European Intelligence.

The City of Baltimore arrived at New York o the 16th. The news brought by her is later by four days than that of the Arabia.

We learn by Telegraph that Sicily is is a state of insurrection. The British Cabinet was aid to be in a state of dissention. Breedstuffs vere declining.

The Times of the 28th contains the following n the subject of the French and English at

We are weary of the controversy fastened upno no by the press of France. The subject of discussion is perilous, and the peculiar relations of the press of France to the government of that country seems to place us always on the brink of olition, not with a contemporary journal, but gith a powerful government. Moreover, on the French side at least, the controversy goes on embittering itself. The Constitutionnel suffered its zeal for the alliance between England and France to carry it to such lengths of invective, that though we, in the interest of amity and good fellowship, refrained from noticing the at-tack, the Moniteur on behalf of the government, felt bound pointedly to disown it; and the Aspaciliation, advises the Emperor to fortify.

We are every day accused by the French press of a wish to put an end to the Anglo French alliance. Where shall we find a Power whose views on foreign policy so nearly mincide with our own? On most questions our interests are identical, and, when not exactly identical, are separated by so light a division as to be easily conciliated. It were sheer infatuaion, a rejection, alike wanton and wicked, of the good things offered us by Providence, to cast away the French alliance so long as it can be etained with honour, and without sacrificing the very ends for which the alliance was institut-

We must not be ragged at the chariot wheels of our ally; we hast not allow the terms of treaties to be dispensed with without our consent, we must claim to be friends and equals, not vassals or subordihates. We ask nothing of France; her instituions are not ours, -- nay they are directly the when we cannot we will praise when we can; so fear of misrepresentation, no threats, no inectives, will prevent us from speaking our opinon fully and freely. To refrain from doing so would be to compromise, not to support the allance, to betray our joint interests, and to renler the disruption of the tie certain and mevitable. Try Them!

WE mean GERRY'S PECTORAL TABLET'S for Coughs and Colds, which, slowly dissolved in the mouth, directly act on the lungs and bronchial tubes when diseased. The common practice has hi herto been to pour large doses of physic into the stomach, thereby not only losing their effects, but inducing dyspepsia, and other diseases of the digestive organs.
