done more good than any medicine ever known. No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults one table spoonful per day—Children over ten years dessert spoonful—Children from five to eight years, tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day. THE PRINCIPAL OFFICE for the STATE of MAINE and BRITISH PROVINCES, is at the Drug and Medical Establishment of H. H. HAY, 43 & 47 Market Square, PORTLAND, MAINE, to whom all orders should be addressed. Sold by respectable Druggists throughout the United States, and British Provinces. Price $1.00. MORTON & COUSAVELL, General Agents; JOHN RICHARDSON; AVERTY BROWN & Co.; DEWOLF & Co.; JOHN NAYLOR; W. W. LANGLEY; THOS. DUNN—Halifax Agents. G. W. McLENNAN, London—Druggist and Druggists generally throughout the province. For Sale at Dr. CARPENT'S Drug Store, Amherst, May 21.

DYER'S HEALING EMBROCATION
AN EXTERNAL-INTERNAL REMEDY

THIS valuable External and Internal Remedy originated with a skillful and Scientific Chemist, who found it difficult to obtain an article that would with certainty, and in a short space of time, effect a cure of Wounds, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c. By various experiments he at length discovered a preparation which answered his most sanguine expectations, and its peculiar virtues becoming known to his friends, he was induced by them to prepare it for general use. Since its first introduction to the public some important additions and improvements have been made in its composition, increasing its value and making it applicable to a greater number of diseases, especially to those of the stomach and bowels, and it is now used internally with, if possible, greater success than externally.

DYER'S Healing Embrocation

is a perfect pain destroyer and an invaluable Remedy for Rheumatism, Cuts, Wounds, Scalds, Burns, Bruises, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Sore Throat, Swellings, Cramp, &c. It is indeed truly gratifying to us to receive such indisputable proofs of the value of this astonishing remedy, as are daily presented us. We know its true value experimentally, and do not hesitate to recommend it as superior to any other Medicine for similar purposes, and we are willing at any time to refund the money, if it does not give entire satisfaction, or possess all the virtues we ascribe to it. Be sure and get the genuine.

PROFESSOR WOOD'S Hair Restorative,
It has worked Miracles.

THAT ALL THE BALD AND GRAY CAN BE restored perfectly to original growth, and color so far as their locks are concerned does not admit of doubt; besides it will cure every possible disease of the scalp, whether developed as dandruff itching or in the shape of cutaneous eruptions—even scald-head—and in no possible case will it fall of curing as if by magic, nervous or periodical head-ache, and if used twice a week by the young regularly, it will preserve the color, and keep the hair from falling, to any imaginable age. Read and judge.

Millford, Worcester Co., Mass., Nov. 1855.
PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in bearing voluntary testimony to the magic effects of your wonderful Hair Restorative. As far back as 1836, my hair commenced falling off, until the top of my scalp became bald and smooth as glass, and it has continued to fall for a great many years, notwithstanding I have used many celebrated preparations for restoration. Seeing your advertisement, I was induced to give your article a trial, and to my utter astonishment, found, after a few applications, that my hair became firmly set, and assumed a glossy and beautiful appearance; and by the time I had used a quart bottle, my bald head was covered over with a young and vigorous growth of hair, which is now from one to two inches in length, and growing fast. Yours, truly,
HENRY GOODRICH.

CHARLESTOWN, Mass., Aug. 9, 1855.
Gents:—Nothing but a duty and sympathy that I feel to communicate to others that are afflicted as I have been, would induce me to give this public acknowledgement of the benefit I have received from Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative. When I first commenced using it, my hair was quite gray, and in spots entirely bald. I have now used the Restorative about five months, and my hair is entirely changed to its original color, brown, and the new hair is over three inches in length on the spots where it was bald. I have also been much gratified at the healthy moisture and vigor of the hair, which before was dry, and it has ceased to come out as formerly. Respectfully yours, &c.
Mrs. R. A. STODDARD.

From Mrs. Ingalls, a well-known nurse in Boston. Boston, Oct. 19, 1855.

GENTS:—At your request and being so highly pleased with the effects of the Restorative, I am free to state that my hair had become quite thin, and entirely white. I have for the last five years been in the habit of using it, but hearing of the extraordinary effects of this article, I was induced to try it. My hair has been restored to its original thickness, and also to its former color, which I might have said. Yours respectfully,
MRS. INGALLS.

The following is from the Pastor of the Orthodox Church, Brookfield.

Brookfield, Mass., Jan. 12, 1856.
Prof. Wood—Dear Sir:—Having made trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say, that its effects have been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff, and a constant tendency to itching, with which I have been troubled from my childhood, and has also restored the hair, which was becoming gray, to its original color. I have used no other article, with anything like the same pleasure and profit. Yours truly,
J. K. BRAGG.

[From the Jersey City Telegraph.]
WHAT IS IT FOR?—This Wood's Hair Restorative. It is a question asked daily by hundreds. We answer without hesitation or fear of contradiction, that it is the article known which will do for the human hair. It will restore its growth—it will stop its falling—it will restore its natural color—it is not a Hair Dye, but a speedy and efficacious Restorative.
